Spring in Country North of Edmonton Farther Advanced Than in Districts Near City

Snow Has Disappeared Pretty Generally with the Exception of in the Bush

CROCUSES BLOOMING

Peace River Reports Blowers Out—Plowing Commences on High Lands

Information gathered from all parts of the country north of Edmonton, would indicate that the spring is quite as far advanced is not farther, than it is in the Edmonton districts. The Peace shows signs of breaking up, but in most parts it is still solid, even sufficiently so to carry teams. The snow has gone pretty generally with the exception of in the bush where it varies in depth from a foot to eighteen inches.

In many parts the plowing has commenced on the high ground and Peace River reports that the crocuses are out in full bloom. The roads are bad generally but there is practically no frost and a little drying weather is all that is required to clear up this difficulty. They have however, stopped the freighting in of grain to the stations.

The reports from the different sections is as follows:

Peace River

PEACE RIVER, Alta., April 30.—North winds with a slight flurry of snow started in last night and still continues intermittently. This followed a week of ideal spring weather during which snow on all exposed parts has entirely disappeared while in the bush, except where brush is heavy, it has reached a point where a couple of warm days will remove it entirely. Main roads through the country are reported to be in very fair shape. The early set in of winter combined with the depth of snow prevented frost reaching any depth and as a consequence, what would other wise have been an abnormal supply of water is being absorbed rapidly.

Southern slopes have already a green tinge and crocuses have been blooming the past week. Pasturage on these slopes is very good and stock getting advantage of it. The next week or ten days will see farming operations in full swing and so far no anxiety on the part of the farmers is noticable. In fact the greatest optimism prevails and once started wil be pushed to the limit as lost time is being taken full advantage of for straightening up. Comparatively little fall plowing was done due to early frosts.

Ice on the Smoky River broke up during the night and is forcing the Peace. Breaking up has reached a point a mile above town and water has risen several feet. It is expected a general movement wil ltake place within the next twenty-four hours, in which case navigation should commence in about eight days.

Hudson Hope

HUDSON HOPE, B.C., April 30.—Weather continues cold and stormy. Still much snow in the bushes but open flats are bare. No plowing or seeding done yet. Heavy frost last night. Grass has started on the south slopes of the hills and stock doing well now. River rising slowly but ice still solid enough for teams to cross here. Seeding will be late, but owing to the amount of moisture in the ground, crops should grow fast with the coming of warm weather.

ATHABASCA

ATHABASCA, Alta., April 30.—Snow all gone but very little pasture. Plowing nor seeding not commenced yet. Roads are very heavy, ice still in the river. Expect river to open any day now. Weather is cool.

FORT ST. JOHN

FT. ST. JOHN, B. C., April 30.—Spring is very late in coming here. From one to two feet of snow still lies on the level and is disappearin very slowly. The river ice is still hard though it has started to break up, the slow melting of the snow prevents the river from rising sufficiently to break up ice. Owing to the large amount of snow still on the ground, plowing and seeding have not yet commenced. Trails are in bad shape, weather unsettled with wind holding to the north and east keeping temperature down close to freezing a large part of the time.

Beaver Lodge

BEAVER LODGE, Alta., April 30—During the last week the weather here has been very unsettled with light snows. The snow has disappeared from the south and west slopes of the hills but in the valleys and bush there is still two feet of snow. Cattle are rustling on the hill tops in some places but the majority are still being wintered. No plowing has been done here up to date and will be sometime before seeding becomes general, the roads are very soft nad nearly impassable.

Grouard

GROUARD, Alta., April 30.—We have experienced an unusually late spring ,the farmers of this district are preparing to seed, many have already commenced to plow. If the nice weather continues for another ten days the seeding will be well underway. The temperature remaining rather cool on account of the snow which still remains in the bush districts, and the ice on the lakes which is still quite firm. The roads are drying up quite fast and should be in fairly good shape in a few days. Navigation on Lesser Slave Lake should be open by May 20, according to present indications.

Spirit River

SPIRIT RIVER, Alta., April 30.—Snow all gone with exception of probably eighteen inches in timber. Nights continue cold while the days with clear sky and wind are drying the land up quickly. Plowing commenced on the hills the 28th ,and by first of the week plowing will be general on low lands. Roads drying up slowly but automobile travel between Spirit River and Peace River will be possible in a few days. Cattle are now getting enough rough picking until pasture matures in about two weeks.

McMurray

McMURRAY, Alta., April 30—Snow all gone in this district. Late spring conditions prevent seeding and plowing so far. Roads are bad but drying up. Navigation has not opened yet.

Pouce Coupe

POUCE COUPE, B.C., April 30.—Still considerable snow reported north of here, but ground comparatively clear of snow in country adjacent to Pouce Coupe, excepting in sheltered places. Pouce Coupe river and all creeks draining into it all running clear. Nights clear and frosty, very little frost in ground and two days Chinook will remove the last of the snow and frost, and will enable the farmers who are ready to immediately start plowing. The settlers of the district are feeling most optimistic, claiming that the amount of moisture, which instead of running off has gone into the ground is most favorable for a bumper crop, and are making all preparations for the same.

Lac La Biche

LAC LA BICHE, Alta., April 30.—The Snow is practically all gone in open fields but there is considerable of it in the bush. There are no signs of pastures yet, cattle cannot rustle for feed for some time yet Owing to heavy frost every night, farmers have not been able to start plowing. Ground is still frozen and of course seeding is out of the question until weather improves. The roads are practically impassable and will not likely get any better until we have at least a full week's good warm weather to dry them up. The ice on the lake is still solid and is even still used by teamsters.

Dunvegan

DUNVEGAN, Alta., April 30.—Three days Chinook mopped up the remaining snow. A number of horses and cattle can now be seen browsing on the prairie wool. Last two days rather cold weather with temperature low as twenty above at night. No plowing as yet on account of low places being inundated and frost not quite out of the ground. Water in the Peace rose over six feet Thursdays flooding the shores, ice gone out in places but at Dunvegan it still covers the river though badly honeycombed and not safe for traffic. Roads north to Waterhole and Vanrena are in bad shape.

Grande Prairie

GRANDE PRAIRIE, Alta., April 30—During the past week the weather has been unsettled. The snow has disappeared from southern and western slopes, and roads are in bad condition, making the hauling of grain impossible. Although the season is very much delayed the frost is out of the ground and with favorable conditions in the next two weeks prospects will be excellent, as the ground has absorbed a most unusual amount of moisture and owing to lack of frost ground should warm and ensure an unusual dry period growth.

April Weather Summary

A summary of the weather in Edmonton for the month of April is given by Major S. M. Holmden, as follows:

For the first seven nights of this month below zero temperatures were recorded the lowest being 15.0 below on the night of the 3rd or morning of the 4th. For the balance of the monthdaily mean has shown a very slow and uncertain growth. The two highest daily means were on the 26th and 27th when 43.0 and 43.2 respectively were reached. The highest temperature was reached on the 26th when 54.0 was recorded. Usually a temperature over 60.0 is reached in April. A remarkable similarity of daily mean temperature is noted for the balance of the month.

The precipitation was just about the average for the last 20 years. Snow fell on seven days and rain on five. Traces of one or the other fell on eight additional days. The wind while not excessive in force was remarkable for the large amount of easterly direction. It was not until the middle of the month that the westerly winds exerted their authority and were put on record.

Amount of Cloud Unusual

The amount of cloud has been unusual and as a consequence the percentage of possible sunshine is very low.

Five auroras were seen three of which were remarkable for their brilliance and coloring. A short fog occurred after rain on the morning of the 20th which did not last for more than an hour or so.

Mean temperature for the month, 27.36. Highest 54.0 on the 26th, lowest 15.0 below on the 4th. Maximum temperatures exceeded 32 on 19 days, and were between 32 and zero on 12 days. Minimum temperatures were below zero on 7 days, between zero and 32 on 24 days and above 32 on 7 days.

Total precipitation was 0.84 inches, of which 0.45 fell as rain.

Total hours of bright sunshine 127.4, or 30.5 per cent of 417.7 the total possible.

Mean amount of cloud 7,7 tenths.

SAYS HE STOLE BONDS TO HELP OUT MAN WHO SAVED HIS LIFE IN FRANCE

NEW YORK, April 30—That he stole $4,200 worth of Liberty bonds to help out a man who had saved his life on the battlefields of France, while he was serving with the First Canadian Division, was the excuse offered by Captain Russell Holmes Fletcher, 27, when he pleaded guilty to grand larency in the second degree in general sessions court today.

Fletcher enlisted as a private in Montreal in 1914, and rose to the rank of captain, which he held when discharged in January, 1919. In court today he wore the Military Medal which he won while serving as a private. Fletcher was charged with stealing the bonds in question on December 24 last, while in the employ of the National Bank of Commerce. Before the war he was for five years employed in the Bank of Montreal.

Meanwhile the judge said he was obliged to send the Canadian war hero to the Elmira reformatory.

Menonite Colonies in Manitoba And Saskatchewan Will Leave Canada for Mississippi Valley

Bishop Wahl Assured Government Will Offer No Official Hindrance to Prevent So Large a Concerted Exodus—Thirteen or Fourteen Prairie Towns Will Be Practically Depopulated and Highly Improved Land Holdings Will Be Offered for Sale

WINNIPEG, April 30.—The Winnipeg Tribune says, in part:

"Tiring of the fight to retain special privileges in the conduct of their schools, and fearing that public opinion will eventually wrest from them their exemption from military service in time of war, the orthodox Mennonite church colonies in Manitoba and Saskatchewan plan to leave Canada this summer and establish a great colony in the Mississippi valley.

. . . No Government Hindrance

"Bishop Wahl, of Swift Current, waited on the provincial government Thursday in order to find out if the Manitoba or Ottawa authorities would attempt to prevent so large a concerted exodus of population taking place. The bishop was assured, an announcement made at the parliament buildings today states, that there would be no official hindrance from Canadian government authorities.

"More than 8,000 persons, equally divided between Manitoba and Saskatchewan, will be affected, 13 or 14 prairie towns will be practically depopulated, temporarily, at least, and land holdings highly improved, valued at more than $10,000,000 will have to be sold for what they will bring.

U.S. To Grant Immunity

"Attorney Gen. A. Mitchel Palmer, Washington, Bishop Wahl said, gave an understanding that if the Mennonite community settled in the United States, it would be granted total immunity from military service now and in the future. It is planned to complete the exodus by autumn."

In making this announcement today, Assistant Attorney-General Garvan said the department of justice officials were concentrating on efforts to protect the lives of officials, federal and state, who are reporter to have been marked for destruction and to prevent violence generally.

CITY DWELLER IS RESPONSIBLE FOR DEAR FOOD

Member for Dufferin Declares That to Get Shorter Hours Labor Leaving Farms

OLEOMARGARINE

THE DAY IN PARLIAMENT.

The House.

Resolution to extend time for importation, manufacture and sale of oleomargarine adopted and bill based thereon given first reading.

Estimates of department trade and commerce taken up—many items passed.

Sir George Foster announced opening of trade conference between Canada and West Indies on May 31, in Ottawa.

The Senate.

Removal of troops from Halifax to Montreal discussed.

OTTAWA, April 30.—During the afternoon and the greater part of the evening, the house today discussed oleomargarine. The debate arose on a government resolution to extend the time limit for manufacture and importation of olemargarine to August 31, 1921, and for sale to March 1, 1922. But criticism, curiously enough, came chiefly from rural members on the government side of the house, although George Boyce, of Carleton—himself a farmer—declared that if a man wanted olemargarine and was prepared to pay for it, there was no reason why he should not have it.

John Best, of Dufferin, took occasion to charge responsibility for dear food on the city dweller. To get shorter hours, labor was leaving the farm for the city. "Thank God," exclaimed Mr. Best——"thank God the farmers have got into a position where they can say, and they are doing it, and will continue to do it. 'We have this country by the throat. They had us by the throat long enough and now we will defend ourselves.'"

The house subsequently went into supply, taking up the trade and commerce estimates. The administration of the Canada Grain act is estimated to cost $1,000,000 as against $1,500,000 last year.

Court of Appeal on Wheat Grading.

D. D. McKenzie raised the question of establishing a court of appeal on wheat grading as decided by legislation at previous sessions. He asked if the fight between factions for the location of the court at Port Arthur and Winnipeg had anything to do with failure of the minister to establish the court.

Sir George Foster replied that Mr. McKenzie was wrong if he thought the location had anything to do with failure to establish the court. True, it was that legislation was passed, but there had been so few appeals that the survey board had handled them without trouble. It was on the ground of economy that he had not gone ahead with the court. "When the time comes to create the court, I am quite ready to make a decision on the location," he said.

Importance of Foreign trade.

Another query which Sir George took some time to answer came from William Duff, Lunenburg. Mr. Duff did not want any reduction in the vote for extending Canada's trade in foreign lands. He noted that instead of the $150,000 as voted last year, it had been cut to $130,000. Sir George agreed that this was indeed the wrong time to be too economical on trade expansion and intimated that there was another vote further on in these estimates which would cover Mr. Duff's point. It was the government's intention, he intimated, to be fairly generous in the matter for they realized the importance of getting into new fields and re-establishing Canadian trade in countries from which they had been barred because of the war.

The house rose at 11:25 p.m.

Votes of $269,265 for the weights and measures department and $138,900 for gas and electricity were passed. They being about the same as last year.

Before the house adjourned Sir George Foster assured Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King that details of money expended on demobilization would be given when that item was discussed in the estimates. The sum given as required is $38,463,400.

CONTINUATION WHEAT BOARD TO THE FORE

Western Members Discuss Question—Thorough Review under Way

OTTAWA, April 30.—(Canadian Press)—The question of the continuation of the wheat board to handle the Canadian wheat crop for 1920 has recently been to the fore. The western members of parliament have been discussing the question and it is understood a thorough review of the whole subject is under way in a special committee.

Meantime ,the wheat board is getting nearer to the close of its work and the question of the value of the participation certificates now in the hands of the farmers is acquiring renewed interest. It will be impossible, until the close of the year's business to finally decide their value.

Hon. Arthur Meighen when seen today, refused to express an opinion as to what the participation shares would be woth or as to the wisdom of continuing the board's operations into the 1920 crop.

"I hope," he said, "that the farmers who hold the participation certificates will not sell them. It would be most unfortunate if these certificates got into the hands of speculators. Every man whi produced the wheat should hold his participation certificates and thus get himself all that his product brought in the world's market.

Amundsen Has Not Abandoned Expedition; to Visit Nome Then Enter Ice Pack at Wrangell Is.

From Thence He Will Drift Across the Polar Sea, Says a London Times Dispatch from Christiania—Explorer Recites Details of His Expedition to Date—Member of the Party Leaves to Study Tschukschi and Maquati—Drift to Take Five Years

LONDON, April 30. — Roald Amundsen, Norwegian Arctic explorer, has not abandoned his expedition, but after his impending visit to Nome, Alaska, he intends to enter the ice pack around Wrangell Island, off the northern coast of Eastern Siberia, and thence drift across the Polar sea, says a despatch to the London Times from Christiania.

(A wireless despatch received at Nome, Alaska, the night of April 22, from Anadir, Siberia, a trading post on the Behring sea, said Amundsen had arrived there. An American navy wireless despatch received at Cordova, Alaska, also reported the arrival at Anadir of Amundsen from his ship, the Maud. It was said to be ice-bound near the mouth of Kolyma river.)

A message dated from the Maud somewhere in the Arctic, the first recieved from the explorer since he began his tour of exploration, begins with the departure of the Maud from the vicinity of Cape Chelyuskin, says the London Times. It came by Andir and Nome. The message was undated, but probably was written about Christmas time.

Detained at St. Samuel's Islands.

"We left our winter place," says Amundsen's message, "September 12 1919, after having mined and forced our way through 2,600 yards of unbroken ice, from two to three yards thick. We were detained the next day by heavy ice at St. Samuel's islands but got through from the 14th and continued on our way to the east, being again detained the next day as the ice lay close to St. Peter's disands and did not assist any in our passage outside.

"We had to force our way through an unknown strait between the mainland and the islands, where newlyformed ice offered considerable resistance. We succeeded after a very dangerous battle, in penetrating this intricate and shallow passage, showing in some places, no more than one and a half feet of water under our keel.

"Much ice was found in the Norden-skjold sea, but it offered small hindrance to our advance. We passed through the Strait of Laptec, separating the inner Siberian islands from the mainland, on the 19th. The sea to the east of the islands seemed free from ice, and we shaped our course from Jenette island, but were stopped the next morning by an impenetrable pack on the 73rd parallel.

"We made fast to the edge to commence our drift, but found shortly afterward, by close examination, that the ice pack was in drift toward the south at the rate of 1 1-2 knots an hour. This would not pay, so we cast loose from the ice, after a very careful inspection which left us no hope whatsoever of penetrating it, and shaped our course to the southeast, following the ice.

Forced to Search for Winter Quarters

"It was a bitter pill to swallow, but we decided to search for winter quarters somewhere along the coast.

"The best place was Choan Bay (on the north coast of eastern Siberia, south of Wrangell island). Navigation southward of here in the latter part of September was most extraordinary. The nights were pitch dark and the sea running heavy, and enormous ice floes virtually were often in the middle of our course. It was not pleasant. From time to time a brilliant aurora borealis would appear and light us out of many intricate situations.

"A north-west gale had been blowing at this time, and the result was the ice pack reached our winter quarters just a little ahead of us and shut us out. We had no choice as the ice came closer and closer to the coast. We went further ahead, as far as the ice permitted, and plunging into some old floes fringing the west coast of Aiun island (at the mouth of Chaon Bay), our position became not as good as I had wished, and we were exposed to the whole ice pack. However, our gallant little vessel will certainly stand the test with flying colors.

"Three days after our arrival here we met with some members of the Tschuktschi and Maquati tribes. They had their tents on Aiun island, but left for the inner country on October 3rd, to spend the winter in the woods watching their reindeer herds.

Will Study Tribes

"Sverdrup left with them, equipped for eight months in order to study these tribes. Olenkin left October 20 for Nishne Kolymsk (at the head of the Kolyma river), carying despatches intended for home, but he returned November 11th, having met with Russians at a little village in the Kolyma called Saharnaia, who told him that no connections could be obtained from Nishne Kolymsk with the outside world on account of the war. Hanson and Wisting will leave shortly for Nome with the mail.

"As soon as the ice opens in the spring, we are continuing our way as far as Nome, where I hope to be in July or August, 1920."

After asking that mail be forwarded, Amundsen concluded:

"We are leaving for Nome after a short stay, to enter the ice around Wrangell island, from where the drift probably will take up five years. All well and happy."

(Signed) "AMUNDSEN."

BURNS AGENT IS ON HIS WAY TO EDMONTON

Will Investigate Marriage Records of Alberta in Connection with Huirt Case

CALGARY, April 30—Thos. Heddle, of the W. J. Burns detective agency, who is here investigating the former activities of J. P. Watson, the Bluebeard now under arrest in Los Angeles, for bigamy, and who has confessed to the murder of some of his wives, said that Watson was now being described as the arch criminal of modern police history. Heddle got information of the Calgary activities of Watson in 1914 and 1915, and went to Edmonton, where he will investigate the marriage records of Alberta. A special despatch from Los Angeles to the Morning Albertan tonight, stated that Watson had confessed to the murder of four of his former wives.

JOSEPH KNIGHT TO SPEAK AT HAMILTON

HAMILTON, Ont., April 30.—Dundern park will be the scene of a big May Day meeting under the auspices of the One Big Union movement. Speeches will be made by John Dunn, labor councillor of Winnipeg; John MacDonald and Thomas Mellelieu of Toronto. CAMPAIGN TO START TODAY WITH PARADE

Paint-up, Clean-up, Keep-it-up! Slogan That Goes into Effect at 3 o'Clock

"Paint-Up, Clean-Up, Keep-It-Up," this is the slogan that goes into effect today at 3 p.m. when a grand parade to inaugurate the opening of the big civic cleanup campaign will start from the wholesale house of Marshall-Wells at the corner of 103rd street and Athabasca avenue, traversing the principal streets of the city.

The boys and girls will be greatly interested and pleased to learn that they will be given an attractive clamp button emblematic of the Clean-Up movement which will show that they are fully authorized to take part in the same. To secure this ornament it will be necessary for each boy and girl to be at the Marshall-Wells building by 2:30 p.m. as there are only 200 of these buttons to be given away, so the first there will be the first served.

It will be necessary also for each boy and girl to have in their hand a broom, brick, or rake to show that their intentions to make their city beautiful are really bona fide. A horn will also be given to each boy and girl to herald the great clean-up campaign in the ears of all the citizens of Edmonton.

The parade will be a spectacle well worth while seeing. The original paint man of America—an Indian, attired in full tribal costume, mixing paint in a huge vessel mounted on an old-fashioned and primitive stage coach—will lead the parade. Next will be the Newsboys' band, followed by Mayor Clarke, and following the mayor's car will be all the fire department boys with their red wagons. The fifth in the line-up will be the real clean-up boys—Dan Alton and his broom and bucket brigade. The Boy Scouts and the Trail Rangers will also be out in full force, and last but not least will be about two dozen floats, bedecked with the trappings and instruments of clean-up warfare.

The route which the clean-up and paint-up parade will travel will start from the corner of Athabasca and Third street, leaving at 3 o'clock. From there it will go south to Jasper avenue, and east on Jasper to 97th street, and from there north to Elizabeth. From Elizabeth the parade will then go out to First street and up to Jasper. From Jasper and First the American Indian will head his forces west to Ninth street and from there over the high level bridge to Whyte avenue, where it will disperse and commence work.

TIME EXTENDED TO FILE INCOME TAX RETURNS

OTTAWA, April 30.—Orders have been sent out from the finance department today extending the time for filing income tax returns for the whole of the Dominion to May 31.

DECISION OF GOVERNORS CONFIRMED

REGULAR AND PROPER

Neither President Nor Board of Governors Acted Oppressively—Text of Finding

REGINA, April 30.—Judgment was rendered in the court of king's bench today by the three judges who were appointed to exercise the university visitorial powers conferred by the University of Saskatchewan Act upon the lieutenant governor in the matter of the dismissal of Professors MacLaurin, Hogg and MacKay and Mr. E. Greenway, director of extension work by the board of governors of the university. The judgment unanimously finds that the board of governors, in dismissing these men not only acted strictly within their powers, but that "the facts disclosed in this exhaustive enquiry of twelve days prove that the course taken by the president and the board was necessary; that a state of affairs in the university had been created such as made it impossible that the men remain any longer in the service of the university." On this point the judgment says "there is no room for doubt."

Reciting the charges made by Mr. Greenway to Minister of Agriculture Dunning, against President Murray, the judgment continues:

"The evidence shows that each and every one of these charges was untrue and had no foundation in fact."

Action of Professors

Referring to the action of the professors, afterwards dismissed, in not voting for the resolution passed at a full meeting of the university council, affirming confidence in the president and his administration, and asserting the loyalty of the members of the faculty, the judgment says:

"It is difficult to understand why a man who is loyal to the president of his own institution should fail him at a time of need, or hesitate to vote loyalty to his chief if the loyalty exists. It is to be remembered in this connection that all three of the professors had seen the memorandum which Greenway showed to the minister, which purported to show that Greenway's charges were justified. The written reasons signed by the three professors amount to an assertion that the charges of Greenway were such as should be investigated, and, indeed, the position which these three professors took on the question is but little different from that of Greenway himself. When a man undertakes to make charges reflecting seriously on the character of the head of a great public corporation of which he is himself a member, charges which, if proved, show wrong-doing on the part of the president almost of a criminal nature, he takes his professional life, as far as that institution is concerned, in his hands. We consider that the failure to vote confidence in the president's management of the university and loyalty to the president, in the light of the written reasons which were filed, constitute such an open alignment of these professors behind Greenway in the charge he made, that it became essential that their services with the university be dispensed with in case the charges were not substantiated."

Spirit of Contumacy

Dealing with the attitude of the professors toward the board of governors, the judgment declares that "their actions in this matter show a spirit of contumacy to the board and a disrespect for their authority."

In conclusion the judgment says:

"We are of the opinion that the recommendation of President Murray and the proceedings of the board of governors in dismissing Professors MacLaurin, Hogg, and MacKay and Mr. Greenway, were regular and proper and necessary in the best interests of the university; and that neither the president nor the board of governors acted oppressively in the matter, nor is there the remotest suggestion of any corrupt or indirect motive, and that their decision should therefore be confirmed."

WANT MINIMUM WAGE GENERAL IN DOMINION

Nation-wide Application of Principle Strongly Favored by Royal Commission

OTTAWA, April 30th — Dominion-wide application of the principle of a minimum wage and a 48-hour working week for all women and girls excepting those engaged in domestic or agricultural employment, was strongly favored by the Royal Commission on the unification of labor laws at the session here today.

Other important items of today's session included the adoption of a motion that a committee of five be appointed to report upon the question of unification and harmonizing of laws at present existing in any province dealing with the improvement of sanitation or the protection of life should be made general to such other industries as may be possible throughout the Dominion.

The five named for the committee on unification were: Messrs Moore, Gilks, Coughlan, McNiven, and Leckie, with F. A. Acland, deputy minister of labor ex officio. The commission will resume its sittings tomorrow.

RUSSO-JAPANESE AGREEMENT READY FOR SIGNATURES

TOKYO, April 30.—The war office announces the imminent signature of a Russo-Japanese agreement, which will concede virtually all the Japanese demands.

Newspaper Postage and Postal Deficit

Ottawa, AApril 17—The government is giving very serious consideration to the question of postage on newspapers, and before the session ends it seems pretty certain that measures will be taken to increase the newspaper rate from the present charge of a quarter cent per pound to a flat rate of one cent a pound. Already the postmaster-general has preparedd a draft bill for submission to parliament, possibly after a caucus has given its approval to the measure. At the same time it is quite possible that, to some extent, there will be an adaptation in Canada of zone system on somewhat similar lines to that of the United States, where the postage on newspapers ranges from 1 1-2c to 5 1-2 c per pound according to distance. Hitherto the Canadian postoffice department has carried weeklies free within a radius of 40 miles from the point of publication, while outside of that the general rate has been 1-4c per pound regardless of distance.

According to the report submitted to the government caucus referred to the total weight of newspapers carried by the postoffice department last year amounted to 87,501,490 pounds, and the postal revenue received from that enormous total amounted to only $291,104. Of this weight the daily newspapers represented a total of 65,000,000 pounds made up of weeklies, magazines, etc.

The report of the postoffice department for the past year shows a revenue of $21,602,712.66, while the expenditures are given as $19,273,583.90 which leaves, apparently, a surplus of approximately $2,400,000. Included in the revenue, however, is said to be something like $7,000,000 that has no rightful place in the earnings of the department, for the reason that that seven millions, is represented by the sale of war stamps which go on cheques, notes, patent medicines, etc., and can not be set down as due to the operation of the department, belonging rather to the Finance Department. Deducting that amount, therefore, it is seen that the actual deficit in the postoffice department for the past year has really been about $5,000,000. A part of this may be traceable to the fact that newspapers have been carried at a very moderate rate; yet at the same time it may be pointed out that while the earnings of the department (aside altogether from war stamps) have increased from approximately $10,000,000 in 1912 to approximately $14,500,000 in 1919, the expenditures during the same time have increased from the modest figure of $9,172,035.47 in 1912 to the rather large amount of $19,273,583.90 in 1919. Thus it will be seen that, while the earnings of operation have increased by about $4,500,000 in the seven years, the cost of operation has increased during the same period by approximately $10,000,000. In other words, the earnings have increased by about 40 per cent.! the expenses have grown by considerably over 100 per cent.

In the figures submitted by the postmaster-general to caucus it was estimated that it cost the government last year to transport newspapers over the Canadian railways a sum of approximately $2,000000. In addition to that, it was estimated, distribution, transfer, cartage, etc., in connection with newspapers cost approximately $5,000,000, making a total expenditure on behalf of newspapers of $7,000,000 for the year 1919. It is declared by the postmaster-general that the railways are now pressing for a 100 per cent increase in carrying charges, so that with this increase would be added another $2,000,000 to the government's cost of handling Canadian newspapers.

If this $2,000,000 is added to last year's government cost of carrying newspapers it will be seen that the amount involved in connection with the delivery through the government mails of the papers of Canada will reach approximately $9,000,000, this being for transportation on railways, distribution, transfer, cartage, etc. For this service, based on last year's statement, the newspapers have apparently been paying the trifling sum of $291,104, so that, if the government insists that the Canadian newspapers—daily, weekly and magazine—shall pay their way through the mails, the publishers of Canada will have to dig up the tidy total of approximately $8,700,000.

The draft bill, as has been pointed out, is based on an increase from the present rate of 1-4c. to 1c. per pound, with the possible adoption of a zone system which would probably increase the charges to newspapers mailed to points outside a 300-mile radius. But this increase will make up a very small part of the deficit of this year, and a still smaller portion of the postoffice operating charges if a 100 per cent. increase has to be given to the railways for carrying charges. As a matter of fact, it is estimated that with the increase from 1-4c. to 1c. per pound would result in an increase from the revenue of $291,104 last year to an annual increrse of approximately $625,000 per annum under the increased rate. Thus, instead of meeting the actual deficit in the postoffice department, the newspapers would in reality be paying only about $625,000 per year for a service which according to estimates of the postoffice department, would be costing the country—if a 100 per cent increase is given the railways for transportation charges—approximately $9,000,000 next year. On this basis, it will be seen that the deficit in the newspaper branch of the government's business would amount to approximately $8,350,000 annually.

Taking this as a working basis, it can be readily discerned that not only can the Canadian newspapers not meet such an amount, but that, in the face of the enormous increase in operating expenses, even the present revenue of the government—from general business, war stamps, newspaper postage, everything in fact—will fall a good deal short of paying its way. So that the mere fact of making the newspapers pay a reasonable postage rate will not assist the government out of the hole, but in reality will be a mere bagatelle in the general summary of revenue and earnings. Thus is another department of the government faced with a deficit that is just about as morrisome and as discouraging as is the deficit in connection with the government operation of railways.

In addition to making the increase above outlined, it is intimated that, with the establishment of the zone system it may be deemed advisable to raise the rate on newspapers mailed to a point outside the 300-mile zone from the present rate of 1-4c to 2c per pound, but even this will have little effect in filling the gap between earnings and expenses.

But the postmaster-general's troubles are not going to end there, so it seems, for reports here are to the effect that the rural mail carriers and other postoffice agencies are now forming a union and propose to demand an increase of approximately 100 per cent in their schedule of remuneration. This increase, it is estimated, will add another $3,000,000 to the postoffice expenses, and will increase the deficit as estimated above from $9,000,000 to approximately $12,000,000. And apparently the only thing which Postmaster-General Blondin has to offer as an offset against this amount is an increase of revenue from newspapers of the difference between $291,000 (last year's revenue) and $625,000 (the amount it is estimated will be realized by an increase of newspaper rates from 1-4c to 1c per pound). On the face of Mr. Blondin's statement it will be seen that after raising newspaper rates, he will still be over $11,000,000 behind next year unless he can discover some new way to more than double his present revenue.

In reality, therefore, on this branch of the service the government's operation produces the somewhat staggering deficit of approximately $11,375,000. There might be a demand from some quarters for the newspapers to pay their way. If such a demand prevails—which is not likely to be the case—it will be seen that the rate on newspapers based on the fact that last year the department carried about 87,000,000 pounds of newspapers, would have to be almost 12c per pound, which would be almost a quarter of a cent. per page of paper, instead of per pound of 64 pages as at present.

No such rate could be imagined by the greatest stretch of imagination. Yet, failing that, Postmaster-General Blondin must either increase postage rates all the way round by at least 100 per cent, or else face an actual deficit next year that will amount in his department to almost $$10,000,000.

This is soemthing for the people of Canada to think about.

EDMONTON, ALBERTA, SATURDAY, MAY 1, 1920

SOUTH SIDE COMMUNITY LGE. HEARS ADAIR

Well Attended Meeting Listen to Expressions of Burgesses on Money Bylaws

Atended by a large representation of Edmonton South citizens the meeting of the South Side community league on Friday night a tthe Edmonton South Public library was one of exceptional interest to the many assembled.

Joseph Adair and Rice Sheppherd the two principal speakers of the evening, expressed their respective views on the bylaws in no uncertain terms, the interest in the speakers being heightened by the facts that their views were diametrically opposed and manfully sustained.

The invited speaker of the evening, Joseph Adair, treated the large attendance to an exceptional good half hour of oratory which amounted to a complete criticism of the wisdom of passing the money bylaws recently rejected in their entirety by the burgesses of the city. The speakers contention was that the council intended to submit these bylaws in exactly the same method as before without any attempt at elucidation or amendment.

Giving a comprehensive resume of what he termed the immense indebtedness of the city at present, the speaker advanced a number of very sound reasons why the money for the said bylaws should not be advanced by the citizens of Edmonton. He contended that much of the debt of the city had been piled up by undue extravagance of municipal administration in the past, and tha towing to the proven lack of business ability in the past in the handling of the city's money, that no further subsidies should be granted to spend until it was clearly proven that the people were able to afford it and that the expenditure was truly justified.

Present System Efficient.

Mr. Adair opposed especially the telephone bylaw, stating that the present system was really efficient and was not deserving of being scrapped as was the intentions regarding a large amount of the present equipment.

Rice Sheppherd followed Joseph Adair on the Community League platform with a half hour's criticism of the farmers' speech. He claimed that all he had was invested in the city of Edmonton, and that it was vitally to his interest, that the city went ahead. He expressed the view that the money nneeded for the power house and other civic improvements was not to be looked upon as only for the present needs, but for the requirements of the city when it had a population of between a hundred and a hundred and fifty thousand. He had always made a life plan of providing for future expansion, had carried out the idea successfully on his farm and did not see why it should not work out in Edmonton. The power plant should be built, stated the speaker, so that it would meet the requirements of the large population that Edmonton is expected to have some years hence.

Closing his remarks Mr. Sheppherd stated that he expected that Mr. Adair in his reply would put it all over him as far as oratory went, but that he believed that he had the facts of the case right.

A dark horse speaker of the evening, from enquiries proved to be a stranger in the house, and who left the hall unnoticed shortly after his interesting address, save a very trite impromptu talk to the gathering in which he stated that with the price of money the way it is now, it was not time for Edmonton to go into heavy indebtedness for improvements. He said that he was a blacksmith and was accustomed to making money by working, and not by real estate, and that he could not see eye to eye with a preivous speaker of the evening who pictured untold expansion for Edmonton in the near future. He characterised this as the imaginative vision of a real estate man that would be a long time in being fulfilled. He also stated that if the people of Edmonton had practised municipal economy in the past that they would not find it necessary to organise overall clubs today to beat the H.C. of L.

Spilled The Beans.

Joseph Adair addressed the meeting in reply to the remarks of Rice Sheppherd for a few minutes stating that the speech of Alderman Sheppherd was sufficient to clear him of any need of replying; that the alderman had spilled the beans in telling of the council achievements and intentions.

The meting closed with election of officers for the ensuing year; these being, T. P. Malone, president; Wm. Tipton, secretary; V. T. Richards, treas.; Thomas Davies, vice-president and chairman of the athletic section; Mrs. R. J. Russell, vice.-res., and convenor of women's interests; P. Manning, vice-pres., and chairman of business interests; Jas. A. Ross, vice-pres., and J. H. McDonald, vice-president.

Retiring president James A. Ross chairman of the meeting, thanked the speakers of the evening in very appreciative terms for the interest they had shown by turning out to the South Side Community league meeting.

Forest Heights and Clover Bar Road

The roads are nearly dry except for hills and culverts, some of which need attention.

There are still a few good houses vacant in Forest Heights, though the moving season seems about over.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Dunn and family have sailed for Scotland on a six months visit to relatives there.

TO BUILD NEW TARGETS AT RIFLE RANGE

Construction Work to Commence on Monday Next, Announces Lieut.-Col. Pete Bowen

Construction of six temporary targets at the Edmonton rifle range will begin Monday next according to an announcement made by Lieut.-Colonel Pete Bown who adds that completion will be pushed forward with all speed so that the targets may be in readiness for the use of Edmonton riflemen at the earliest opportunity.

The temporary targets are to be placed in order to meet the local demand until such time as the permanent program has been authorized and carried out by the militia department. This calls for the construction of concrete stock butts, carrying eight permanent targets, the whole fitted out in the latest manner with the most up-to-date facilities.

This work, together with the construction of a caretaker's home, a competitions' building and improvement to the grounds, will involve an expenditure of $8,500 which will be met by militia department appropriations.

Three clubs will have the use of the ranges, these including the 19th Alberta Dragoons, the 101st Regiment and the Edmonton Civilian Rifle association. The rifle to be used this year is to be the short military Lee Enfield, with slings.

Colonel Bowen states that a meeting of the Edmonton Rifle association will be held in the King Edward hotel beginning at 8 o'clock on Monday evening. All persons interested, whether military or otherwise, are invited to attend.

BARTERING IN MOONSHINE MUST STOP IS WARNING

Stronger Efforts to Check Lawlessness Among Foreigners Will Be Employed

That bootlegging and liquor law infractions are altogether too prevalent among the foreign element of the city and district was the effect of a statement made by Magistrate George B. McLeod in Provincial Police court Friday morning when he assessed a fine of $150 and costs against an Austrian, charged with selling "moonshine."

Addressing the interpreter for the benefit of the accused, Magistrate McLeod remarked that stronger eforts in the future than in the past would be made by the police to check the lawlessness of foreigners. "Tell the accused to inform his friends that the practice of bartering in moonshine whiskey or intoxicating liquor of any kind, has got to stop," the magistrate said.

RED MENACE IS SUBJECT OF LECTURE

Peter W. Collins Is to Address Meeting Monday Night Under Auspices of K. of C.

Peter W. Collins under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus, will deliver a lecture on Bolshevism, The Red Menace, at 8:15 p.m. next Monday, May 3rd in the Great War Veterans' Memorial hall.

Mr. Collins is one of the foremost lecturer on this continent and handles his subject in a most exhaustive and convincing manner, setting forth constructive remedies aiding the advancement and progress of civilization.

PETER W. COLLINS

Seats have been reserved for veterans of the Great War, who, it is hoped, will attend in large numbers. During the war Mr. Collins served the United States Government as Industrial expert. After the signing of the armistice he was engaged by the Knights of Columbus as director-general of their reconstruction and employment service through which, in the United States alone over 200,000 war veterans were aided in finding suitable employment. The success of the service was largely due to the ability and energy of Mr. Collins and his present lecture tour is a part of the reconstruction program of the organization.

In Canada the Knights of Columbus through the Catholic Army Huts organization have been working successfully along the same lines, aiding the re-establishment of returned men wherever possible.

A cordial invitation is also extended to members of the various labor organizations in the city. Mr. Collins is himself a member in good standing of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, of which he was for eight years the secretary. He was editor of the "Electrical Worker," for eight years, was the representative of labor on the Illinois Industrial commission, is an honorary organizer of the American Federation of Labor, and ex-president of the Boston Central Labor union.

He has a wide and thorough knowledge of social problems and few men have had such a varied experience He stands for constructive service and his work is of the highest order.

Admission to the lecture is free to the public and at the close of his lecture Mr. Collins will be glad to answer questions put to him by the audience.

PARLIAMENT OF Y. M. C. A. BOYS OPENS

Long Before the Hour of Opening Crowds Thronged Galleries—Speech from Throne

The Boys' Parliament of the Y.M.C.A. was formally opened in the gymnasium on Friday night Long before the hour of opening, crowds thronged the galleries and promptly at 7.30 after the proclamation was read His Honor Dr. Thomas, accompanied by Sergeant-at-Arms Blake Brunson entered the Chambers but retired on finding no speaker had been elected. The premier Hon. Walter Herbert, moved, seconded by Hon Norman Farquharson, that R. J. Gillis be elected Speaker. There being no further nomination, he was elected and thanked the legislature. His Honor then returned and read the speech from the throne.

The Cabinet

The cabinet was announced as follows:

Hon. W. Herbert, Premier.
Hon. N Farquharson, Finance.
Hon. E. H. Gowan, Health and Recreation.
Hon. E. Saunders, Social and Moral Order.
Hon. C. McCleary Education.
Hon. A. McDonald, Attorney General.
Hon. E. C. Williams, Secretary of State.
Hon. R. J. Gillis, Speaker.
Hon. J. Armour Ford, Leader of the Opposition.
Bruce Williamson, Clerk.

Messages of Congratulation

Several messages of congratulation were received from various parliaments.

The Premier presented a bill entitled The Edmonton Boys' Parliament Act, which received its first reading.

The speech from the throne is to be considered Monday afternoon.

A resolution of regret was unanimously passed at the departure at a near date of Dr. Thomas, who has done such admirable work along C.S.E.T. lines.

The leader of the opposition moved the adjournment of the debate.

In his speech from the Throne, the Lieutenant-Governor said, in part:

"Your vision and grasp of the problems which will face you in the course of this session your zeal, intelligence and determination in meeting and in solving them, and your personal bearing in and out of the sessions, as official representatives of Edmonton's boys, will largely determine whether this experiment is to prove futile, or whether in future years parliaments similar to this one and for like purposes, shall come to be considered an indispensable influence for good in the life of the Church and of the City.

"To expedite matters of a preliminary character, a suggestive Constitution has been put in documentary form, and is now laid before you, for your deliberation.

Deal With Important Matters

"This Constitution will when completed, it is expected, deal with many important matters, among which are the following: the Franchise, the General Election, the Life of Parliament, the Choice of Premier and of Leader of the Opposition, the Appointment of the Cabinet, Eligibility to Membership in the Parliament, the Organization of Parliament and the Selection and the Duties of the Standing Committees of the Parliament.

"After the adoption of a constitution providing for guidance for this and future parliaments, and launching of a campaign to secure sufficient leadership, your attention will naturally be turned to the welfare of the boys themselves. It is not too much to expect that the civic and provincial governments will gladly listen to your appeals when they are convinced that you have an intelligent and gripping interest in the needs and in the welfare of the generation you represent. This faith in you will demand of you such sincere and mature and disinterested study as you can bring to your task. You at your best can interpret the highest needs of your generation as those who are older and have forgotten, cannot do. Try to conceive the largeness of the four-fold life as exemplified in Him who is our Pattern and Inspirer, and believe that it is intended that every boy should hunger and strive for it and in some measure really attain to it.

Physical Welfare

"Interest yourselves in everything that affects in the least the physical welfare of those who are your charge. Stimulate their interest in mental alertness and in knowledge of the worth-while; guard their social and moral environment as you would guard the pure air we breathe; do everything you can to take away the things that make for hardness of spirit, and foster faith in a good world. If suffering and exposure must be, give them a motive and a result, of worthy proportions.

"All this will give rise to discussion, and, let us hope to legislation dealing with such subjects as healthful play, and the proper use of leisure; opportunities for play for all the children of all the people; vocational guidance; education of employers to the advantages of such vocational guidance; continuation schools, for adults as well as youths; more out-vrd--zlthe entofAlcea- e, door education; the promotion of handicraft and of the higher arts, such as music, drawing, painting, and the plastic arts, by competitions exhibitions, festivals, and such means; and, finally, the cultivation of intellectual alertness and of that type of social responsiveness and moral sensitiveness which are the token of responsible citizenship, by the promotion of team games, debating clubs and societies for the training of the youth of both sexes in the art of elevated, refined, and sustained social conversation. Frivolity, either real or feigned is cursing modern-day youths and adults, no worse than mediocrity. Clean physical habits, good reading, high thinking, refined love of the artistic and reverence for the undiscovered riches of life will make you and your fellow-travellers a race better and nobler than you now dream it posible to be."

CATTLE LOSS NOT AS GREAT AS RUMORED

D. M. Johnson, Supervisor of Stockyards for the Dominion, Thinks Losses Exaggerated

D. M. Johnson, supervisor of stockyards for the Dominion is in the city on an official visit to the Edmonton Stock Yards and is looking into the conditions in the yards here, and also is working out details of the work in connection with settling up the hay shipments that have been carried on in such quantities this winter by the Provincial government and the Dominion government together. In this connection he had a conference with H. A. Craig, deputy minister of Agriculture Friday afternoon.

Mr. Johnson has just come through from Winnipeg and en route he visited the Moose Jaw and Prince Albert yards. Previous to that he had been in the east right down to the Montreal yards and reports the business light all the way through Canada.

Loss of Cattle Exaggerated

Coming through Saskatchewan and Alberta, Mr. Johnson has yet to find anything that would make him believe that the loss has been as heavy in cattle this winter as is commonly rumored. He saw lots of thin cattle, and there may yet be quite a loss, but he cannot think that the loss has been as heavy as has often been stated.

Better Care of Cattle

Mr. Johnson, who is a practical farmer, as well as Stockyards Inspector, believes that out of the experience of this winter will come the better care of cattle. Every farmer should grow his own feed, states Mr. Johnson, who is not at all worried over the fact that the late spring is going to result in a smaller acreage for wheat. They will just grow more oats and green feed, he says, and that is going to result in a smaller acreage for wheat. They will just grow more oats and green feed he says, and that is the best thing they can do. He is also a great believer in ensilage as a solution of the feed problem, but also thinks that the cattle will thrive much better and require much less feed if they are given a decent shelter.

McCauley School Notes

McCauley public school was the centre Friday of an interesting function when, to mark their whole-hearted appreciation of Mr. Wm. Orchard's connection with the school as janitor, and his happy relationships throughout with staff and pupils, the whole school assembled in the assembly hall to bid him a regretful good-bye upon his retirement and departure for Oregon, U.S.A.

Greeted by the whole 800 or more pupils with "For he's a jolly good fellow,' Mr. Orchard was presented with a gold chain, containing as the princ'pal (Mr. Leonard Humphreys) remarked just as many links as Mr. Orchard had spent months in the school board's service. Attached to the chain was a very beautiful masonic keystone, mounted in gold with a diamond set in platinum on its upper edge, typical of the masonic emblem of God's All Seeing Eye. To Mrs. Orchard was tendered a beautiful gold brooch, inset with pearls and a central peridot stone.

With difficulty both Mr. and Mrs. Orchard attempted to control their feelings sufficiently to express their appreciation of the gifts and the regard conveyed.

The occasion closed with the singing of the apt school song "If You're had a Kindness Shown," the rendering of the national anthem and a three times three as only school boys and girls can give them—with general good byes and good wishes to the recipients.

Anticipating the city's "Clean-up" campaign, selected grades of the school carried out during the day their annual spring clean about the school premises and bordering portions of 107th and 107A avenues and lanes, the effect amply demonstrating the benefits resulting from the pupils' efforts.

During the past week a meeting of the school council, school mayor Horace Campbell, in the chair, allocated duties to the school safety and health committee and a law and order committee, with power to appoint additional help from the school in proper care of the school lawn, trees and premises.

Dentistry Need Not Be PAINFUL

MODERN methods of painless dentistry and our particular study and application of these methods have placed us on a plane far in advance of the average. Patients who come to us for treatment can positively lay aside their dread of a dental operation. Fear is the greatest bugbear of both patient and dentist. With its removal our patients are at ease, and we are able to perform our work with a far greater degree of accuracy. A double advantage is found in the fact that—

The Daily Poem

THE CHILD WITHOUT PLAY.

Plenty of room for dives and dens
(glitter and glare and sin!)
Plenty of room for prison pens (gather the criminals in!)
Plenty of room for jails and courts
(willing enough to pay!)
But never a place for the lads to race;
no, never a place to play.

Plenty of room for shops and stores
(Mammon must have the best!)
Plenty of room for the running sores that rot in the city's breast.
Plenty of room for the lures that lead the hearts of youth astray.
But never a cent on a playground spent; no, never a place to play!

Plenty of room for schools and halls,
plenty of room for art;
Plenty of room for teas and balls, platform, stage and mart.
Proud is the city—she finds a place for many a fad today,
But she's more than blind if she fails to find a place for the boys to play.

Give them a chance for innocent sport, give them a chance for fun—
Better a playground plot than a court and a jail when the harm is done.
Give them a chance—if you stint them now, tomorrow you'll have to pay
A larger bill for a darker ill, so give them a place to play.

—Dennis A. McCarthy.

Presbyterian W. M. S.

The province of Alberta has frequently been mentioned as an ideal centre for conferences and conventions and many organizations can testify to successful gatherings within her cities. But for the women of the Presbyterian church no announcement has ever exceeded in interest the approaching meeting of the general council of the Women's Missionary Society, to be held in Knox church, Calgary, May 11 to 14 inclusive. As that council is the highest court of the society, its membership is composed of representatives from the six provincials in the western division of the church—Quebec to the Pacific coast. The morning sessions will be for business and delegates only. Afternoon and evening sessions will be open to all interested in missions. Addresses will be given by the secretaries of the various departments and members of the staff in home and foreign fields. Those wishing to attend are requested to buy a single fare ticket, and at same time obtain from the ticket agent a standard certificate which must be signed by the W. M. S. railway secretary at Knox church, Calgary. This will entitle the holder to a cheaper return rate than would otherwise be available.

The ladies of the Women's Alliance of the First Unitarian Church held an impromptu gathering at the home of Mrs. M. W. Dickinson, 106th Ave., to help her celebrate her 70th birthday. The affair was a complete surprise to Mrs. Dickinson, as no hint had been even whispered of the proposed affair. As Mrs. Dickinson is the senior member of the Alliance, the flowers presented were significant, they being pink and white carnations, pink from those whose mothers are living and white for those who passed on. Refreshments were served and a pleasant social hour was enjoyed. All of the ladies of the Alliance were present with the exception of Mrs. W. H. Alexander, who is too ill to leave her room. Boys and Girls Hold High Carnival at the Y. M. C. A.

Seldom has a function been held in the city of Edmonton which was so well attended as that of the closing exercises of the Canadian Girls in Training, and the Boys' Standard of Efficiency Training classes, held in the Y.M.C.A. building Friday night. The guests commenced to arrive at 7:30, where Rev. Dr. Thomas, Mrs. Thomas, Miss Katie McCrimmon and Rev. A. M. Dallas received them or tried to, but in less than twenty minutes more than 500 tickets had been given out, and the young folks arriving in such crowds, they soon overflowed the main building, the Y.M.C.A. Hut, the gymnasium, all over the upstairs, and in fact the building was filled to its capacity in a manner as never before. Every available space was filled with happy young people. The girls brought cake and sandwiches and the boys were to furnish the ice cream.

LITTLE MISS BARBARA JARMAN, aged four year, who will appear in a Sunbeam Dance at the display of dancing by the pupils of Mrs. and Miss Lotta Boucher in the Empire theatre on Saturday evening, May 1.

The reception was conducted under the joint auspices of the local girls' commission, and the local committee for co-operation in Boys' Work. Invitations were extended to the organized classes of older boys and girls and it was expected that at most four hundred would respond. More than three times that number—1,200—is a conservative estimate of the number present, and many claim that 1,500 would be nearer the real figure.

A good program had been prepared, of music and games, but owing to the tremendous crowd, it was found impossible to carry out the plans.

Fully thirty leaders of training classes were present to help entertain, as was also the High School orchestra. Mr. Forbes' boys sang, Miss Margaret Gold and Miss Maxine McCleary also assisted in the program. A few noticed in the asembly were: Rev. Dr. Thomas and Mrs. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar, Mr. and Mrs. Marks, Mr. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. Clark, Mrs Shearer, Mrs. Wm. Grant, Mrs. Bishop, Rev. Cobbledick, Rev. N. D. Keith Rev. Irwin, Mr. G. V. Pelton, Miss Young, Miss Kenedy, Mr. Wilkie Whitelaw, Mr. Wood, Reinhardt-Johnson, Mr. Gilbert, Mr. J. M. Miller, Mr. Gillis Mr. Gillam, Mr. James McMillan, and Captain Duncan. The Y.M.C.A. wish to thank the E.C.D., Mrs. Pinckney, and the Woodland Dairy for refreshments donated, also the different churches for the dishes loaned.

Time to Buy Clothes For Sporting Wear

As the season for sport clothes approaches, it is astonishing how few kinds of materials there are for this sort of wear and a cape goes with almost every frock, according to the present inclination of fashion and it should be the type that will serve in summer as well as spring, with sport clothes as well as the simple dark frock which is to give immediate service

The average dressmaker will always offer a cape with a frock. Much of the glory of the costume lies in it. Ingenuity and artistry are combined this season to make capes brilliant, to draw the attention of all women so they may desire them for their own. Of that subject more another day.

The choice of fabrics for suits is limited as it is for frocks. Serge gabardine, heavy silk jersey and a black weave of crepe de chine are offered for inspection and selection. Thin homespun soft English suitings sharply ribbed poplin and serge are offered for suits.

Satin plays a small part this season. It is used as a foundation more often than as a surface fabric. Taffeta takes its place for the evening and faille for the afternoon.

When one arrives at the time to choose an afternoon frock it is astonishing to find that there is greater variety in its cut and arrangement than in its fabric.

Georgette crepe, voile taffeta and crepe de chine tumble over one another on the counters and in the salons of the dressmakers, and no apparel maker arises to offer anything more novel.

THE BULLETIN'S ALADDIN CLUB

KINDNESS HONOR COURTESY LOYALTY OBEDIENCE

Dear Boys and Girls—Here it is May-Day! In some places in the Old Country, and latterly in the United States, where the days are warmer than we have here, the boys and girls have great sport on May-day. They have a fine holiday, elect a May Queen and have all sorts of out of door sports. You remember Tennyson's poem about the girl who was to be "Queen of the May" and was so afraid that she should not awake early enough in the morning.

I mind when my sister used to waken up/as early as possible to try to catch the dew on the grass for my mother used to tell her that if she would wash her face, every May morning, in the early dew, she would gain a lovely complexion. But, sad to relate, she always overslept one or two mornings, which of course broke the charm.

There was a large grain of truth in the old saying, for early rising, and the time spent in the fresh morning air would help any girl to keep in health, and good health is the best recipe for a clear skin and rosy cheeks.

In Ottawa, there is a Girls' club called the May Court club, where the young people meet every May-day to elect a queen and councillors, and form themselves into committees to do all sorts of work in helping others. They visit hospitals, and sew for the poor. They give little concerts at the Orphans' Home and places like that, and Christmas Trees to those who would not otherwise have any, and in all sorts of ways they do what they can to make life better and ahppier.

Watch Next Week

I have told you that very shortly we would print directions for pressing and mounting the specimens of wild flowers and weeds which those who wish to enter that competition will collect during the summer. These directions are likely to appear next week, so be on the watch for them. Be sure and cut them out and keep them carefully, so that you will have thme when you wish to use them.

Even if you do not wish to enter the competition, I should advise you to keep these directions, for there may be something else you wish them for later on. We are planning all sorts of nice things for you to do, if you are interested in them.

Remember that it is very easy to spoil good specimens, if they are not properly cared for, and no one wants to waste work and energy, so watch for next week's letter.

Have you watched to see how the pussy willows have developed. They don't all look alike when they have grown a little. How many of you have noticed that?

UNCLE TOM.

THE KINGS GARDEN

Once there was an old King who owned a beautiful flower garden. One evening he walked among his flowers, glad that they were so full of beauty. The next morning one of his little pages came to him, saying his garden had been destroyed in the night. The King hurried to the garden and found the roses hanging their heads; the vines on the ground; the leaves off the trees. Turning to one of the roses, he said, "Why is this?" The rose replied ,"What's the use to bloom? The flowers last but a day." the vine said, "It is so little that we can give. We had better give nothing." The tree said, "I am useless I just stand here idle." At the King's feet he saw a little pansy. It alone was blooming beautifully. He asked why it was not fading too, and the reply came, "Why, King, you put me here and I try to be just the best little flower I can." Then the King said, "O flowers, vine, and tree, if each one does his best, even though it be but little, what more can he do?" After that there was no more discontent in the King's garden.

GAMES THAT OTHER CHILDREN PLAY

Leapfrog

The Back.—Any player who bends over to make a back for others to leap over is called the "back." He must rest his hands on his knees or near them, to make a firm back. It is against the rules for any player making a back to throw up his back or bend it lower while a player is leaping over it. But each player before jumping, may say "high back" or "low back!" which the one who is down must adjust before the jumper starts. He then must do his best to keep the back perfectly level and still, unless the game calls for a different kind of play.

In some cases the back stands with his back towards the jumpers, and in others with his side towards them. If he is to stand on a certain line, he must "heel it," if with his back towards them, or, if his side be toward them, stand with one foot on either side of the line.

The Jumper.—The player who leaps must lay his hands flat on the back at the shoulders, and not "knuckle," that is, double under the fingers. Any player trangressing this rule must change places with the back. The back must be cleared without touching him with the foot, or any part of the body, except the hands. Such a touch is called "spurring" and the transgressor must change places with the back, if the latter stands upright in time, he remains back.

When a leap is made from a starting line or "taw" the jumper may not put his foot more than half over the line. Good jumpers will land on the toes, with knees bent, and backs upright, not losing the balance.

The Game. The first player makes a back, standing either with his back or side towards the one who is to leap over. The next player runs, leaps over the back, runs a few steps forward so as to allow space for a run between himself and the first player, and in his turn, stoops over and makes a back. This makes two backs. The third player leaps over the first back, runs and leaps over the second, runs a short distance and makes a third back. When all the players are making backs the first one down takes his turn at leaping, and so on indefinitely.

The game may be made more difficult, by each player moving only a few feet in advance of the back over which he has leaper, as this will leave no room for a run between the backs but means a continuous succession of leaps by the succeeding players.

If there are many players they may be lined up in single files, and make the game a race between the files.

A burlesque on this game which sometimes is good sport, consists in crawling between the feet of the players instead of jumping over the backs. This may be done by leaping over the back of one, crawling between the feet of the next, etc.

WHAT DADDY SAYS

My daddy is the queerest man!
Whatever plans I lay,
He's always sure to say to me:
"Then, son, begin today."

I look ahead to when I'm grown,
And plan to make things hum,
No telling how much good I'll do,
Nor what I may become.

Sometimes I talk of college days,
And the honors I shall win,
But daddy thumps my spelling book,
And says, "All right! Start in!"

When I get old, I've planned to be Just like grandpa Howe,
But daddy only laughs, and says:
"You'd best begin right now."

I ask him why he talks that way,
And daddy says to me,
"The kind of a boy you are today,
The kind of a man you'll be."

Uncle Tom's Mail Bag

A Member from Cuba.

Dear Uncle Tom,—I have often been going to write to the Aladdin Club, but until now I have not found courage.

I came from Cuba with my mother when I was five years old to join my father on the homestead in Canada. Cuba was a very warm country indeed, and there were many kinds of fruit, such as oranges, grape fruit, pineapples, bananas, guavas and mangos. Although the winters here are long and cold, I like Canada best.

We have had lots of snow this winter, and now, since the thaw began, most of the land is under water, and I am unable to go to school. I have three and a quarter miles to walk to school. We have a good teacher, and I like to go.

I hope you will enroll me as a member because I am so anxious to be in the Nature Club. Wishing the club every success, yours truly, Frances Christina de la Cluyse, Boyle Alta., April 25, 1920.

Your letter is very entertaining, Frances, and I feel sure that all the members will be very anxious to have you write again. Some of them might like to hear about the mangos and guavas, which are unusual fruits in this part of Canada?

I am so glad that you want to join the Nature League. You will have seen in last letter what is to be the test of admission, and I am sure you will have no difficulty in passing it.

You have quite a distance to walk to school, but it will be pleasant in good weather and should keep you in god health. We are glad to hear that you like Canada, as all good Aladdin members must be loyal to their country, which, of course, we think is not difficult.—Uncle Tom.

Wants to Join Club

Dear Uncle Tom,—Would you like another new member added to your club? I live on a farm two miles from a small town named Bashaw. I am going to school and am in the fourth grade. I have to walk a mile.

I have a little horse all my own. I call her Birdy. She is very quiet. I also have a dog I call Shepherd. He is good to chase cows and horses. I am going to set some hens, and start myself in poultry raising. I like poultry, and there is good money in it for small boys like me.

I must say good-night. I hope to see my letter in print, as it is my first one. Good luck to all.—Wilfred Walter McMullen, Bashaw, Alberta, April 26, 1920.

We are very glad to welcome new members, Wilfred, and your letter is so interesting that I am sure all the members will be pleased to hear from you often. We will be particularly anxious to hear how your poultry raising turns out. Are you going in for pure breds? I have a little friend who made quite a deal of money with Rhode Island Reds. I shall try to get him to tell you all about it.

Perhaps, as you are so interested in hens you may have some stories about them for our Nature League?—Uncle Tom.

Two New Members

Dear Uncle Tom —Two of my brothers received badges and there are two more of us who want to be members of your club. My brother and myself would like to belong. My name is Iver and my brother is Lief. I have two little baby brothers, one is Raymond, and the other has no name yet. Greetings to Uncle Tom.—Iver Oness, R. R. No. 1, Ponoka, April 24, 1920.

I am very glad to be able to send you badges, Iver, and to welcome you and your brother to our corner. What a fine lot of boys. Your father won't have much trouble looking for help when you all grow up.—Uncle Tom.

Edwin Know the Weed

Dear Uncle Tom—The weed in your column of the Bulletin is a thistle. Please send me a badge—Edwin Chandler, Ranfurly, Alberta, April 23.

You are right about the weed, Edwin. I'm afraid some of the other members would need to step on it before they would recognise it. They would know it then, quickly enough, wouldn't they? I am sending you a badge and hope you will like it. Also I hope you will write often. Your letter is the kind I like to see, short, and to the point. Only next time, I hope you will have more to write about.—Uncle Tom.

Use a Milking Machine

Dear Uncle Tom—I go to school every day. We drive with two horses. The snow is melting quickly, and our yard is full of water. I am nine years old, and in grade 3. There are four children in my grade.

We have a milking machine, and milk ten cows.

I have three dolls and love to play with them. Their names are Florence, Irene and Little Mutt.

Please send me a badge—Alma Jespersen, Spruce Grove, Alberta, April 23, 1920.

Your badge has been sent to you Alma, and I hape we will hear from you often. Won't you tell the members more about your milking machine, and whether it is satisfactory? I am sure all of the boys and girls, who have to milk in the old way, would be very much interested.—Uncle Tom.

Going to Play in the Band

Dear Uncle Tom,—This is my sixth letter to the Club. I haven't seen my letters in print, but expect to. I am going to write to the Club once a week. I was glad to get my badge, and think it very pretty. I have bought an instrument because we are going to start playing in the band. Wishing the Club every success.—Roy. Anderson, Armena, Alberta.

Probably you have seen one of your letters in print before this, Roy. We shall be glad to hear from you again. What instrument is it you play? Won't you tell us what interests you in the Corner, and if you are going to try some of the competitions?—Uncle Tom

Likes Going to School

Dear Uncle Tom.—This is my second letter to you. I am not going to school now, and have a brother who is not going either. When I go to school I have a lot of fun, and like to go.—Mildren, Armena, Alberta.

Mildred has not signed her other name. Don't forget it next time, Mildred. Was it the cold weather kept you at home? I expect you are back to school again by this time, and are getting along very fast. I am always glad to hear of the progress of my little nephews and nieces.—Uncle Tom

Will be 13 Soon

Dear Uncle Tom—This is my first letter to the Club. I have been reading the letters and stories on the Young People's page for a long time and they are becoming more and more interesting. I like to go to school. I will be 13 years old on the 15th of April. I have a brother 11 years old. We have a dog, a cat, and a number of cows, horses and chickens. Well, I must close with every good wish to the Club.—Eleanor Magnelson, Daysland, Alberta.

Come again, Eleanor, we are glad to hear from you and to know that you like the page. Won't you try to help us made it more interesting?—Uncle Tom.

Was Fireman at School

Dear Uncle Tom—The weather is just fine now. I am going to school every day. I am the fireman in school. We spent the winter very happily, and I am in Grade 5 now, and 13 years of age. Good-bye. Fred Missel—Bruce Alberta.

You must have been kept busy firing up last winter, Fred, if it was as cold in Bruce as in most places in Alberta. I suppose you are going to school still, and making good progress.—Uncle Tom.

Plays Games

Dear Uncle Tom—This is my second letter, but I haven't written for a long time. I am going to school every day, and I am in Grade 3. There are only thirteen scholars in school, and we play games.—Edward Missel.

Have you tried any of the games we told about in the Corner? Perhaps some of them are new to you, and will be a change. I remember how we always like to try a new game when I was a boy, but sometimes we liked the old ones best and came back to them again. These are games that other children enjoy, and I hope you will too.—Uncle Tom.

LAST WEEK'S PLANT.

Last week's plant was a weed, the Canada Thistle. Now, don't you remember ever having met him? The only member who sent in the correct name was Edwin Chandler, Ranfurly, Alberta.

This plant spreads very quickly by means of its long, spreading roots, that send up shoots all along their way, so when you meet it try to destroy as much as possible of the root, and then watch the spot, and kill every plant as it appears. If you cover the spot with good strong tar-paper, weighting it well down with heavy stones or dry soil, it will smother out the plant, by preventing the growth of leaves.

TODAY'S WEED

Today we talk about a plant which may be anywhere between six inches and two feet in height, with a number of branches from the upper part. The spear-shaped leaves clasp the stem and the flowers are small and white, a cluster at the top of the stem. The pods are flat, with a thin notched wing extending all around. It flowers from April to September, and the seeds are ripe in from June to October. Each pod usually contains about fourteen seeds, the plant producing from 1,600 to 15,000 seeds. This plant always chooses the best soil on the farm.

What's The Matter With Sugar?

Mainly the thing that has been the matter with it during the past five years was that the world war was fought in the beet sugar fields. Belgium, France, Germany, Austria, Russia, Roumania, were all producers of beet sugar before the war on an export scale. And as the armies happened to meet along a good part of that strip across mid-Europe, and as the rest of it was cut off from world trade, a slump in the sugar supply was in the nature of things necessary.

The normal world demand before the war has been estimated at about eleven million tons, of which the cane-growing countries supplied only about a third and the beet growing countries two-thirds. With the summary shutting off of the main sugar supply it is clear enough that sugar had to grow scarce and the price go up; and with the prolonged tieing up of the region by military operations it is not difficult to understand that the tendency should be for the supply to keep on dwindling and the price to keep on mounting This despite the fact that both beet-growing and cane-growing were speeded up in other countries, notably the United States and the West Indies, to production beyond all records.

Precisely what is the matter with sugar in the present year, and in Canada, is not so apparent. The war ended a year ago last fall. Presumably a start was made across the beet belt of Europe last summer to revive the suspended industry, for the people in those devastated regions were in desperate need of producing something, and they could find nothing more profitable than the beet crops with the cultivation of which they were familiar. Presumably also preparations were made for carrying the re-establishment of the industry forward another long step this summer, for the inducement of keen demand and high prices was never so strong.

And in the meantime the efforts made to expand cane-growing have now had time to mature, and make themselves felt. In point of fact, Cuba has a crop this year estimated to yield as much as the whole cane sugar demand of the world in the year before the war. The United States produced as much last year as Cuba has this year, and is likely repeating the achievement this season. The causes which have operated to stimulate cane production in the United States and in Cuba have been world wide, and have no doubt caused a corresponding enlargement of the plantations in the East Indies—from which, by the way, the B.C. refinery normally draws its supply, and from which Edmonton therefore gets its sweetening in the ordinary course of things.

The moral would seem to be that on toward the close of the summer sugar prices are due to take a decided drop, if they do not collapse; and that this prospect should operate to keep prices down in the meantime.

On the contrary, sugar has been going up steadily and rapidly in price, the refiners say it will go higher within the next thirty days, and Ottawa sends a warning that thirty cent sugar is in sight. And the farthest that refiners or officials go in the way of explanation is to say that the price of the crude sugar is higher than ever before.

As showing what the cane-growing countries have ben doing to increase production, and how much the price of the crude article has advanced, a recent report from the Canadian trade commissioner at Havana is both interesting and instructive. He gives the total Cuban production by years as follows, in tons long):

1918	3,210,754 tons
1919	3,825,239 tons

While for the present year the output is estimated at 4,200,000 tons.

As corresponding increases have been made in other cane-growing countries, and as Europe was in position to produce some beet crops last year, the conclusion seems inevitable that there is more sugar in the world now than there has been at any time since the war cut off the European supply.

But look at the prices. In 1917 the Cubans got for their raw product .005, or five one-thousandths of a cent per pound. The next year they got forty-five one-thousandths of a cent, and, and last year fifty-five one-thousandths. But this year they are counting on getting the un-dreamed-of price of ten cents per pound, or more than 900 million dollars for the crop. As there are less than three million people in the island, it is apparent that there are pretty good times in Cuba just now. Raw sugar, in fact, seems to have gone up faster than raw furs, and that is saying something.

However clear it may be to the refiners and the officials, this upward swoop of prices, in face of an unprecedented output of cane sugar, and after Europe has had one season in which to do something at least to supply its own requirements, is mystifying to the consumer. It defies all the recognized laws of nature in regard to production and trade, and invites a suspicion that the refiners and speculative interests are simply trying to exploit a gullible public for high prices before the new world crop ripens and the crash comes.

An explanation of what the people in central Europe were doing last summer when they should have been planting beets, and what they are doing now when they ought to be planting more beets, would help to clear the situation, and if it did not bring down the price of sugar might do something to justify it in the public mind.

The trade commissioner at Havana very aptly says "An interesting feature of Cuba's sugar exports in the last three years has been the phenomenal increase in the amount exported direct to Canada. In 1917 Canada took 3,515 tons, in 1918 12,090 tons, and in 1919 the statistics show that Cuba exported 81,996 tons direct to Canada."

The statement certainly in interesting. It shows that the more raw sugar was brought into Canada from Cuba the higher the price went in Canada for the finished article.

Polling Under the Bolshevik Regime.

Dispatches from Mexico report that the city of Chihuahua has been captured by some brand of revolutionists or other, and that the Federal troops and the Sonora "republicans" have started fighting in the mountains. Which is to say, a general election is under way in Mexico.

The Toronto Cure.

For stealing some cloth a Toronto Chinaman has been sentenced by Judge Coatesworth to be spanked. It being thus established that spanking is a permissible form of punishment, why restrict its salutary influences to Toronto, or to Celestial offenders. Joy-riders who make free with other people's automobiles might be given a course of the treatment with propriety and profit. The defence usually put up on their behalf is that they are youngsters, and more or less irresponsible, and should not therefore be sent to jail. But they are not too young to be spanked.

Cabinet Reduction.

The gap in the Stewart government caused by the lamented death of the late Hon. A. G. MacKay has not been filled. The premier has decided to place the two departments directed by Mr. MacKay under the control of the provincial treasurer. Hon. C. R. Mitchell has assumed the duties of Minister of Health and of Municipal Affairs in addition to those of provincial treasurer. The order is fairly large but it is to be considered that the ground-work of organization in the health department had already been laid by Mr. MacKay. Still the new minister will find his hands full.

The decision of the premier to reduce rather than increase the membership of his cabinet must appeal to the ratepayers of the province as a step in the direction of economy—the more so when the provincial treasurer has been placed in charge. The record of Hon. Mr. Mitchell—as became the treasurer of the province—has always been towards economy in the conduct of provincial affairs.

Legal Inquiries

Legal questions will be answered in the columns of The Bulletin, after being submitted to The Bulletin's own legal representative. Write on one side of the paper only. Be brief. Send stamped and addressed envelope if private reply is desired. Name and address (which will not be published) must accompany all inquiries.

To the Bulletin Legal Dept.—Can a railroad company go on private property and take land to make a reservoir for water, for a water tank, without the consent of the owner of the property. If so, how is the damage settled if parties cannot agree.—L. A.

1. We think that under section 200 of the Railway Act, a railway company can take land for a reservoir without the consent of the owner.

2. If the parties cannot agree the amount of damage is set by arbitration, as provided in the act.

To the Bulletin Legal Dept.—A road is crossing my land for over fifteen years to avoid the creek. The creek crosses the municipal road between my land and my neighbor's land and the creek may be avoided by turning around on a very little place.

1. Have I the right to keep the public off the road?

2. If I have that right, must I warn the municipality about that change?—H. D.

If you have not within the fifteen years exercized any rights to ownership of the land used for the road and the public has used it uninterruptedly for that time, we doubt if you have any right to close off the road. The question is a very involved one and there may be facts of which we are not aware. Before taking any steps to close the road you had better see your solicitor.

To the Bulletin Legal Dept—Can the owner of a farm move away and leave a number of dead cattle lying about the premises, some of which carcasses are only a short distance from a public highway?—A. J. M.

If the lives, safety, health or property of the public are endangered by the act, a criminal action may be brought against the owner of the farm.

To The Bulletin Legal Dept.—1. What is the best way to apply for a patent on an invention, to be protected from swindle?

2. If I proceed to get patent in Canada how will I proceed to get patent in U.S.A., England and France without someone getting wise to it and applying in the foreign countries?

3. If I apply in one country will I have first right to other countries if someone applies on the same date or after?

I have made filing in the first country. I intend to try and get patent in several foreign countries.

1. You can either write to the Patent Office at Ottawa for information or go to your solicitor.

2. You should write to some solicitor who specializes in patents in England and France and the U.S.A. who would take up the patent for you.

3. It will depend on the laws of the other countries as to whether you have the first right or not, and you could get advice on this point from solicitors in the various countries where you desire patents.

Dangerous Publicity.

Mr. Stefansson persists in telling the world that there are inexhaustible supplies of food in the arctic regions. He ought to know. It may be that the Esquimaux are not the simpletons they are commonly taken for, in continuing to inhabit such an out-of-the-way and apparently inhospitable part of the world. At any rate they have not been complaining about the increased cost of living, so far as known. But they will soon have cause to complain if through Mr. Stefansson's reports the white man is led to invade their domain and lay hands on their meat supply. The explorer will not be popular in the north if he succeeds in persuading the pale-faces that there is meat up there that is worth going after.

Another O. B. U.

The Canada Steamship Lines, the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company, and the Dominion Steel Corporation, are being lumped together in one gigantic merger, to be known as the British Empire Steel Corporation. It is, of course, the privilege of the stockholders in these enterprises to pool their interests if they want to, but the combine looks altogether too much like a One Big Union of capital to be popular or to be harmless. There is no legitimate complaint to the formation of an industrial enterpise merely because it is planned on a large scale. But there is a very positive and pronounced tendency on the part of the public to be suspicious of mergers whose promoters commonly aim—and succeed—at making the public pay dividends on vast issues of stock which represent no investment. It may be that the British Empire corporation is to be the white sheep in a very black flock, but its parentage dos not promise much in that way. The Canada Steamship Lines is the concern which a member of Parliament described the other day as having begun business in 1913 with a capital of six millions and made profits of seven millions last year while claiming to have in the meantime accumulated assets worth fifty millions. It is a safe enough guess that the proprietors of that particular gold mine are not putting it into the merger unless they see a prospect of cornering the national wealth supply even faster than they have been able to do it while going on their own.

ANSWERS

This department does ont pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Bulletin to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling or of concern only to the questioner.

To receive attention, every inquiry must bear the name and address of the questioner. This information is not wanted for publication, but as an evidence of good faith. Address your enquiries to Terchus, Editorial Dept., The Bulletin, Edmonton, Mothers who lost sons in the war are receiving silver crosses as a token of the sacrifice. I have not received one, although I am entitled. What procedure should I follow?—St. Albert.

These silver crosses are being given through the Director of Records, Militia Department, Ottawa. The cross is a distinction authorized by the imperial government and from available information, it is thought that not more than three or four hundred have as yet been issued to Canadian mothers. The crosses are coming through very slow and for this reason, I do not think you should entertain any fear about being neglected. You will receive your cross in due time, no doubt. If you are anxious I would advise you to write to the Director of Records, as stated above.

What is the meaning of the word "Calisthenics?"—Tofield.

"Calisthenics" is the art of exercising the muscles and limbs in order to increase their strength and improve the grace of form and movement.

Please publish a short biography of Lloyd George.

Lloyd George born at Manchester 1863. In his early days in the house of commons, was a radical militant nonconformist. He was a most active critic of the Conservative government; was against the South African War. Was mobbed at Birmingham. 1905 became president of the board of trade; 1908 became chancellor of the exchequer; 1909 opposed the house of lords on the budget. He carried the Old Age Pension Act. By heart he is a democrat. He never forgets he is a son of the people. As a public speaker he has the sweeping power of a great tornado. He convinces and secures a following. He will be known in the future as Britain's premier during the Great War. His friends are still looking to him to re-organize the forces of peace.

If the rates in a hotel are $1.50 a day, then if three fellows share one room can the hotel keeper charge them the same as if they all had separate rooms, thus making $4.50 a day on one room? Does the law in Canada protect a person in such a case?

Yes, each must pay. Some hotels allow a discount, but are not forced to do so.

Are cousins allowed to marry? Can the law undo such a marriage? When a person has two Christian names is it legal to use only one of them in the marriage ceremony?

Yes. Law cannot undo the marriage. One of them will do.

Are divorce courts open in Canada all the year round?

Open all the year round except on the legal holidays in the summer.

The genesis of public ownership is elief that at least equally efficient service at no greater cost can be obtained by this plan, but if public ownership results in taking the many for the advantage of the few it is obviously radically wrong. LABOR AND THE TARIFF

The significance of the action of the delegates of the Independent Labor Party in voting almost unanimously for "the gradual elimination of import duties on all necessaries of life, such as food clothing, including boots and shoes, and the tools and machinery used in production, the revenue derived from these sources to be raised by taxation of land values and luxuries," is all the greater because of the circumstances under which the resolution was adopted. The chairman of the convention. Hon. Walter Rollo, who is Minister of Labor in the Ontario Cabinet, and sits for Hamilton, one of the chief industrial centres of the province, strongly opposed the resolution. "Let us quit dreaming," he advised the delegates. "The Independent Labor Party is out to win seats in elections. Not one of our candidates could run on a free platform and have a chance to win a single seat in Ontario."

In the face of this statement, which featured the bogey of free trade, only one delegate stood up to vote against the tariff reform plank in the Labor platform. President Rollo voted with him, so that the solitary opponent of lower duties might not feel entirely out of the picture.

WHERE THE SHOE PINCHES

Saskatoon Phoenix:

The president of the National Association of Manufacturers of the United States says that the association is strongly in favor of a tax on sales in place of the excess profits tax because a tax on sales would make it possible for the consumer to know just exactly what taxes he was paying, whereas he could not be sure under the excess profits tax. Funny, isn't it, how extremely solicitous big business has become on behalf of the consumer taxpayer? When advocates of direct taxation say that tariff taxes should be abolished because the consumer who pays them does not know how much taxation he pays the argument makes no appeal to manufacturers. They know the consumer pays and they are content to let him. They also know that the excess profits tax is paid by those upon whom it is imposed and not by the consumer; the manufacturers know they pay, hence their desire to have it shoved on to the consumer.

B.C. ALSO HAS CLAIM

Victoria Times:

According to a dispatch from the national capital it is the intention of the Dominion Government to transfer to Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba their natural resources as soon as terms fair and equitable to all the other Provinces of the Dominion can be arranged. In the light of this announcement—although the position of British Columbia is somewhat different—it might be suggested that the Ottawa authorities permit a discussion with representatives of this Province on the question of reversion of the Peace River block and the railway belt. A resolution introduced by the Minister of Lands and passed by the local Legislature at its recent session drew attention to this particular matter and its terms urged the Ottawa Government to return the lands in question to provincial jurisdiction. The conference of provincial Premiers held at the national capital in the latter part of 1918 dealt with the subject in a tentative fashion following the opinion expressed by the Federal Ministers that it was a proper one for review. Since that time, however, no further move had been instituted by this Province until the passage of the resolution by the Legislature recently. If the whole question is to be reviewed in respect of the Prairies, therefore, British Columbia's position might very well be taken into account, if only for the saving in cost of administration that would result as a consequence of transference of the lands in question to the Province.

The Man Who Wins

If you think you are beaten, you are,
If you think that you dare not, you don't.
If you'd like to win, but you think you can't,
It's almost a "cinch" you won't,
If you think you'll lose, you've lost,
For out in the world you find Success begins with a fellow's will,
It's all in the state of mind.

Full many a race is lost
Ere even a step is run,
And many a coward fails
Ere even his work's begun.
Think big, and your deeds will grow,
Think small, and you'll fall behind,
Think that you can, and you will,
It's all in the state of mind.

If you think you're outclassed, you are,
You've got to think high to rise,
You've got to be sure of yourself before
You can ever win a prize,
Life's battles don't always go
To the stronger or faster man.
But soon or late the man who wins
Is the fellow who thinks he can.

Practical Man

She (sweetly)—What would life be without me, dearest?

He—Much less expensive.

The Expert.

Wife—John, I saw in the paper that a nautical mile is a seventh more than a land mile. Why is that, I wonder?

Husband—Well—er—you know my dear, that things swell in the water.—Pearson's Weekly.

Likely.

"So long as there are street cars here,"
Said Wise Old Mr. Hobblem,
"I think we'll have, from year to year
The same old street car problem."

Of Course

The young wife entered the greengrocer's shop with a frown on her pretty face.

"These tomatoes," she said, "are just twice as dear as those across the street. Why is it?"

"Ah, ma'am," said the shopman politely, "these are hand-picked."

The young lady blushed at her own ignorance.

"Of course," she said, hastily. "I might have known. Give me three pounds, please."

A Good Boy

Teacher: "How is it you were not at school yesterday, Johnny?"

Johnny: "Please, sir, when I was coming to school I saw a steam roller."

Teacher: "Well, what about it?"

Johnny: "A man touched me on the shoulder and said: 'Mind that steamroller, boy,' and I stood minding it all the afternoon."

Positively Ruined

An old couple from the country wandered into a moving picture show in town. As they entered a cowboy picture was being shown.

The old lady laid a restraining hand on her husband's arm.

"Bill," she said, "let's not go too far down in front; the dust those horses are kickin' up is somethin' awful. My clothes'll be ruined!"

An Eye-opener.

A woman whose husband, a soldier, was stationed abroad, went to register her new baby. After answering all the necessary questions, she put down five shillings. "There is no charge," said the register. "What?" answered the mother, and after thinking, murmured: "Wait till he comes home. It has cost me five shillings every time he has registered our six children."

Wanted to Know.

Little daughter was certainly glad to have her father back home after he had been in France for two years, working all the way from eight to twenty-four hours in a hospital, rendering valuable aid to the injured while hearing the hum of German "air cooties" overhead. Daddy noticed daughter giving him the once over several times. Finally she seemed to have resolved the thing in her own mind. She was worried because daddy did not have any medals pinned to his coat. "Daddy," she lisped, "why didn't you fight in a war where they had medals?"

BRITISH TROOPS TO SUPPORT ARMY OF TURK SULTAN

This Is Believed to Be Plan in Movement Against the Nationalists

ARMENIAN PROBLEM

Lloyd George Maintains That United States Only Power To Preserve Order

Constantinople, April 28—British troops, it is believed, plan to support the sultan's forces in the movement against Turkish nationalists in Asia Minor, and even join in an aggressive offensive against Mustapha Kemal. Lieutenant-General Sir G. F. Milne, commander of British forces here, has gone to Ismid on an inspection tour, and elaborate preparations are being made by the British along the Anatolian coast of the sea of Marmora, where they have occupied Mudania, the port of Brusa.

The occupation of Mudania was effected with East Indian troops and it is expected the British will soon take over Brusa, which is a prominent nationalist centre. The "underground route" from Constantinople to Anatolia has been through the Marmora ports, which the British now apparently intend to control.

Fragmentary reports of the San Remo council session have been printed in the Constantinople papers. The messages were heavily censored. The nationalists expect that the actual delivery of the completed peace terms with Turkey will help their cause.

Armenian Boundaries.

London, April 30—In the course of a general debate Thursday, Mr. Lloyd George maintained that any attempt to ordain a great Armenian kingdom, extending from the Mediterranean sea to the Black sea, would only provoke further disturbance. Such an achievement could only be maintained by the might of a great power like the United States.

The premier said he was confident President Wilson would arbitrate the boundaries with great fairness and judgment.

Germans Holding Ships

Berlin, April 30—The allies reparations commission has replied to Germany's recent request that Germany be allowed to retain to her own use, a certain number of ships due for delivery to the allies under the peace treaty.

The reply said that, although it has been three months since the treaty became effective, not a single vessel has been delivered and that the commissioners cannot possibly consider further proposals until a satisfactory quantity of tonnage is surrendered. It also recalled that charter money is payable by Germany from the dates the ships are due to the date of their delivery.

The German government, in replying pleads having encountered the greatest difficulty in making delivery of the vessels. One vessel, it says, was sent to the Firth of Forth two days ago and a large number of vessels are ready to sail and hope to depart in a few days.

"The reparations commission," the reply continues, "will thus see that good will to fulfill the obligations are not lacking on Germany's part. But the nation confidently asks that it shall not be completely ruined economically by being deprived of its last ships."

Another memorandum supporting this request will be sent to the reparations commission at an early date.

Those who have found relief are the people who want all sufferers to know what they gained from their experience.

Mrs. B. Walters, of Savona, B.C., writes, praising Gin Pills for the immediate relief given by these splendid Pills. Mrs. Walters says:—

"I advise people who have not used Gin Pills to try them. I have been troubled for years with weak kidneys, and one box of Gin Pills cured me. I recommend them as an absolute and reliable cure."

Derangement of kidneys or bladder is so very serious that, at the first sign of pain in side or back, treatment with Gin Pills should begin. The duty of the kidneys is to cleanse the blood. If weak or inactive, uric acid and other poisons and waste are carried to the joints and muscles, causing inflammation, rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, constant headaches, dizziness, floating specks before the eyes, gravel or stone in the bladder, general debility and lassitude. INTERNATIONAL COMMISSION TO TALK IRRIGATION

Ottawa, April 30 — (Canadian Press.)—The international joint commission will meet in Ottawa on Monday for discussion of matters vitally affecting the irrigation sections of Alberta and Montana. The treaty of 1909, affecting the distributing of waters of the St. Mary's and Milk Rivers, which flow through both Montana and Alberta, will be re-argued here, in view of the changes in the personnel of the commission since former arguments at St. Paul in 1915 and Detroit in 1917.

Sir William Hearst has succeeded Mr. Justice Mignault as a member of the Canadian section, and Senator Clark took the place of the late Mr. Tawney on the American section.

The division of the waters of these two rivers was arranged between Canada and United States in 1909. Both rivers arise in Montana, and flow across to Alberta. The Milk returns while the St. Mary's empties into the Saskatchewan. In the treaty they are regarded as one river and irrigation development is based on such treatment.

A dispute has arisen, however, as to the treatment of the tributaries. Canada urges that these should be measured as against the total flow of water regardless of their location, while Montana takes the opposite stand. Practically all the tributaries are in the latter state.

It is expected that Ex-Senator Turner will represent Montana and W. N. Tilley will appear for the Canadian Pacific railway, which is interested in a large irrigation scheme. Colonel C. McInnes, Toronto, will appear for the dominion and also for Alberta and Saskatchewan.

BONNER STARTED BATTING RALLY WITH HOME RUN IN EIGHTH AND ESKIMOS WON

Edmonton Team Takes Second Straight Game from Spokane by Heavy Hitting—Errors Were Frequent—Chilton, Bonner and Woldamant on Infield

(Special to The Bulletin.)

SPOKANE, Wn., April 30:—After Al Bonner had opened the eighth inning with a home run over the left field fence, the Edmonton team staged a batting rally at Natatorium park yesterday and on a single double and triple followed by a long sacrifice fly put over three more runs snatching victory from the Spokane Indians for the second time, 9 to 8. The Siwashes had apparently sewed up the game by scoring four tallies in the fourth and a couple more in the sixth, but Bonner's circuit clout was a signal to his team mates to lay on the offerings of Lambert and when the smoke of battle cleared way the Canadians were in the lead. The game was a swatfest, both teams clouting the pill with a vengence.

Erratic Fielding.

The fielding was erratic and several of the errors of both infields figured in the scoring. Edmonton was the first to score, Nelson making the trip around the bags on a fielders choice, a stolen base and reached home on Pauls error. Spokane put over two in their half of the second on a hit, a sacrifice, two errors and Mitchell's trip to first when hit by Vallentine. Edmonton next score came in the third and three Canadians crossed the plate in quick succession, a base on balls, an error and three heavy singles being responsible. Another was added in the next frame when Chilton singled and scored on Eagleson's three bagger. Two free passes, two errors and two hits netted the Spokane runs in the fourth. Three hits, a base on balls, and an error, gave the Spokane team four scores in the fourth and they added two more in the sixth on two passes, two errors, and two hits. Bonner opened the eventful eighth with his homer. Chilton followed with a single, Waldomont doubled, and Eagleson sent out his second three base smash of the afternoon. He romped home a moment later when Schultz filed out to center field. Ritchie was retired and the scoring was over. The Edmonton team leaves tomorrow morning for home.

EDMONTON GUN CLUB GETTING THINGS IN SHAPE

Since the roads approaching the club grounds are drying, a number of the members intend putting in a half day's work cleaning up the litter that has accumulated around the club house and generally getting the premises in shape for the season activities. Permission to cut brush has been given and it is expected that each man will do his share in improving the sky line. A little work now will do much to "tidy-up" and it being clean-up week, the members should be in condition to stand some real hard work.

MAGILL DRISCOLL PARTNERSHIP HAS BEEN DISSOLVED

From today Edmonton's leading emporium of sporting goods will be under the sole control and management of that well-known and sterling sportsman Joe Driscoll. The McGill-Driscoll partnership has been dissolved Hugh McGill leaving the firm for another business.

However, this business will carry on as usual under the management of Joe Driscoll, who, for years, has been one of Edmonton's best sport boosters, and has done as much if not more than any other single citizen outside of the athletes and managers themselves, in aiding and abetting teams in bringing championships to Edmonton.

There is scarcely a line of sport in which Joe is not a leading booster. Joe says that sport this year is going to be bigger and better than ever.

OPENING AT CALGARY IS POSTPONED

Weather Has Been Such That the Plant Is Not Completed for Monday

CALGARY, April 30.—Owing to the inclement weather which has held up the construction of Calgary's new pro-baseball park, the opening game of the Western Canada league here between Edmonton Eskimos and the Calgary Bronks will not be played until Wednesday, May 5.

Such is the situation in Calgary. In addition to the inclement weather which held up the construction of the plant a snowstorm of large size and extensive duration also assisted in putting the park in no condition for a ball game. The result is that the Calgary team will play one game on Wednesday next week, and then move to Edmonton to open the season here.

Andrews the expected short stop from Los Angeles, will not be able to report to the Edmonton team for some time. The third baseman of the Los Angeles Pacific coast league team broke his leg yesterday and the Edmonton player is required to hold down that sack until the regular is well. However, his departure does not as seriously cripple the Edmonton team as might be expected by the fans. Woldamant who was signed on as a catcher is also a third baseman. In fact he played third base for some years before he took to the receiving part of the game. He should be able to handle third in a satisfactory manner, and Starkey will be able to continue at short, a position for which he is better suited than third. The accident to the Los Angeles team is not as serious to Edmonton as might have been thought. Gleichman reports to Standridge today.

Deacon has a chance to secure a first-class southpaw pitcher from one of the Pacific coast league teams. The man in question is a thoroughly experienced pitcher, and may be taken on the strength.

ESKIMO LACROSSE CLUB REORGANIZED FOR YEAR AT PROGRESSIVE MEETING

Wes McClung President and Barney Stanley Is Unanimous Choice for Manager, But Barney Has Not Yet Accepted the Job—Provincial Meeting Next Friday

The Edmonton Eskimo lacrosse club was reorganized at an enthusiastic meeting of lacrosse men held in the Caxton club rooms last night. The meeting was encouraged by the display of new material available for the team this season.

The following officers were elected:
Patrons: Hon. C. W. Cross, James Ramsey, and Alex. Livingstone.
Hon. Pres., Mayor Clarke.
President: Wes. McClung.
1st Vice Pres.: Joe Driscoll.
2nd Vice Pres.: Dr. McCormack.
3rd Vice Pres.: R. Bessie.
Sec.-Treas.: Dave Airth.
Executive: Joe Moir, A. Young, and of the Western Canada league circuit, Tim Dunn.

Getting a Manager

When it came to electing a manager a difficulty was encountered. The meeting was unanimous that Barney Stanley was the only man for the job and offered him all kinds of assistant managers, captains, executives, etc., to be the pilot, but Barney felt that he owed it to his firm, the Edmonton City Dairy, to consult them before he took it, because the game might take some of his time, which belonged to the firm. However, the duties of manager of the lacrosse team will be light, the season being short, and the number of games small—only three trips away from home being called for—so that there is little doubt but that the Eskimos will be led to at least a provincial championship by the popular leader of the Eskimo hockey team.

The meeting to reorganize the Alberta Lacrosse Association will be held in Calgary on Friday, May 7th and Tim Dunn is the delegate from the Eskimo club. Joe Moir will attend as representative of the Dominion Lacrosse Association. Membership tickets will be sold to every lover of lacrosse in the city and will entitle the holders to a voice in the club

EDMONTON SOCCER SEASON OPENS THIS EVENING WITH SWIFTS AND VETS PLAYING

Two Leading Teams of Last Season Open the Football Season in a Game at South Side Grounds at Six o'Clock This Evening—Both Teams Are Strong

The 1920 football season will begin today. At 6 o'clock this evening, Swifts, the champions of last year, will lock upwith the Great War Veterans, who were the runners up. The game will be played on the South Side grounds, and fans are assured of a good car service. The grounds are in excellent shape, for a very fast game, and a large crowd is expected to see the game.

Both Teams at Full Strength

Owing to the many practices which have been held during the past few weeks, in spite of the cold and unsuitable weather, the pace to be set in the game will be a scorcher. Two points at the beginning of the season, are valuable to all teams, and the contestants this evening will be out from start to finish to make the grade for their team. The teams will be at full strength, and as the weather looks like being on its best behaviour, there is every likelihood that one of the biggest crowds of the season will be at the South Side grounds this evening.

The Vets

The captain of the Vets team says that with the line up which will probably take the field, he has every confidence of seeing the Vets away to a good start by the annexation of two points. He says that the Swifts have always been a hard nut to crack but thinks that with the players at the disposal of the Veterans this year, that tonight should see revenge for the draft which the Swifts handed them last year, and lost them the league.

Swifts

At the Packing Plant, little is being said about the event, except that with every player in fine shape, the team should make a great showing. They see no reason, why the result of last years second league game should not be repeated, and that is the spirit in which the players will take the field this evening.

Probable Teams

No selection will be made of the two elevens until the players arrive at the field. All the players of both teams are requested to be on hand in good time, so that the game will start sharp on time at six o'clock. Vets team from, J. Crozier, K. Crosier, Kinsman, Murdock, Guthrie, Bradford, Dingley, Lammie, Campbell Rankine, Brown, Sonnen, Ockenden; Swifts team from, J. Hunter, Griffiths Biggs, McCurdy, Robson, Bryant, Gordon, Thomson, Kirby, and others.

SOCCER GOSSIP

J. K. MATHESON

President Jim Caldwell was in the chair at the meeting of the City Referees at the Y.M.C.A. last night. There was a good attendance. The folowing schedule of referees for the games for next week was drawn up: May 1, Seniors Vets vs. Swifts, J. Caldwell; May 4, South Side vs. Shamrocks, J. K. Matheson; May 6th, Radials vs. Sons of England, S. Evans; May 8, Vets vs. South Side, W. Mackenzie; Intermediates: May 3rd, Radials vs. Great War Veterans, W. Wren; May 5, Shamrock vs. Calvin, W. A. Street; May 7th, Hudson's Bay vs. Firemen, W. Wren. It is on the cards that the game on May 7th for the intermediates and on May 8th for the seniors may be interchanged owing to the fact that the Hudson's Bay pageant is on from May 6th to 8th.

It was decided that all referees who have not previously refereed in Edmonton should do so for a game or two in the intermediate league before being allowed to referee in senior games. It will however, be necessary for every referee to take his chance of all games. The time for the starting of the games every evening except Saturday for a week or two will be six thirty. The Saturday game will start at 6 o'clock. This is stated on the authority of President Small of the league.

This afternoon at five o'clock, Calvin and Firemen play a practice match at Gallagher Flats starting sharp at five o'clock in order that the game may be finished in time for the players and spectators to witness the big tie between Vets and Swifts at 6 o'clock. The following players are requested to be on hand in good time, for Calvin: A. Clift. R. Clift. K. Campbell, J. Piper A. Piper, F. Blyth, J. Clark, J. Langlands, G. Langlands, J. Main, H. Woolridge, J. Crowle, F. Bavis; Firemen want the following to be out: Reid, Steele, Bruce, Arnold, Brunson, Kinney, Robertson, McKay, Button, Springer, Mueller, Stanley.

President Blackburn of the Alberta Football association wishes to resucitate the Peoples Shield competition, and play for it by process of elimination contests. President Small of the city league has received a letter to this effect. Much as we are all in favor of doing everything to foster football, we think that as the Peoples Shield competition was barred by the D.F.A. some years ago, and as the shield is now held by a team on Vancouver Island who claim sole ownership ,and further as the promoters of the original competition so far as Canada is concerned, were mixed up a few years ago in an attempt to throw out of office the D.F.A. by means of running professional leagues in Ontario and Quebec, we think that on full consideration it were better for Alberta to keep clear of the Peoples Shield competition. We think however, that President Blackburn is entirely on the right track in promoting competitions on the cup tie system and would suggest that if a western championship was arranged for this season on this basis, it would be an excellent thing. Whether there would be any trophy is another matter, but it should not be difficult to get a trophy put up for competition by some enthusiastic football supporter.

Referees and players should peruse as many old country papers of recent date as possible. During the latter of the season just ending in the old country ,the various football associations have been dealing most drastically with all infringements, alike on the part of players, referees and spectators. It was only one week before their big final tie with Aston Villa that Huddersfield lost their outside left, Smith, who was suspended by the football association for two months, for an irregularity which in bygone days would have been considered very slight. The habit of some players and spectators in using bad language, is also being severely dealt with ,and the whole trend of the action of the associations seems to lead to the conculsion that football can be played and played well, and enjoyed by the crowd, without any of the objectionable rough play ,and bad language. The example set by the highest football authorities in the world may well be followed by all others, and while in Edmonton we have been fortunate in having players and spectators, who, generally speaking are gentlemen both on and off the field, it will be as well, if referees begin where they mean to end and they will then surely be supported by the league in their endeavors to keep the game clean.

Speaking to President Small of the league last night, he informed me that he was again to take over the supervisorship of parks this year, in so far as alloting them for the different sports is concerned. He was signally successful last year in his efforts in this direction ,and although his task is going to be heavier this year, he may have one or two more grounds to work on, and this will help out. I discussed with him the fine football grounds at the High School, which is only about five minutes walk from Jasper, and suggested that they might be used for a few of the football games, until our own field is ready. There will only be a hat passed at the South Side grounds, and the same can always be done at the High School grounds. We believe that there would be greater crowds at the latter place, and both grounds could have their turn. In addition it may be possible, on application to obtain the use of two rooms at the armories, on playing nights for stripping purposes and perhaps the use of the showers after the games. The armories are right next door, and the combination seems to suggest to me that the High School grounds are absolutely ideal football grounds. It might also be the subject for an application to the school board later on for a fence to be built round this ground. The fence would not make the ground any more inaccessible to those who presently use it but would give an opportunity to those teams playing in competitions to make a charge in order to break even.

BRITISH TEAM NOT NOTIFIED OF RELAY RACE

Bradley of Kansas Won Penthalon—New Record Made in 440-yard Hurdle

FRANKLIN FIELD, Philadelphia, Pa., April 30.—The sky was overcast and a stiff wind blew across the field when the opening event of the University of Pennsylvania's 26th annual relay games started here this afternoon. The track was hard, dry and fast, and conditions were favorable for record-breaking in the running events. The meet opened with the broad jump in the Penthalon contest, in which each entrant was required to throw the javelin, and discuss and run 200 and 1,500 metres, in addition to the broad jump. The contestants scored in accordance with the order of finish, the athlete making the lowest score in five events winning.

The broad jump (Penthalon) was won by William Young, Redlands university, distance 22 feet 3¼ inches.

Throwing 56-pound weight, won by Dandrow, Massachusetts, T.I. distance 29 feet ¾ inches.

440-yard hurdle race, won by J. M. Watt, Cornell, time 54 1-5 seconds, new world's record, displacing record made by Harry Hillman, New York, A.C., in 1904. G. B. Drudd, of Oxford university, did not compete.

American college championship, distance medley race (first man ran quarter mile, next half, third, three-quarters, fourth, one mile) won by Pennsylvania State, time 10:27 1-5. The Pennsylvania-Chicago and Oxford-Cambridge teams were not notified that the distance medley race, won by Penn. State was about to be started, and they did not leave their dressing rooms in time to participate. When the error was discovered it was decided that the three college teams which had been entered in this race should run a special race over the same distance and under the same conditions. At this time it was pouring and the track was covered with water. Most of the spectators had left the field. Later it was decided that the race would not be run owing to the weather and track conditions.

220 metres (Penthalon) won by Bartels, Pennsylvania, distance 162 feet, 8 inches.

American college championship spring medley relay race (first anr second man each ran 220 yards, third man 440, fourth 880) won by Pennsylvania State (Davis Landers, Maxam, Eby) time 3:29.

Inter-scholastic medley relay championship of America (first ran 440 yards, second 220, third 660 and fourth 880) won by Exter Academy, (Swede, Waterman, Chapman, Pitzoat), time 4:44.

International inter-collegiate three-mile race won by G. T. Nightingale, of New Hampshire State college; second, E. A. Montague, Oxford university, time by miles 4:55.

Discus throwing (Penthalon) won by Cann, New York university, distance 122 feet 3 inches.

The Penthalon was won by E. Bradley, of Kansas, with 13 points; Bartels, Pennsylvania was second, with 15; Hamilton, Missouri, third.

1,500 meters (Penthalon) won by Young, time 5:17 1-5.

Y.M. BOYS WON BASKETBALL FROM VARSITY

Intermediate Championship of City Was Decided in Close Game Last Night

Last night at the Y.M.C.A. the Intermediate championship title of Edmonton was decided in favor of the Y.M.C.A. 45 to 42.

Last week Varsity beat Victoria High and the Young Men's team of the "Y" House League beat the Post Office, winners of the Commercial league.

The game last night was the final between Varsity and the "Y" and was a fast interesting game till the final whistle.

In the first half the "Y" ran away with Varsity, the score at the interval being 27 to 18, but in the second half Varsity took a brace and scored 24 points to their opponents' 18, the final score being 45 to 42 in favor of the "Y."

Some Good Players

For the winners all played well; Spencer was particularly deadly when shooting while Campbell on defence simply smothered his check.

For Varsity, McDonald starred, he scoring 18 points for his team, while Muir, with 14, and McAllister with 8, were towers of strength.

This result gives the Y.M.C.A. both the Senior and Intermediate titles for the city and the Senior title for the province, a record the "Y" baskettossers have every reason to be proud of. Points were scored as follows:

"Y": McIntyre, c., 6; Richardson, r.f., 5; Sparling, l.f., 14; Campbell, r.g. 0; Spencer, l.g., 20.

Varsity: Muir, c., 14; McDonald r.f. 18; McLeod, l.f., 2; Tesky, r.g., 0; McAllister, l.g., 8.

Referee, N. Stephens. Judge of Play, Wes. Pattison.

THE BEST MEDICINE FOR LITTLE ONES

Thousands of mothers state positively that Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine they know of for little ones. Their experience has taught them that the Tablets always do just what is claimed for them and that they can be given with perfect safety to children of all ages. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Display of Dancing By Pupils of Mrs. and Miss Lottie Boucher

The third annual display by the pupils of Mrs. and Miss Lotta Boucher will be given in the Empire theatre on Saturday evening, May 1, at 8.30, under the distinguished patronage of His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Brett, Premier Stewart, Bishop H. A. Gray, Mayor Jos. A. Clarke, Mrs. H. M. E. Evans and Mrs. G. H. Malcolmson. The entire net proceeds to go to aid All Saints' building fund. Mr. G. F. Hart's orchestra will have charge of the music and the program will include recitations by Miss Lois Osburn, and vocal items by Miss Roxyna Phillips, accompanied by Miss Florence McCleery. Several entirely new features will be introduced, notably the "Maids of Lee," and the "Dance of the Hours," while the popular "Canadian Dance," composed by Miss Boucher for last year's display, will be performed. Miss Boucher will appear in the "Dance of Miriam," and "Twilight" the costumes for both being designed by Mrs. Nellie Dalzell.

Mrs. and Miss Boucher make it a rule that no pupils shall appear in any dance performed by them at any previous display, in order that the display may reflect the work of the season and give parents the opportunity to mark the progress made. As ballet dancing, nature dances and interpretative dances will be introduced it will be interesting to see what can be accomplished by children in a season under capable tuition.

Age of Opportunities for Women, Declares Rev. Dr. Bickersteth

Rev. Canon Bickersteth's address to the Women's Canadian Club, on Friday, clearly defined the opportunities of women in what he terms the age of Women's Movements or the Women's Century. After thanking the ladies heartily for the welcome extended to himself and wife, and congratulating them on the organization of such a club, and the spirit of it, he said that at Leeds England, he had tried to establish a club on some such lines, but owing to various difficulties he had been unsuccessful. However, Mr. Bickersteth had succeeded in organizing a supper club with the aims and ideals of something like the Women's Canadian club. This club, he stated, had been instrumental in assembling around the supper table some of the great ladies of the city those whose husbands were holding very important positions, as well as those of great social distinction, but perhaps the most interesting of these personages who met there were some of the people connected with the great labor movement, as well as women.

In speaking of this as the century of women's movements, he said that, while women's influence has not been inconsiderable through all ages this is the first time in the old world, as well as the new, that women are exerting a large influence in public. Hitherto her influence has not been visible, although potent.

Influence Remarkable in India

In support of this, India is cited as the country where women's influence is remarkable although the only woman, seemingly, in the Indian household, who exerts a wide influence is the old woman, it may be a grandmother or great-grandmother, and her sway is acknowledged by everyone in the compound, and the men are also under her domination. The most difficult thing to be reckoned with in the advancement of the women of India is the fact that they are never seen. They are allowed only to meet women of the white race, and it is a very great concession for them to have tea or dine with a woman of another race or caste.

The real problem of India is the women, and one is surprised to find they live happier lives than it is generally supposed, when taking into consideration the fact the seeming cruelties of the fate of many of the girls who are married at the age of 12 years. If their husbands happen to die while they are finishing their education, the girl can never marry; she is treated as a widow, however, and often drifts out into a questionable life.

He reiterated that the women of the compounds seem happy and exert an enormous influence over the lives of the men.

Women Must Act

The same is true in China; there is very little hope of influencing the men to progress and new ideas if you cannot get the women prepared to take up new thoughts and aims. In the matter of liberty and religion it is the influence of the women that keep the men back from being able to act upon their own judgment, or their conscience, although they may be converted to the new ideas of progress. However, this is the century when women have stepped out into the open, where they will enter into the universal service, politically and socially, for the first time in history.

Speaking of what is desired of these women, Dr. Bickersteth sums up the matter in the few words and that is that women should enter into new responsibilities and duties with an intelligent understanding of matters and things. He eulogized the work being done in oriental countries by the Roman Catholic Sisters, and commented on the translation of Chinese, Japanese, and Indian into the English seen on signs they display in public places, many of which were unique in their interpretation.

Dr. Bickersteth asked the women that in the use of their privileges, and influence, they make plain in the women's movements, what they stand for. Women should make the meaning of their aims clear and lucid. They should state plainly what they do or do not stand for, what the relationship is which women are to fulfill in the world, and how they are to live up to that relationship.

In speaking of the loss of 800 000 men in the late war, Dr. Bickersteth made clear that many women would never marry, and have homes, hence, if they felt so disposed there was a great work in the Orient for English teachers, and medical missionaries. The cry in Japan, India, and China, is for people to be sent out to teach, and for medical work. In 6,000 miles' travel in India, school after school was visited and the cry is for more teachers to be sent out. With splendid universities in which women may now take degrees in medicine, as well as other departments, the opportunity is large for doing good in both India and China. In speaking of the field for the married woman also, Dr. Bickersteth emphasized the work of the mother, and her influence over her children, and warned against the mistake of the Oriental mother in spoiling her boys. Spoiling the children in the home should be regarded as a thing to be avoided.

Great Opportunity of Women

The opportunity of the Women's Movement is to exert their influence in the home to make the wife's position exactly what you want it to be. He divided the women in the home into these classes: the echo (the silent one), (the slave), the dominant, and the co-operative; and defined their attitude. Of these, the co-operative wife, the one who would go hand in hand with the man, is the woman whose influence will be most felt in the world. This is the ideal the western world should bring to the lives of the women of the east.

Further, in warning against the spoiling of the children, he stated that the old manner of keeping Sunday was stiff and out of date for these days. While children brought up under the old regime were not unhappy, yet parents should be prepared to say what games children may indulge in Sundays, while not prohibiting games on that day. To exercise a disciplinary force in directing the children, and in learning what their children want, to get a more perfect understanding of their needs, is necessary.

In exerting an influence in the east, the races there will copy more or less, the ways of the English-speaking races, he said; and this influence is to be taken into consideration. In this connection he remarked on women smoking. While not prepared to make any comment on this directly, it is one of the examples that the women of the English-speaking races are putting before the women of the east.

In speaking of religion and science, he also warned against too much scientific dogma, as there are many places where science stops and where faith and sympathy must carry on and sentiment guide.

An Idealistic Age

In speaking of Canada, he stated this is an idealistic age. Canadians of the west are living in an idealistic atmosphere, and he eulogized the vision of a people who build such splendid universities as that of Alberta. If the women fail to bring out the pathetic side of life and the spirit of Christian sympathy, there can be little hope for the future of the country or for the human race.

Bishop Gray followed Rev. Canon Bickersteth, it being the first time the Bishop has attended the Women's Canadian club. In endorsing the words of Canon Bickersteth, he stated that he had been telling the same thing to mothers in Edmonton regarding their children for the past twenty years. Ten of these years, he said: "I have been dealing with the so-called bad element, and the root of 75 per cent of the trouble is with the mothers and fathers. It is more than cruel to leave the development of the child's mind in its own ignorance. Many times my heart has been wrung when I have had to say to a mother whose son has been sent away for years, 'Mother, this is your fault'."

In speaking further of his experience, the Bishop stated that he has had to deal with almost every nationality of boys. In matters of religion, he has found many parents state, "I will let them choose when they grow up." This is not said in any other matter pertaining to the children in the home. They go to school, they go to a doctor, and every other thing pertaining to their life, is regulated by the mother, but the religious atmosphere is neglected, and the most important thing, spiritual training for individual development, should be under the supervision of the parent.

"Play marbles if you want to, with your children on Sunday, but be sure that a part of the day is given to religious and spiritual things. The necessity of observing Sunday with devotional thoughts is essential to the development of the highest type of citizenship," he said.

At the close of Bishop Gray's address, Mrs. Russell thanked the speakers for their inspiring words.

At the President's (Mrs. J. R. Russell's) table, were Rev. Canon and Mrs. Bickersteth, Right Rev. Bishop Gray, Mrs. G. H. V. Bulyea, Mr. J. B. Bickersteth, of the University, guests of honor, Mrs. Brett, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Tory, Mrs. Harvey Mrs. W. D. Ferris, Mrs. W. A. R. Kerr, Mrs Osborne, Mrs. Duncan Smith, Mrs. Scott Thompson, Mrs. Forbes Reid, Mrs. M. [illegible] Jennings, and Mrs. Fred Robertson.

Just One Application and the Hairs Vanish

(Modes of Today)

A harmless, yet very effective, treatment is here given for the quick removal of hairy growths: Mix enough powdered delatone and water to cover the undesirable hairs, apply paste and after 2 or 3 minutes, remove, wash the skin and the hairs have vanished. One application usually is sufficient, but to be certain of results, buy the delatone in an original package.

Acute Need For "Y" Building to House Many City Business Girls

By W. J. Green

The amount of the fund that the Young Women's Christian association of Edmonton has decided upon as necessary for their new building is $150,000.

This amount was determined by the thirty women directors of the association in consultation with an advisory board of twenty of the leading business men of Edmonton as necessary to adequately provide for the rapidly growing needs of the work among the girls and young women of the city.

Most of the members of the advisory board are employers of young women and they recognize that the Y.W.C.A. helps young women after business hours to become better employees during business hours, by wholesome recreation, physical exercise, and intellectual and spiritual influences uplifting the character.

Reasons for New Building

That a new building is urgently needed at this time is clearly evident for the following reasons.

The present limited facilities are hopelessly over-crowded. Last year with only 37 rooms available and but ten of these for transients a total of 1087 were accommodated but 2076 were turned away because of lack of room. In the proposed new building when it 's completed, there will be single rooms for 183 girls.

The Edmonton Y.W.C.A. has a capable board of directors and an able general secretary with vision, business capability, and qualities of consecrated leadership, who can be safely entrusted with the conduct of larger enterprise. Since 1915, when Miss Bradshaw, the present general secretary, assumed charge, a $15,000 mortgage has been paid, $3,000 of past due accounts wiped out, and other items of indebtedness amounting to over 6,000 have been cleared off, and there is now over $2,000 in the bank to provide for the expenses of the campaign to be conducted May 12 to 21st.

Edmonton as a city, has the ability and we believe the citizens have the inclination, to provide a new building that will be a credit to the city, and to the organization. Over four million dollars was invested in the Victory Loan. Surely, with the opportunity for spreading the payments over a twelve-month period, $150,000 can be secured to invest in this character building institution.

There is a great need for a new building for the "Y" because of the hundreds of business girls who find it difficult to secure rooming accommodation at reasonable rates, and board at prices they can afford to pay. There is no gymnasium or swimming pool for the women and girls of the city, and these would be provided in the new building.

The Task

It is of course recognized that $150,000 is a lot of money ,and that some of our philanthropically disposed citizens will be expected to contribute liberally to this important project and that all of our concerns employing young women, will contribute large subscriptions in the light of a profitable investment. The following subscriptions or their equivalent are necessary:

2	at	$10,000	$20,000
3	at	5,000	15,000
5	at	2,000	10,000
20	at	1,000	20,000
20	at	500	10,000
40	at	250	10,000
25	at	200	5,000
200	at	100	20,000
300	at	50	10,000
400	at	25	10,000
1500	at	10	15,000
1000	at	5	5,000
			$150,000

An Appeal for Co-Operation

The completion of the above task calls for organization and co-operation of the highest order.

Fully 300 business men, young men and young women will be required to give generously of their time during the nine days of the canvass in order to present the claim of the Y.W.C.A. to every last man, woman and child in Edmonton who should be interested in the betterment of our city. During the next few days, captains, and leaders of teams to cover the score of districts into which the city has been divided are asked for as volunteers for this service, and, it is hoped that they will meet with a favorable response to their request for co-operation and help.

The Y.M.C.A. have loaned my services until the campaign is over to give full time to the campaign, and this service is being cheerfully given because we believe that the appeal for the new Y.W.C.A. building is th most worthy appeal since the various war time projects called for our support.

The business men of the city through the board of trade have endorsed the effort as the leading campaign which they will stand behind until it is successfully completed.

Nearly Half a Million Voters

HAVE MARKED THEIR BALLOTS FOR PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES IN THE FIRST THREE WEEKS OF

"The Literary Digest's" Mammoth Poll of 11,000,000 Citizens

THE LITERARY DIGEST is conducting the greatest poll ever taken, outside of a presidential election, to learn whom the American people want for their presidential candidates, and from present indications this poll will register the voice of the people beyond question. Individual ballots have been sent by mail to eleven million voters throughout the United States—almost two-thirds of the total presidential vote cast in the last presidential election. Every ballot is mailed in an envelop, addressed with pen and ink, and delivered through the U.S. Post-Office personally to the voter addressed. Return postage on the ballot is prepaid, and the voter has only to check or write the name of his or her Party and the first and second choices for Presidential Candidates, with no other mark of identification, and then drop this secret ballot into the nearest letter-box or Post-Office. Thus every vote cast is absolutely the free, uninfluenced, secret choice of the voter, unknown to anyone but the voter himself or herself.

The votes which have arrived up to and including the final press-day of the issue of THE DIGEST for May 1st, include 25,000 received in the first week, 125,00 in the second, and considerably over 300,000 in the third. The next two weeks' returns, it may safely be prophesied, will place the poll's total beyond the million mark. The results are being tabulated and shown in THE LITERARY DIGEST week by week.

To the considerable volume of country-wide newspaper comment on THE DIGEST'S poll, the Boston Globe contributes the following observations: When THE LITERARY DIGEST poll is completed every one should have a pretty clear hint as to how the country is going."

IRMA FARMER BY HARD LABOR IS SUCCESSFUL

Thos. Knowles Out of Small Beginning Has Acquired Fine Farm and Herd

Thos. Knowles of Irma, Alta., is one of the hundreds of farmers who like himself, started farming on the virgin prairie on a very modest scale, and who by dint of hard labor and good management, made a go at farming, built up a home and established a good herd of cattle besides. When Mr. Knowles came to Edmonton in 1906 he walked to Chipman, and purchased his first team of oxen. From there he walked to Vegreville and purchased a wagon for $10. With this outfit he treked to the N.W. of 36-45-9, and has stayed there with the farming game ever since. All his operations since he first came to this country have been marked with steady progress, and in all his work he has been rewarded with success. At the present time he has a herd of 50 pure bred Angus cattle, a good farm, and 20 head of grade Percherons.

A Stock Farmer

Mr. Knowles is a stock farmer and not a machine farmer. There is not the slightest trace of a tractor or an automobile on the farm, and all the farm work is done by horse power. The Aberdeen Angus herd is headed by a sire that weighs 2,100 pounds and an animal that is every inch a beef sire. As for feed, Mr. Knowles has had to depend principally upon prairie hay. Alfalfa and tame grass has been tried out with indifferent success, and he says that in the future he will resort to oat green feed and sunflower ensilage, believing that these two feeds are the solution to the fodder crop problem in his district.

Angus Cattle Hardy

From his experience with Angus cattle Mr. Knowles believes that they are one of the hardiest breeds to raise. During the past winter he fed 70 head of cattle on 60 tons of rough feed and did not lose a single animal, and from his experience he concludes that this breed will thrive on one-half as much feed as some other breeds.

Although beef is the order of the day on the Knowles ranch, the dairy cow is not entirely forgotten. At most times Mr. Knowles manages to milk a half dozen cows and ships the cream to the city, feeding the skim milk to the calves. He has also been raising hogs fairly heavily, but like many another farmer has had to abandon the hog business and direct his attentions to more profitable lines.

FIELD WORK IS GENERAL IN PROVINCE

SEEDING APRIL 28TH.

N. W. Harrington, of Bashaw, commenced seeding his 90 0acres of wheat on Wednesday, April 28th, with six teams at work in the fields. This is the first seeding that has been done this year in the district. —Bashaw Star, April 29th.

PLOWING APRIL 20TH.

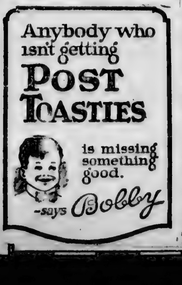
Plowing commenced in the Alliance district on Tuesday, April 20th. On this date John Valens had two four-horse outfits in the field, and James Schofield had one outfit out with the disc.

There is plenty of moisture and with favorable weather, once the seed is in the ground, the growth should be rapid and thus make up for the late seeding.—Ryley Times, April 24th.

PLOWING STARTED.

Activity in agricultural pursuits has begun in the Ryley district. The warm sunshine and light showers of rain the forepart of the week cut down the amount of snow at a very rapid rate, and though only one or two farmers of the district have actually commenced work in the fields, there are other indications that plowing will be general within a few days provided, however, that the weather continues fine.

Perhaps the most encouraging feature in connection with the situation this spring is that there is an abundance of moisture in the land.—yley Times, April 25th.



Anybody who isn't getting POST TOASTIES is missing something good. -says Bobby

It is proposed to hold a school fair at Coronation this fall if sufficient rural districts can take part. These fairs are held under direction of the schools of agriculture. PROFIT MADE FROM THREE COWS IN 1919

C. M. Roy of Strome Made a Net Profit of $257.26 from Three Cows in One Year

C. M. Roy, of Strome, Alta., keeps books and knows by actual figures where his business stands. He has a record of what money he made from three milch cows in the year 1919, under unfavorable conditions so far as pasture was concerned, as the season was very dry and the pasture poor.

Here is the record from three cows for a period of 10 months:

Butter and cream sold,
654 3-4 lbs	$300.76
Butter for home use, 60 lbs.	24.00
	$324.76
Feed chop (10 lbs. per day),
3,000 lbs., at 2 1-4c	67.50
Balance for labor, etc.	$257.26

Some may think the price put on the chop is too small. Mr. Roy explains this: The oats and barley that made up the chop was of very poor quality owing to the early frosts of the fall of 1918, and he thinks he set the right price upon it.

This is not all the story about these three cows. Mr. Roy furnished the milk record. He said nothing on paper about the three fine calves he raised from these same three cows. One of these calves he sold for $15 when cattle were at a low price last fall; one was slaughtered for home consumption, and the other he has in his stables and at a conservative estimate should be worth $35

Mr. Roy's cows are what is known as "grade milch cows" just what the average farmer has on his place, only his are good ones. The care in feeding and milking regularly, and the proper attention given to the milk after it has been taken from the animals until it has been marketed, so it [illegible] the top price, assisted in making this financial record.—Strome [illegible] April 22.

DEEP PLANTING NOT ADVISABLE

Main Stem of the Tree Should Not Be Buried More Than Three Inches

The depth of planting trees is of far more importance than any other factor. Invariably the amateur gardener or horticulturalist plants his trees deep in order to get them well anchored. The idea of having the trees firmly anchored is good as far as it goes, but most trees do not readily adapt themselves to dep planting, and as a result throw out lateral growth from the roots, which rob the main stem of the required nourishment and eventually the trees die. This has been the experience of E. J. Stowe, who is in charge of the gardens at the Government house, and who has made a particular study of tree planting.

In planting trees, Mr. Stowe has found that to obtain the best results they should never be planted more than three inches deeper than they were originally growing in the plantation, or in the forest. He has also found that in planting trees it is very important that the hole dug for the tree is not to large and that clay and hard lumps should never be used in filling the hole after the tre ehas been put into place. A method that has been found to be very satisfactory is to dig the hole and put some manure at the bottom. If the earth that was taken out is hard, baked or contains too much clay, it is advisable to fill it with good loam taken fro maomewhere else. The size of the hole dug is also important. For instance for a tree that is not more than one and ahalf inches in diameter, it is advisable to dig a hole about sixteen inches deep, and under no conditions should it be larger than is necessary for to properly spread out the roots.

Questions and Answers

Questions pertaining to any phase of agriculture will be answered as far as possible through this column. Replies will be secured from farmers and specialists who have made a study of the particular subject in question. All correspondence should be addressed to the Farm Editor.

Question—What is the best time to seed Swede turnip seed; and how can one best avoid the turnip maggot?—Beginner.

Answer—The best time to seed turnips is about the middle of June. The eggs from which the maggots are hatched is laid by an insect similar to the house fly during the first part of June. The best way to avoid the maggot, or rather the fly that lays the eggs, is to sow the turnip seed after the fly has laid it's eggs on some other plants. When the turnip seed is sown early and the fly has an opportunity to lay it's eggs on the turnip plant, we have as a result what is known as the turnip maggot, which feeds upon the turnip until it is ready to pupate. From the latter stage it emerges out into the fly again, which may lay it's eggs on [illegible] plants the next season, and thus continue the life cycle. Up to the present time no means of eradicating this pest has been found.—A. Pike, Edmonton.

McGowan Brothers, Vegreville, Successful Cattlemen

Raising Pure Bred Shorthorns on a Two Thousand Acre Farm

W. R. and C. E. McGowan, the owners and proprietors of Sunset Farm No. 1, located at Killam, and Sunset Farm No. 2, at Vegreville are among Alberta's most successful grain and live stock farmers. They started on a comparatively small scale as grain farmers in the Killam district 16 years ago, and having made a success at grain farming decided eight years ago that there were immense possibilities in the pure bred stock industry in this country, and accordingly purchased a small herd of Shorthorns, consisting of fourteen pure breds. Their little herd increased rapidly and it was not long before their cattle were too numerous to raise profitably in the Killam district which was being rapidly settled up, and as a result they were obliged to seek a new location in order to continue in the stock business. They purchased a 2,000-acre farm adjacent to the town of Vegreville for this purpose, and devoted it almost entirely to stock farming, or strictly speaking, mixed farming. On it are kept over 70 head of pure bred Shorthorns the same number of horses and some hogs and sheep. Sunset Farm No. 1, at Killam, which consists of 678 acres is now used entirely for wheat growing.

Use a Good Sire

In cattle breeding the McGowan Brothers have found that there is only one definite policy to pursue, and that is always to have a good sire at the head of the herd; and from their experience have been led to believe that the sire is 90 per cent. of the herd, and even if the herd is below par, a sire will in three years bring it up to a high standard. At the present time their herd is headed by Lancaster Pride, an outstanding animal of exceptionally good quality and breeding; but that they may further improve their herd they are negotiating to purchase an imported bull of still higher merit. They say that "in the pure bred industry it has been the experience of all breeders that one must either progress or retrogress; and with the former aim in view we are getting better sires with each purchase, and our herd shows it."

Their statement is well borne out by the fact that at the Edmonton spring horse show this year they were successful in carrying off the Shorthorn championship with Sunset Bob 2nd, one of their home raised bulls as well as taking several other minor awards.

Fall Rye For Pasture

Various forms of fodder crops have been tried out on the Sunset Farm, and as yet no great success has been attained, especially with grasses. What has proved to be the cheapest and best pasture is fall rye. This is seeded about August 1 and affords splendid pasture, both in the fall and in the early spring, and if not pastured too close, but prevented from heading out, will give an immense amount of feed the year round. In the winter time the stock are fed principally on oats, which is cut on the green side, and cut up with a cutting box. This is mixed with a little oat and barley chop and has given splendid results. Last winter, however, the stock were fed on oat straw and came through in good shape. The show stock and sale stock in addition to the oat straw received oat and barley chop three times a day and never came through in better shape.

To Try Western Rye Grass

Rye grass has been tested out for the last two years and the results so far have been more or less unsuccessful, no doubt, due to the dry seasons that prevailed. However, the McGowan Bros. are not the kind that become discouraged easily and are this year seeding down about fifty acres of ground that was especially prepared in 1919, with Western Rye grass and hope to meet with better results.

Will Try Ensilage

In the future it is the intention to use ensilage. The owners of Sunset Farm have been studying the merits of the silo and have become convinced of the possibilities of ensilage and propose this summer to erect a silo.

Summerfallow Every Three Years

While the McGowan Bros. have built up a good herd of Shorthorns they by no means neglected grain growing and from their experience in this line have gleaned much useful information. The Killam district where their wheat farm is situated, unlike the Edmonton district and many other districts that are blessed with an abundance of rain, is comparatively dry, and consequently dry farming or moisture conservation is the order of the day. Summerfallow has always been the foundation upon which their agricultural operations have been based. It has been their policy to summerfallow at least once in every three years for they have found that by this method of soil management they not only retain the fertility, but keep the weeds down to a minimum and in case of a dry year are assured of some sort of a crop. They have found that to grow wheat successfully one must summerfallow often and well, and that the more thoroughly this is done the better results can be expected. A practice that they have followed with good results is to grow two crops of wheat, one of oats and barley, and then summerfallow.

Spring Plowing Best

As to the best time to plow, their sixteen years of experience has gone to show that the best results can be obtained from spring plowing. Only in the year of 1914 was the fall plowing equal to spring plowing, and they have concluded that the spring plowing gives better results due to its ability to hold the moisture better and thus insures a more rapid growth.

Packer Conserves Moisture

The packer is an implement that holds a place of prominence on the Sunset Farms. All the land is packed as soon as plowed, thus conserving all the moisture possible, and as soon after as possible after packing, preferably the same day, it is harrowed and seeded. By following this method they have been able to secure yields as high as 38 bushels per acre whereas adjacent fields, on which the packer was not used gave returns that ranged from 18 to 25 bushels per acre, on identically the same kind of land. They have also found that too much cultivation in the spring tends to lessen production, inasmuch as it makes the soil too loose and allows the moisture to evaporate.

Only the best of seed is sown on the Sunset Farms. The grain is first thoroughly tested to determine its germination and is then cleaned twice before it is used for seed. Their motto is "don't sow wild oats—you can get enough without planting them."

The one outstanding feature of the field work on the Sunset Farms is that although there is a large acreage to put in every spring, very little bit of farm work is done by tractors. Practically all the farm work is accomplished by 50 horses. A steam tractor is used for breaking but from the standpoint of profit the horse has proved to be far superior to the mechanical power. The 50 farm horses are not large but rather medium sized, as the owners have found that the best farm horse for all kinds farm work is done by tractors, weighs between 1,400 and 1,500 pounds.

PROTECTING PLANTS FROM CUTWORMS

Local Inventor Has Perfected Device Whereby Cutworms Can Be Successfully Combatted

P. Ockenden, of 10562 104th street, Edmonton, has recently invented, patented, and put on the market, what will no doubt prove to be a boon to most gardeners, in the form of an anti-cut-worm outfit, by which cut-worms can be successfully combatted at a comparatively small cost. The invention, which is illustrated on this page, is being manufactured in Edmonton at the present time and is for sale at all wholesale seed houses under the name of Ockenden & Pike's Anti-Cut-Worm outfit. It is an instrument which places a paper shield around the young plant and thereby absolutely excludes all cut-worms. As it is porous it does not exclude moisture.

Cut-worms are found in practically every garden on the North American continent. In the spring of the year when the tender young plants are transplanted into the garden they are present in great numbers, and often completely destroy the vegetable garden by eating parts, or in some cases biting off the entire plant.

There are methods of combatting the cut-worm other than with the use of this instrument. Poisoning has often been used effectively; tin cans with the top and bottom knocked out and stuck over the plants, will prevent the cut-worm from attacking the plant, but none have been found that will so effectively and cheaply destroy this pest as this newly-invented cut-worm destroyed.

Various tests have been made to make sure that the cut-worm could find no way to enter the paper shield and attack the plant. The cut-worm is a form of caterpiller, and it has been found that it will not burrow more than one inch below the surface and will never climb over any obstacle. The paper shield projects somewhat over one and a-half inch above the ground and it has been found that the cut-worm will never enter the shield by crawling over the top. There are types of caterpillers that will climb the stalks of plants, but these are not the cut-worm.

BREEDING IS IMPORTANT IN BUYING STOCK

Poul Caroe of Dickson Sold First Calf for $335—Made $1515 in Three Years on Investment of $1000 with Shorthorns

Paul Caroe, owner and proprietor of the Dickson farm, Dickson, Alberta, is a native of Denmark, the world's greatest dairy country, who in spite of the fact that he was raised in a country where the dairy cow is the one and all, in the live stock line, was able to see the possibilities in shorthorn breeding in Alberta, and since he started farming in this country has been able to build up a good herd of Scotch shorthorns.

Individuality as Well as Breeding

In 1917 Mr. Caroe purchased three pure bred shorthorn females and one bull. This was his start in shorthorn breeding. Later he acquired a few more, and since then by careful breeding he has been able to build up a fair herd that has stood up well in the show ring. In securing his foundation stock Mr. Caroe decided to have the best or none at all. He says "I insist on my females having the breeding as well as the individuality. All my stock belong to the best Scotch families such as Beauty, Claret, Wimple etc., and I always pay particular attention to the breeding of the top three of ffour crosses which I of course consider to be of far more importance than a far removed female ancestor." That his policy in demanding both breeding and individuality has been right is well exemplified by the prize money his stock has taken in the show ring. The first bull calf raised at the age of eleven months sold at Edmonton in 1919 for $355, one of the best prices received for any animal in his class; and his full brother this year secured second place in his class at the spring show, being beaten by the reserve champion. Mr. Caroe's herd is headed by Baron Wimple 15th by Senator Lavender, out of Baroness Wimple 6th, bred by J. T. Gibson of Denfield, Ontario.

Large Profits

As to the profit that can be made in breeding pure bred shorthorns in Alberta, Mr. Caroe's experience has gone to show that it is easily over fifty per cent. per year. On his initial investment of $1000 in 1917 he has to date received $1,515, and as he bought all young animals they have increased considerably in value since then.

In the past, for feed Mr. Caroe has depended principally upon wild hay, timothy and green feed, all of which can be grown fairly cheaply. He has been studying the merits of the silo for the last year and has become convinced that although most kinds of roughage can be grown cheaply in this district that the silo will increase the stock carrying capacity of his farm, and he expects within the near future to erect one. He also tried out alfalfa for three years, and although indications go to show that this crop can be grown successfully in the district, his results so far have been more or less unsatisfactory.

Timothy Good Hay

Timothy ranks first among cultivated fodder crops. Mr. Caroe has always been able to secure large yields and he has found that if it is cut early enough it will make splendid feed for all classes of live stock. Oat green feed also is an important crop and it has been found that although this crop is more expensive than most other crops to raise, that it is a better feed for young stock, and probably just as profitable to feed, as when it is being fed, the grain ration can be cut down considerably.

In feeding, the practice that Mr. Caroe has found to be fairly successful, is to feed green feed morning and evening with a ration of hay at noon. The hay is usually fed outside as it has been found that the stock seem to do better if kept outside in the day time, even though the weather is cold. During the past winter his bulls were not stabled at all but merely allowed to run into an open shed, and the rest of the stock including the calves were only stabled during the day time, for six or seven days.

Lamont Farmer One of Many Who is Making Alberta Famous

F. C. Smith of Lamont, is one of the many farmers who are making Alberta famous as a mixed farming country. Fourteen years ago he came west from Elora, Ontario and started mixed farming on a two hundred and twenty acre farm with the object in view of raising nothing but the best and keeping nothing but the best. As a result he established a farm on which a scrub, or grade horse or cow has no place. At the present time there is only one animal on the farm that is not a pure bred, and that is a saddle pony. All the cattle are pure bred shorthorns, and all the farm horses are pure bred clydesdales.

Started Small

The first start in shorthorns was made with a small herd purchased from Jas. Watt of Ontario, and by careful breeding and selection he has been able to build up a good herd of pure bred shorthorns. At the present time the herd consists of fifteen animals headed by Braemar McKay, a bull purchased from the provincial Department of Agriculture. His star cow is Bonnie Queen, a six year old, which he purchased some time ago from Mr. Uren of Clover Bar. It pays to breed pure bred cattle, is the conclusion that Mr. Smith has arrived at after fourteen years of experience in the pure bred stock business in Alberta, and twice as many in Eastern Canada, and from his experience says that twenty-five per cent, is a modest estimate of the increased profits to be derived from investment in pure bred stock over grades or scrubs.

All Stock Stabled

All of the cattle are stabled during the winter. Mr. Smith has found that this is the only profitable way to raise cattle and this winter he has been able to conclusively demonstrate that he could feed his stock that was stabled on just one half less feed than his neighbors could feed stock that was kept outside. Another thing that he has demonstrated with his herd last winter is that even at the high prices of feed he could afford to feed his pure bred animals liberally, because for the amount of money invested he had to feed fewer animals than if they were grades or scrubs, and that the profits to be made from the pure bred cattle is infinitely greater.

Should Have Warm Water

Mr. Smith has also found that besides keeping the cattle comfortably stabled that it is very important that they always have a sufficient supply of water and that it be kept at the proper temperature. He believes that cattle should never have to drink cold water in the winter time, and has overcome the difficulty usually experienced in keeping the water warm by having the water tank located in the stable and leads the water from the well into this tank. The heat generated from the bodies of the animals serves to keep the inside of the stables at a temperature of about 60 degrees and as a result the water is kept at a temperature that is rarely below fifty degrees.

Horses all Pure Breds

Although the horses on the farm are all pure bred clydesdales of good breeding, and are kept for the purpose of raising colts; they are far from being "just ornaments," and have to earn their keep by doing most of the farm work. Mr. Smith also has a farm tractor, but this is only used for plowing and for belt work, while all the general farm work, such as harrowing, seeding, etc., is done with the brood mares.

Silo Solution to Feed Problem

During the first few years that Mr Smith was farming in Alberta, prairie hay, could be obtained in abundance throughout the whole of this district, but of late years this form of feed, owing to the rapidity with which the district settled up, became less plentiful and to obtain the required amount of fodder he was obliged to grow some on his own farm. He tried out corn, timothy hay, and green feed, with more or less success, but at the best with these feeds he has found that there is a certain amount of waste, and he feels that the silo is the solution to his feed problem. He intends to build a silo and as an ensilage crop, plant corn and sunflowers and mix them together. These crops failing, he intends to fill the silo with oats and wheat in the proportion of about three to one. Mr. Smith has been feeding green oats and green wheat in this proportion to his stock, as green feed, and has found that it is the best feed that he has ever used.

Fair Success With Corn.

With corn Mr. Smith has had fair success. One season he planted an acre of early dent, and although the season was very late and dry he had a fair crop of fodder. From his experience with this crop in his district believes it can under normal conditions be made to produce fairly heavy yields, ranging from ten to fifteen tons per acre. The only dimfficulty he encountered with the corn crop was that it was hard to feed in the bulk. This is one of his reasons for erecting a silo and installing a cutting box.

With timothy, Mr. Smith has had a rather unique experience. He has found that one can seed timothy with a light crop of oats as a nurse crop, and if seeded early enough and the land is properly worked the two can be cut together as a mixture, and that the yield is from two and a half to three tons per acre. The method that he follows is to early spring-plow the land to be seeded to timothy, and harrow well, so as to get a solid seed bed. The land thus prepared is seeded about June 1st, with a mixture consisting of one half bushel of oats to five pounds of timothy seed per acre. By fall the timothy is heavier than the oats and the crop can be cut with a binder and fed as green feed. Mr. Smith has also pastured this mixture with very good results. The next year the crop is clear timothy. This crop is cut for hay and the next crop is pastured and then plowed up.

The rotation that has found to give the best results, and with which the timothy crop works in well, is to seed wheat the first year, the second year oats, and then seed to timothy. In all, this makes either a four or five year rotation depending upon how many years the land is seeded to timothy.

START FIELD WORK SOON

The farming business will be in full swing next week in the Bently district, and many expect to be working on the land at the end of this week.—Coronation Review, April 22.

THE RULE.

Montreal Gazette:

Dealers in Saskatchewan are at a loss to account for the jump in the price of formalin from 48 cents to $1 a gallon. Perhaps the reason is that the producers wish to make more money out of the article and have taken the customary course to acheve their object. It is the way of the day.

THE LATE A. G. MacKAY.

Medicine Hat News:

In the death of Hon. A. G. MacKay, Alberta has lost the services of one of the ablest of her legislators. It is generally understood that the great preponderance of the government bills were drafted by him and when consideration is given to the knowledge and care necessary to work of this description an estimate of this value to the province becomes apparent.

It is not in this connection, however, that his loss to the public will be most fully realized, but rather through his untiring efforts as administrator of the provincial board of health during the period when the influenza raged throughout the province. It may safely be said that to these efforts was due the fact that Alberta's death roll was the lowest, per capita, in the Dominion. He devoted his days and nights to battling against the epidemic and set a high standard of accomplishment, memories of which will remain with us long after his legislative ability will have been forgotten.

CAUSE NOT SHOWN.

Montreal Gazette:

The fact that the resolution introduced by the government, providing for the establishment of a purchasing commission, has encountered opposition from both sides of the house, should warn the administration against any attempt to press the measure through parliament. Criticism which is so general in the house itself indicates that the objections to the proposal are not only serious but obvious, and the government would do well to halt the resolution pending a reconsideration of the principle which it seeks to establish. Nothing is to be gained by such ebullitions of bad temper as that which occurred in the course of Wednesday's discussion. The proper way for the government, of the president of the privy council, to meet the suggestion that the creation of this commission is a job-making device, is to disprove it by showing by some conclusive evidence that a purchasing commission will contribute to further efficiency and economy in the public service. That has not yet been done. Until it is done, the less talk there is of the responsibility of private members, and the more evidence there is of a proper sense of responsibility on the part of ministers, the better it will be for all concerned.

MORE COMMISSIONS.

Moncton Transcript:

The Hon. Mr. Rowell announces that the government purposes to appoint still another commission to study the demands of the returned soldiers. Apropos of which Le Press of Montreal asks: "Have the federal ministers come to such a pass that they are incapable of doing anything themselves?" And it adds that if they are afraid to submit legislation directed to the solution of present day problems and to take the responsibility, their proper course is to resign and make way for a responsible government.

There appears also to be talk of a commission to investigate the board of commerce. A commission to find out the government's policy on the tariff and several score other matters might be in order. If the government would only appoint a commission to investigate the extent of the public dissatisfaction and of the demand for its resignation and agree to abide by its findings, it would be doing something superfluous, but it might get somewhere.

D. ALTON TO BE SUPT. OF PARKS AND MARKETS

Committee Recommends a New Post for Present Supt. of Street and Scavenging—Trees for Arbor Day

Now that the street department is passing under the control of the city engineer, the Parks and Markets committee on Friday decided to recommend to council that Supt. D. Alton, who has, up to this time, had charge of the streets and scavenging, should be made superintendent of parks, markets and boulevards, and in addition general foreman for city works, he in this respect to be under the direction of the city commissioners.

D. Robertson, the present superintendent of markets, will remain at the Rice street market, and have the control of that institution.

In respect to the stalls at the Rice street market, the committee, of which H. Milten Martin is chairman, are recommending that the vacant stalls at the market building be leased to permanent tenants, and that the two stalls immediately north of the building be closed in and rented to transient tenants during market days.

It is also asked that a six-foot plank sidewalk should be placed on the east side of the market building, for the purpose of giving access from the street, without going through the building.

Improving Beechmount

The question of improving the cemetery at Beechmount, which was taken up by the committee last year, was again discussed, and it was decide that before making any recommendation in this respect, the question should be finally disposed of, whether any enlargement of the 116th street cemetery by closing 121st street was to be carried out. Therefore it was asked that a date should be appointed for hearing the objection of A. T. Cushing to the closing of the street.

Provision of Playgrounds

A communication was received from the Rev. Dallas, containing a list of various places which it was considered might be used as playgrounds.

The committee asked the mayor, as parks commissioner, to bring in a report on these grounds, and to state what would be needed to put them in order for use at once, and to what extent this work should be done this year.

Arbor Day Planting

Arbor day comes on Tuesday next, and the chairman thought that the city might very well do as last year, and allow the public to have trees from Westmount and South Side parks for the purpose of planting out.

It was agreed that this should be allowed, but it was stipulated that city employees should be present in order to serve out the trees and prevent damage.

Enjoyable Whist Drive at Strathcona S. C. R. Hospital

The patients and staff of the Strathcona S.C.R. Hospital held a most enjoyable whist drive, in the Red Cross Hut on Thursday evening. About a hundred people took part in a contest of sixteen games. The ladies' first prize was won by Sister Gamble and the second went to Mrs. Ingles, while Sister Keppel was awarded the consolation prize. Mr. Dunlop won the first prize for gentlemen playing as lady, Mr. Gower won the second, and the consolation prize was taken by Mr. Reiley. Among the gentlemen, the respective prizes went to Mr. Winter, Mr. DeBrower, Mr. Casson while Mr. Collins and Mr. Gudge simply ran away with the two consolation prizes awarded.

At the conclusion of the drive, the matron, who provided the prizes, presented them to the successful competitors, and a vote of thanks to the matron, proposed by Mr. Casselman, was heartily received and passed with much enthusiasm.

After refreshments were served and the hospital orchestra gave some excellent selections and provided the music for a dozen dances. About 11 o'clock everybody went away, voting the evening a big success.

MR. DRURY AND THE REFERENDUM RESOLUTION.

Toronto Globe:

When the prime minister asked whether "any good has ever come of making a party question of prohibition" he might have found a reply in the platform of his own party. The United Farmers believed they were advancing the temperance cause when they wrote prohibition into their political program. They did not evade responsibility by merely declaring for a referendum. They affirmed their faith in prohibition as a principle, and required every one of their candidates to subscribe to it. Prohibitionists had therefore a right to hope that an administration formed by the United Farmers would take the opportunity of lending its power and prestige to a proposal to give effect to the prohibition pledges of its United Farmer supporters.

Personally Mr. Drury was quite unequivocal in his advocacy of the McCreary resolution. . . . The premier's speech left no doubt that he will be fighting in the front ranks in the coming battle, as a private citizen, but as prime minister of a government supported chiefly by Farmer members he has not met all the expectation of those who interpreted literally the prohibition pronouncement of the United Farmers during the provincial election.

Hon. A. G. MacKay

An Appreciation From Ottawa

By Special Staff Correspondent.

OTTAWA, April 28th.—Up in Edmonton there died the other day a man who, had things been otherwise, would undoubtedly have succeeded to the leadership of the National Liberal Party when it was laid down by the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier a little over a year ago. That man was known in life as Hon. Alexander Grant MacKay, M.A., K.C., minister of Municipal Affairs and Health in the Stewart government of the Province of Alberta.

With the passing of this big, strong, vigorous man, the curtain has been rung down on one of the most unusual political careers of the past decade—a career that will be estimated in achievement in accordance with the point of view, or the degree of intimacy one may have had with this somewhat remarkable man.

A. G. MacKay was born in the Township of Sydenham, a Highland Scotch settlement in the County of Grey, Ontario, on March 7th, 1860. The family homestead was within six miles of Owen Sound, and after the young fellow had completed his public school education, he proceeded to the Collegiate Institute in that town, living economically in a couple of rooms during the years leading up to his matriculation.

Brilliant Career at Varsity

His parents then sent him to the University of Toronto, where he had a brilliant career, obtaining several academic honors. He taught in district schools for two years, and in the high school of Port Rowan, Ont., where he was also principal, from 1883 to 1887. He then began to study law in Owen Sound with the late Alfred Frost, who was then county crown attorney. In law he showed extraordinary talent and even as the junior partner in his firm was regarded as one of the most promising lawyers in that section of the province. Hence, when Crown Attorney Frost died, it was, as generally anticipated, Mr. MacKay who succeeded to the office. As prosecuting attorney he was unrelenting, and secured so many convictions, his friends sometimes doubted whether justice was always served when his very powerful personality and powers of reasoning were imposed upon the average jury.

It is doubtful whether A. G. MacKay ever really wanted to enter politics. He was a strong Liberal and as he became conspicuous in the practice of law, it was quite to be expected that influence would be brought to bear on him from time to time to think about the posibility of taking up the party's battles in the constituency of North Grey, which had always been fighting ground. In the closing days of the Ross administration there was political tension in North Grey. It was well known that leading members of the party decided MacKay was the man to defeat George M. Boyd for the provincial legislature. MacKay, himself, was not convinced, however, that this was the thing that he most desired. On the Sunday before his first nomination his mind was not made up, because it is recalled by a friend who went out for a stroll with him that evening that when the subject was broached he said it was quite impossible, and that it was a very foolish course for a poor man to enter politics if he had any regard for his material future. In support of his decision to keep away from the political entanglements of parliamentary office, MacKay quoted one of his friends of the bench, whose experience had been that, having gone through two elections, found himself so much in debt that he figured it would require the setting aside of his entire salary as county judge for a period of six successive years in order to pay his election debts.

Glamor of Political life

Be that as it may, before the week had elapsed, MacKay had accepted his party's nomination for North Grey, and, once having been smitten with the glamor of political life, he stayed with it until he died. During the following two years, however, he had ample opportunity to regret, perhaps, that he had not been guided by his first decision, for within that period he found himself involved in sufficient trouble and expense to satisfy the average man for a lifetime.

Three times MacKay had to fight bitter and expensive election campaigns, and more bitter and more expensive election protests. He won on each successive occasion, but in his case every time he won he also lost. So closely was the Conservative party in the vigorous days of Mr. James P. Whitney, pressing the Ross administration, that the bye-elections had provincial significance, and the successful contests which MacKay conducted made him something of a provincial, if not a national, figure, and an idol to men in the Liberal party. He became minister of Crown Lands in the Ross Government, but after one month that administration was defeated. Sir George Ross continued to lead the party for a time and was succeeded by G. P. Graham. Mr. Graham came to Ottawa in 1908 to become minister of Railways and Canals in the Laurier administration.

Succeeded to Leadership

MacKay succeeded to the leadership. He had the strong support of Liberals in most of the rural ridings, but his leadership was challenged by certain influences at Toronto. A strong prohibition sentiment was developing in the province and Mr. MacKay was not looked upon as suitable to lead it by a number of the temperance adherents in the party, with the result that in the final test MacKay relinquished the leadership, decided to give up politics in Ontario, and went West to open up a law business at Edmonton. The first case he undertook involved an amount of $100,000, and he won it. His reputation was instantly made, and his law business grew and flourished, that of recent years in the criminal courts being regarded as the largest within the province of Alberta. He was elected to the legislature for the first time in a bye-election for Athabasca and was re-elected at the general election of 1917. He became a member of the Stewart government when Hon. C. W. Cross went out in 1918.

As Minister of Municipal Affairs, MacKay was a most forceful, brilliant and logical speaker. Many of his friends contend that he ranked among the foremost Canadian orators. There is no doubt that Sir Wilfrid Laurier had MacKay in mind several years ago for a cabinet post at Ottawa; but the opportunity to take him into the government never seemed to develop. That may have been one of the reasons why he stayed with the veteran Liberal leader on the occasion of his last appeal to the Canadian people in 1917, when Liberals were deserting the aged chieftain in a manner that was never known before in Canada. When Laurier was looking for a lieutenant from the West to accompany him across the country on that memorable tour in December, 1917, A. G. MacKay was the choice; and both of these deceased public men were thus destined in their late years to see probably the most remarkable public and political demonstrations of the age, when men and women turned out by the thousands to cheer Laurier, and turned out in the same numbers a few days after to vote against him.

Admiring friends who had pictured for MacKay a career that would lead him straight to the premiership of Canada, had reason for their confidence, so far as his exceptional abilities were concerned. He was one of those who came East last summer to attend the great National Liberal convention. Fifteen years before nothing would have prevented A. G. MacKay stepping into the shoes of the aged leader who had passed away but a few months before. But he was not mentioned for his post. It was not the fault of his friends, however. Mr. MacKay had made a career for himself different to what his friends had hoped for him.

Many think the tragedy of the dead Alberta politician was that he never married. Had he been subject to the discipline and responsibilities of a home, it might have made all the difference in the world. At the time he was at the height of his political career he lived the life of a bachelor in Owen Sound. His home for some years was the Seldon House, a leading local hotel.

Had a Big Heart

MacKay had a big heart. He made money rapidly in his law practice and he gave it away just as freely. On one occasion he handed over $1,000 to the Y.M.C.A. On other occasions such as Christmas and Easter he would send a list of one hundred or more names to the local butchers, with instructions to send them turkeys and other luxuries for a holiday dinner. To all appeals for hospital extensions, and even church work, although he was not an active church member, he gave to the limit of his resources, and trusted to the future for more. He served on the Owen Sound Board of Education, and it is a fact that during his membership he virtually dominated that body. He took an active interest in the local militia, and was a captain in one of the companies of the 31st battalion.

Mr. MacKay invested considerable sums in the early experiments in the cement industry. How much he lost in the old Imperial Cement Co. of that day it is hard to say. He invested substantial sums of money along with the late Dr. E. H. Horsey, M.P., in the Sun Portland Cement Co., and here, again, much of it was lost.

Altogether, A. G. MacKay was a good citizen and a most companionable friend. All through the stormy days of his early political career, when wild stories and rumors were given circulation, his friends stood by him and refused to believe anything to his discredit.

Circumstances might have made of Alexander Grant MacKay one of the greatest figures in the Liberal or any other party of Canada. As it is, he filled a vigorous place in the public life of the country in two of the provinces. He has left his imprint on many of the country's laws, his influence to this end being particu. great in the committee of the legislature.

Edmonton Has Grown Greatly In Population and Wealth; Health, Happiness Essential

It is a known fact that Edmonton grows in population; this is shown by the sharp and increasing demand for houses and apartments. No recent census has been taken to determine the actual increase in Edmonton's population but all of the evidence goes to show that this increase has been real and considerable.

Edmonton bank clearings demonstrate the fact the business operations of the city have increased greatly. It is known, too, that the people generally have more money in the bank, more investments in bonds and stocks, more life insurance and more of everything that shows great material prosperity. It is true that prices are high, but it is also true that most people appear to be able to pay these high prices and yet have a surplus.

All of the facts and figures that apply to material growth show that Edmonton is making much progress in size, wealth, and the general prosperity of its people. There seems to be no sharp contradiction of this in any phase of Edmonton life and affairs.

Should Grow in Beauty

Is that the only way in which a city should grow? Should it not grow in beauty, in the things that make life more worth living, in conveniences for recreation, in social activities, in those things which uplift the spirit, and especially should it not grow in the promotion of health and the reduction of death rate?

The spirit of the times is not alone for bigger things and more things; it is strong for better things. That really is the great unrest of which we hear so much and something of which we experience from day to day. People want better things, better living, and better conditions of life in general. Worth while people are not satisfied by seeing their city grow large in population and business. They want it to grow also in those things which make life more pleasant, more free from illness and from distress, and generally better worth living.

This demand for better living conditions is every where. People reach out for it, sometimes blindly, sometimes intelligently, but they are always reaching and continually striving, to get those better conditions of life. Some do not realize that they can produce these conditions for themselves, if only they would work together to get them. But it is true, nevertheless, that any city can be healthful and beautiful, and a desirable place to live in, if its citizens will work together to make it so. There is no need to make a commotion, to tear things to pieces, to set one portion of the community against another. In fact, what is needed is co-operation and united effort on the part of all in following some particular and practical plan. Then the thing is done.

Such a plan exists. It has been followed with great success for a number of years in many cities. It is being worked this year more successfully than ever. Every city in which this plan has been tried is a better, more healthful and a pleasanter city to live in because of following the plan.

Clean-up and Paint-up

The plan that literally transforms cities is the clean-up and paint-up campaign which is widespread in its scope and which this year will be carried out in hundreds of cities and towns. The plan is a good plan because it cleans the streets, clears the alleys of accumulated rubbish, cleans back yards and basements, does away with weeds and carts away tin cans and other refuse from vacant lots, puts a stop to the strewing about of garbage, destroys refuse heaps in which the deadly house fly multiplies, drains pools, where the fever spreading mosquito makes his home, fills up or drains stagnant ponds, makes thrifty gardens and flower plots and window boxes, keeps lawns neat and flourishing, plants and takes care of shade trees, enforces laws that apply to milk and food distribution, paints up fences, trellises, garages, porches and houses; and does, generally, all those things which make for a cleaner healthier, and more beautiful city. These things by bringing about conditions that are more sanitary and healthier reduce sickness and consequent loss of employment, and they add to the joy of life by producing more beautiful surroundings. They also increase the value of property, reduce fire losses and insurance premiums, create new pride in the city in which they are put into practice, and evolve a new civic spirit which leads to greater enterprise, and imparts to both old and young new interest and activity in all civic affairs

.. Must Live up to Responsibilities ..

Canada did wonderful things in the war, wonderful as a nation and especially wonderful in the spirit and deeds of her soldiers, probably no nation has emerged from the war with reputation more enhanced, and increased, than Canada. This justly great reputation involves great responsibility; it is necessary that Canada, and every part of Canada, shall live up to these responsibilities by making living conditions in every community, and throughout the whole dominion, on a par with the best living conditions in any country. If Canada puts into its effort for a better country on a peace basis one-half the zeal and determination that she put into the war, Canada will soon have the most beautiful and healthful cities in the world.

We ought to have them. We have the means, financial and otherwise, the intelligence, the ambition for possession of good things. Let there be added to these a thoroughly co-operative spirit, the ability to work together unitedly and loyally for the common good. With this spirit in the Clean-up and Paint-up campaign, the campaign can be made a wonderful success. Edmonton can be made more beautiful and more prosperous, sickness and death can be reduced, and everyone can be made happier in the fuller enjoyment of life and work.

CAPARUSKA MAY GO IN AUSTRIA BUT HERE—NO

Dancing in Undress Attire Not Altogether the Custom of Canadian Society

That dancing around in undress attire at a public dance is not altogether the custom of Canadian society was the lesson furnished by the Andrew magistrate when seven Austrians appeared before him charged with indecent conduct.

The entire squad pleaded not guilty to the charge, declaring they were only dancing the "Caparuska," such as persons do toward the close of the festivities at Austrian dances. The magistrate fined them each $2 and costs with the remark that the "Caparuska," might be all right in Austria, but was absolutely against all Canadian custom, especially at a public dance where any person could attend who paid the price of admittance.

A Montreal Woman's Experience — Says Internal Bathing Saved Her Life

If the thousands of men and women with constipation and the many ills which follow would bathe internally instead of continually dosing themselves with drugs, they would soon realize why every user of the J.B.L. Cascade is so enthusiastic in its praise. There should be one in every home. Keep the colon clean and free from poisonous waste and you will not need the Doctor.

Mrs. Robert Gordon, 422 Cadillac St., Montreal, Que., writes: "I cannot speak too highly of the J.B.L. Cascade. It has saved my life. I have been troubled with constipation, piles and ulceration of the bowels for years, have only been using the Cascade for three months, and am happy to be doing my own work again after having been laid up for many months. I would not take one hundred dollars for my Cascade if I could not procure another."

The J.B.L. Cascade is the only perfect appliance for Internal Bathing, the invention of Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell, of New York, and is doing more towards improving the health and efficiency standard of the nation than all other means combined.

COUNTRY WIT

A lad of 15 was driving along a country road, taking a load of calves to market, when he chanced to meet a company of young folks who were evidently out for a pleasure excursion. The young men of the party, thinking to amuse themselves and their companions at the boy's expense began to imitate the bleating of the calves.

But their merriment was of short duration, for, without a moment's hesitation as the vehicles were passing, the country lad called out to his would-be tormentors:

ITEMS OF INTEREST TO LOVERS OF MUSIC, VOCAL, INSTRUMENTAL AND ORCHESTRAL

Weekly Review of Music in Edmonton

This week has been one of singular inactivity on the part of musicians—inactive at least in-so-far as public performances are concerned. However, the week has been productive of one event calculated to bring delight to many music lovers, and that is the playing at Pantages of Mendelsshon's "A Midsummer Night's Dream" overture.

"A Midsummer Night's Dream," a concert overture in E, No 1, opus 21, was completed by Mendelsshon in Berlin on August 6th, 1826, when the composer was but seventeen years old. It was dedicated to the Crown Prince of Prussia. The overture was composed during the peculiar fine summer of 1826, under charming conditions of life in a new garden which Mendelsshon had acquired. It appears to have been the result of a closer acquaintanceship with Shakespeare, made possible by a German version by Schlegal Tieck, which he and his sister Fanny read for the first time that year. Fanny, as in other instances, was her brother's confidante. It is asserted by G. A. MacFarren in the philharmonic book, dated April 30, 1877, that "no piece of music contains so many points of harmony, and orchestration that had never been written before as does this, and they had none of them the air of experiment, but seem all to have been written with certainty of their success." In this wonderful overture, the airy fairy lightness, and the peculiar youthful grace, are not less remarkable than the strength of construction and solidity of workmanship which underlie and support them. Not the least singular thing about it is the exact manner in which it is found to fit into the music for the whole play when that music was composed seventeen years later. According to August Reissmann's Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, the motives of the overture have all turned out to have their native places in Shakespeare's drama. After many a performance as a duet on the piano, the overture was played by an orchestra in the Mendelssohn's gardenhouse, to a crowded audience, and its first production in public appears to have been at Stettin, in February, 1827, whither Mendelssohn went to conduct it. With the composition of this work he may be said to have taken his final musical degree, as henceforth his lessons were discontinued.

No man could have called up the new emotions of a Midsummer Night's Dream without genius of the highest order. It is this which brought fairies into the orchestra and fixed them there. Mendelssohn's love of "Programme" music is apparent in this overture, as the ears are supposed to hear the Bray of Bottom in the low "G" of the ophicleide.

It would appear from a statement by Marx (Erinn ii. 231-232) that the overture in its present form is a second attempt. The former one, of which the first half was completed, began with four chords and the fairy figure. On these followed a regular overture with a theme representing the proceedings of two lovers. Nothing else of the first attempt has survived. The Bergomash dance and other most characteristic features are all new, and appear to have been the result of representations of Marx, who urged that the overture should not only be formed on the subject of the play but should adopt it as 'Programme." Mendelssohn took the overture with him to London, in 1829, and it was played under his direction at a concert given in the Argyll rooms on June 24th; Midsummer Night. On returning from the concert the score was left in a hackney coach and irrevocably lost. However this score was ultimately found in the Royal Academy of Music, London, in 1906.

There is a coincidence between the melody at the close of the overture and that in the Mermaid's song in the Finale to the second act of Weber's Oberon—but there is no doubt that it is only a coincidence. According to Weber's "Life," written by his son, the sketch of the finale was finished in Dresden on January 7th, 1826, immediately after which Weber started for London; and it is very improbable that any of the motifs of the opera should have become known before its performance April 26th, 1826. But apart from this, it is extremely unlikely that Mendelssohn would have seized the idea of another so prolific was his own vein of melody, therefore it is safe to assume that the idea was his own. Mendelssohn appears to have felt some difficulty as to the notation of the overture. He first wrote it with the fairy subject in quavers; he then published an arrangement for piano which has the fairy subject in semi-quavers; and, lastly, returned to the original notation, in which the existing score is printed. These alterations, of course, do not affect the actual sound of the theme.

"A Midsummer Night's Dream" will be loved as long as beauty, sentiment, humour and exquisite workmanship are honored in the world.

LEOPOLD GODOWSKY, master pianist and composer

Music lovers who expect to attend the Godowsky concert on May 6th, should pay attention to the fact that the great master's playing is like the sound of some grand orchestra. His accuracy in chord playing is marvellous, and he has well thought out reasons for all he does. Mr. Godowsky is said to be self taught, but this is the self teaching of a genius. At fourteen he was a member of the very strict Hochschule, in Berlin, but not liking the almost military discipline maintained there, he ran away. For this, the Kaiser would never countenance him again, and no soldier in uniform was every allowed to attend any of the Godowsky recitals in the Hochschule afterwards, in consequence.

As a man, Mr. Godowsky is a big, wide souled personality, a loving husband and father as well as a world-famous musician. His home is in Los Angeles, where wife, son and daughter reside while the eminent pianist is away on his concert tours. His son, who is also named Leopold, is a finue violinist, but his father does not wish him to take up concert work as he thinks it is too hard a life. In his teaching work Leopold Godowsky, sr., is certain that unless the pupil recognizes that he must obey certain laws, and must school himself mentally, he will never achieve any degree of perfection. Bigness of per-sonality characterizes this great musician in al his relationships. He isnever narrow towards those who are striving toward the ideal in art. He is never small or mean to his fellow artists.

POSTLUDES—TODAY AND YESTERDAY

The out-voluntary is a sacred institution for which, however, there is little to be said logically, for if it is a great piece of music, such as a fugue of Bach's (as it often is), it is putting it to a very poor use to play it to people who are retreating from it and getting to the door as fast as they can.

The out-voluntary is, in fact, played for the few persons who may occasionally be interested enough in music to stay and hear it to the end. Personally I always feel a great interest in the out-voluntary, when I have been attending a church and not playing, and I should be disappointed if there were none, but in general no one seems to care about it or pay any attention to it. Let it be preserved, however, for the sake of the organist, to whom it affords an innocent enjoyment of which it would be a pity to deprive him. But I think organists might be invited to remember that there is no necessity that the out-voluntary should always be as loud as possible, no matter what the character of the day's service or of the sermon may have been, nor is there any suitability in the introduction of "show" music in the shape of concert-room fantasias.

When I heard the rector of a church one day, while his organist was fairly ramping over a fantasia of the French school on the Full Organ, say, with a shrug of his shoulders, "Just listen to that fellow!" I confess that my sympathies in this case were rather on the clerical side. The out-voluntary should be selected with due regard to the fact that we are, after all, in a church, and not in a concert room; and, moreover, that there are Sunday and services the feeling of which would be better met and expressed by a quiet voluntary than by even one of the "mountainous fugues" in strict organ style of which Master Hugues was summoned to explain the meaning- H. Heathcote Statham.

MUSIC'S DEBT TO THE DANCE

A rather violent attack on the influence of the dance appeared in an issue of the London Times, in which the author insisted that while the older composer certainly appropriated certain dance forms they robbed them of the "dance" element as speedily as possible. The dance, he contended, might be a means to an end; it was never an end in itself. "Allemande, sarabande, gavot, minuet, and all the rest might be built up into the new complex structure of the suite; but the artistic life of one and all depended on the more or less complete repudiation of their birthright."

The article in the Times created some discussion which was later carried into The Music Student, to which Mr. J. A. Fuller-Maitland, formerly music critic to the Times and editor of the revised Grove's Dictionary, contributed. He answered the above argument in the following interesting way: -

"It is perfectly true, of course, that artistic music did appropriate the dance forms of its time, and gave them a new life, quite apart from natural dancing; but in these latter days the art of the dance has made the aptest retort that could be imagined, by taking musical works often unconnected with dancing, and illustrating them in the dance. I believe this to be due, in the first instance, to Miss Isadora Duncan, who, when she first came to England, professed to dance poetry and pictures, but not music; it was pointed out in the columns of the Times and elsewhere that there was a new field for her energies in the dance measures of the classical composers. At first, a valse or two of Chopin were the only musical compositions she essayed, but as she went on new possibilities were discovered, and various followers in her footsteps enlarged the borders by attempting to dance whole sonatas of Beethoven, and various long compositions which did not at first sight seem to cry aloud for saltatory illustration.

"Miss Maud Allan's experience as a musician gave special beauty to her versions of things like Mendelsshon's Spring Song and Schubert's Moment Musical in F minor, in all of which the details of the musical phrase found an exact and appropriate counterpart in the gestures of the dancer. Neither here nor in those productions of the Imperial Russian ballet, which deal with music of established fame, was the smallest trace of artistic irreverence to be perceived.

"The Carnaval of Schumann, as danced at Covent Garden, had not a quaver interpolated or taken out; it had only undergone the process of transformation from the pianoforte to the orchestra. Speaking personally, the dancing of this and the performance of Karsavina and Nijinski of Weber's Invitation a la Volse taught me so many things in the way of rythum that I shall never hear either of the compositions played without picturing the dance. At Mme. Pavlova's first visit to the Palace theatre she was accompanied by a troupe of dancers whose execution of a masurka was a revelation to most people; no one with any spark of the artistic temperament could play a mazurka of Chopin, after seeing them, exactly as he had been content to play it before. Surely here is a benefit to music which the dance, and the dance alone, can give."

COMMUNITY SINGING AND EISTEDDFOD

Quite a lot has been written and spoken of late about community singing, which seems to have taken hold in a number of centres in America. The idea comes from the Welsh Eisteddfod, which is an epitome of the life and work of the Welsh nation.

When the Welsh Celt seeks a holiday he finds his recreation not in cricket, nor horse racing, nor hunting, but in competitions for singing and in contests for prizes in the realms of poetry. It is a remarkable contrast, says a writer in "The Choir."

Matthew Arnold once said that when he saw the enthusiasm these Eisteddfodau aroused in the Welsh people he was filled with admiration for them, since he recognized that in its purest form, the great national meeting revealed much of the old Hellenic spirit—the desire for the study of literature and for the fostering of the fine arts. In fact, these great meetings are to Wales what the Olympian games were to the Greeks. Apart from the great yearly gathering held each September there is scarcely a town or village in the principality which does not regularly hold a meeting at which competitors enter the arena to vie with each other for pre-eminence in music, poetry or oratory.

The origin of these meetings has never been definitely determined, but it seems certain that it goes back to prehistoric times. Some diligent historian has established the identity of a truly ancient bard with the complicated name of Prijdain Ab Aedd Maur, who is said to have lived some thousand years before the Christian era, and who established the Gorsedd as an institution to perpetuate the work of poets and musicians.

The Gorsedd is the most essential and most picturesque part of an Eisteddfod, and it is from the Gorsedd that the latter springs. Its age is lost in antiquity, but historical records reveal that it is at least as old as the time of Prijdain, son of Aedd the Great, who lived many centuries before the Christian era. Upon the destruction of the political ascendency of the Druids, the Gorsedd lost its political importance, as a medium for preserving the laws, doctrines and traditions of bardism. To constitute any provincial Eisteddfod it is necessary that it should be proclaimed by a graduate bard of a Gorsedd a year and a day before it takes place.

RECITAL PROGRAMS

Too little thought is given, as a rule, to the arrangement of programs for recitals.

Not only in the matters of key and mode should variety be secured, but the compositions will gain if they are so placed that their forms, emotions and tempi are also well contrasted. Little can be said in favor of three Pastoral Symphonies in consecution, or of a recital consisting entirely of marches, yet both these cases are amongst recent happenings.

A scheme based on some national or historical idea naturally excites a stronger interest than a less consequent succession of pieces. When Mendelssohn played to Goethe the poet asked for the piece to be given in chronological order, and there is much to be said for this arrangement. Most players agree, too, in placing the "piece de resistance" in the middle of the program. In places of worship a welcome relief from too prolonged period of organ tone is afforded by the insertion of an a capella pieces for the choir.—From "Organ Playing: Its Technique and Expression."

N.Y. SYMPHONY TO SAIL ON TOUR OF EUROPE

For the first time since Columbus and his crew heard the original folksong, the war cry or whatever it was that greeted the Western hemisphere's titular discoverer, an American orchestra will sail in the opposite direction this week, when ninety-three men of the New York Symphony embark on the Rochambeau next Thursday for Europe. The Damrosch players in two months' overseas will visit five countries and play more than thirty concerts, closing June 20 next in London, at the Albert hall, under the patronage of King George.

In the itinerary as announced, the opening dates have been changed to May 6, 8 and 9 at the Paris opera, and thereafter Bordeaux, Lyons, Marseilles (2) and Monte Carlo. In Italy, starting May 20 at Genoa, there will also be concerts at Rome (2), Florence, Bologna, Turin and Milan (2). Then northward the tour includes Strasbourg, Metz, Nancy and again Paris, on June 4, at the Trocadero. A Belgian visit takes in Brussels, Antwerp, Liege and Ghent, followed by The Hague and Amsterdam, Holland, and five concerts in the British metropolis, where all but the last will be held at Queen's hall.

Of musical organizations that have hitherto made America known around the world, perhaps the chief is Sousa's band. A single season was once given in Paris by stars of the Metropolitan, though this country's native singers have individually appeared in nearly every country. Conductor Damrosch, invited two American-born musicians to be soloists on his tour.

The assisting artists are Albert Spalding, the violinist, and John Powell, pianist and composer. It is understood that Jascha Heifetz, a Russian star, will also appear. The tour is financed by the president of the Symphony society, H. H. Flogler.

Otaker Sevcik, the famous violin pedagogue has been engaged as teacher by the Utica, N.Y. Conservatory. The renowned Bohemian violinist, teacher of Kubelik, Kocian and other celebrities last week closed negotiations with the Utica institution He is expected to arrive in America next December.

HAULERS ON VOLGA AT QUEEN'S HALL

Recently there was performed at the Queen's Hall, London Stravinsky's orchestral arrangement of the song of the haulers on the Volga.

Every anthropologist knows that primitive people are in the habit of making the performance of collective labour easier by singing, the joint effort being put forth at definite points of the rythm. One traveller tells us that certain African negroes do rather a clever thing in this line. Five hundred of them are in the water, trying to get a vessel off a sandbar. They sing a melody; at the eighth bar they all submerge; each continues to sing the tune mentally under the water; at the twelfth bar they all give the vessel a push, and at the sixteenth they all come to the surface. It appears that the haulers on the Volga have a melody that they sing together to make their hard work easier, or at all events to make it seem easier, which is no doubt the same thing. The English bargee, having the good luck not to belong to a race that is soaked in folk-song from its cradle, relies on bad language to produce the same results; consequently, he is always a delight and never a nuisance to the rest of us. There is no fear of his ever leaving his native habitat for the concert-room. But these wretched fellows on the Volga have been overheard by art-musicians, with the result that might have been expected The haulers' song has been arranged for every possible and impossible instrument, and has been transplanted to every country in the civilised world.

Speaking of Stravinsky's arrangement a noted English musician has this to say: 'What an arrangement! It is for military band, and, as the Frenchman would say, of a noise! If there were any universally recognised correlations between the sense of sound and that of sight, I would try to convey an idea of it by saying that it sounded like a piece of raw meat. A day or two after the concert I met a friend from Italy. He was amazed to hear that the work had been given here. Stravinsky made the arrangement in my friend's house, just after the Russian Revolution, more or less as a joke, and would no doubt be surprised to hear that it had been given in a British concert-room. If the Bolsheviks want anything so savouring of the capitalist and monarchist regime as a national anthem, this I imagine, is the very thing for them."

RAVEL DODGES HONOR

A despatch to the Sun and New York Herald states that for the second time Maurice Ravel has been proposed for France's most coveted award, the Legion of Humor, and that for the second time the Paris composer has refused to accept it.

Basing his action on a desire to escape public attention which, possibly, would prevent his musical soul from responding to inspiration, M. Ravel has sought refuge in the country, where he obstinately refuses to see interviewers.

The first offer of the Legion of Honor was made to him before the war, the second was published a short a short time ago in the French official journal which has been compelled to print the news that the government has withdrawn the honor at the request of the idealistic composer.

"A Music critic, son is a person who never reads anything in the paper except his own reviews."

Bonnie Doon Choral Society Scores a Brilliant Success

The Bonnie Doon Choral society, scored a brilliant success in their first presentation of the light comic opera entitled "Aladdin and Out" which was given in St. Luke's hall on Friday evening.

A large and very appreciative audience was present to witness the performance, and the applause was loud and frequent.

The opera opens depicting a Univesity Laundry scene with a brilliant chorus of Washer Girls singing "Wash, Wash, Wash" in a most pleasing manner. This was followed by "Mrs. Mustapha" of the university, in the person of Mrs. James Smith (soprano) in a solo "Hail revered preceptress" and recitative in which her powerful and excellent voice was heard to advantage. A little later in the first act she also sang "Fairest of the Fair" and "My late Lamented" in her best style, delighting the audience very much.

Mr. J. Morgan who is allotted the character of "Badmanaza" and possesses a rich bass voice sang in fine style "Incantation" and later appearing in "New Lamps for Old" scored another success.

Mr. Edward Evers who took the character of "Aladdan" was especially goor both in his interpretation of the part and his rendering of "Listen to the Tale I Tell."

This first act closed with the full chorus in "We are Potentates."

Act two opens with full chorus singing in a spirited manner "This is the Court Imperial," followed by a solo in represented by Mr. R. J. Hughes (tenor) sang excellently. Mr. W. C. Scott had a comic part as "So-So" and both sang and acted in a splendid manner.

A duet in which "Aladdin and Phulmaun" appeared is another telling number, the two voices blending prettily. Mrs. J. Smith next appeared in the song "The dearest is the cheapest in the End," being assisted with the full chorus. Mrs. Smith quite excelled herself in her singing and acting of the number.

The chorus of the best "Aristocracy" by maidens and courtiers was quite a taking number with the audience, creating loud applause.

The song "Love is a tender Plant" by Mrs. Evers as "Kanairi" was very tuneful.

Mr. Walter Langford was entrusted with the character of "Phatman" his rendition of the song "Prime Minister" being very pleasing. Mrs. Olive sang sweetly the solo "What can it Be." This lady has a rich soprano voice. This was followed by the duet "Aladdin" and "Phulmoun." This is an exceedingly pretty piece and was well sung.

The chorus "Of the best Aristocracy" by maidens and courters was quite a taking number with the audience. Another very humorous number was "I am Puzzled" and "We are Weeping" by chorus of maidens in pretty costumes.

The opera closes with the grand finale "Home Again" or "Never to roam Again" sung in a most spirited manner. Very special praise must be given for the painstaking manner in which the able conductor of the society, Mr. George A. Sloane, carried out his onerous duties. He labored very energeticaly for several months past to bring the members of the society to their present pitch of excellence. Mr. Fred Hillier showed his skill as an artist by the scenes he painted for the occasion, which were done in a most creditable manner. The orchestra very materially assisted to make the opera a success.

To Mr. J. Jones one of the members of the society, much credit is also due for the splendid support he accorded the conductor.

The opera will be repeated again this evening.

May Day Is Expected To Pass Off Quietly In Edmonton; Work Will Go On As Usual

No Unusual Demonstrations Are Expected to Take Place in City Labor Circles—Local Defence Committee Not Affiliated With Trades Council, Is Arranging Open Air Meeting.

May Day in Edmonton will not be marked by any extraordinary activities in labor circles. So far as is known there are no industrial disputes prevailing in the city at present, and none immediately pending. If the workers of Edmonton are not satisfied with their lot, they seem, at least to be proceeding in an orderly way to better their conditions. Industrial strife in this city is, at any rate, conspicuous by its absence at this time.

The trades and labor council have made no arrangements for a May Day demonstration of any kind. The local defence committee, with which the trades council is not affiliated, are advertising a mass meeting on the Market Square at 7.30 Saturday evening "to emphasize a protest against the imprisonment of the Winnipeg strike spokesmen." This will constitute the only demonstration taking place in Edmonton on May Day.

No effort is being made to observe the day as a holiday, the only suggestion for such action seeming to be contained on "stickers" which have been pasted on some city store windows. These bear the name of the "Communist Labor Party," a Socialist organization in the United States.

Lethbridge, Alta., April 30—There will be no May Day celebration here. Miners in the Lethbridge field and throughout the Crow's Nest Pass however, intend taking the usual holiday.

Parades "Economic Waste"

Calgary, April 30—There will not be a May Day demonstration here, but instead the Winnipeg defence league will make an appeal for $1 contributions to the appeal fund. Local labor leaders regard the May Day parades as economic wastes.

Victoria, B.C., April 30—Under the auspices of the trades and labor council, a mass protest meeting will be held Saturday evening against conviction of the Winnipeg strike leaders. Robert Cassidy, K.C., or J. E. Bird, who appeared for R. B. Russell, convicted of seditious conspiracy, will speak on the conduct of the trial. E. S. Woodward will preside.

Strike at London

London, Ont., April 30—All hopes of averting a street car strike in London appear to have vanished and citizens expect to awaken on Saturday morning to find the city without car service. The company has repeatedly informed the men that it cannot meet their demands for increased wages. The men are now receiving 48 cents per hour and ask 65 cents per hour, while the company offer to compromise at 55 cents per hour. The conductors and motormen refuse to accept this, and negotiations are at an end, according to the latest report this morning.

Montreal Moving Day

Montreal, April 30—The city of Montreal will care for two hundred and fifty families who tomorrow, general moving day, will find themselves without homes. This announcement was made this morning by E. R. Decary, chief commissioner of the city to the Tenants' Protective association which waited on him at the city hall and pointed out that these families had been compelled to leave their residences and could not find any others in the city to live in owing to the shortage of houses. Mr. Decary said the city would house the homeless ones in the Meurling refuge, feed thm at cost price, and pay the charges on storing their furniture until such

"Bluebeard" Huirt Confesses To At Least Two Murders According To Report From Los Angeles

Bigamist Who Masqueraded As Watson in Edmonton Is Said to Have Made Revolting Confession to Attorney And County Officials—"Might Have Murdered More," Alleged to Have Said.

Los Angeles, Calif., April 30—James R. Huirt, held there while officers investigated reports of his marriage to a number of women, confessed late Thursday night that he had slain two of the women, according to county officers.

Two of the numerous women Huirt is alleged to have married in various parts of the continent, and who are at present listed as missing, are Beatrice M. Andrews, of Canada and England, and Agnes Wilson, of Edmonton, Alberta.

More than twenty-five marriages have been attributed by the officers to Huirt.

According to the alleged confession, made today to J. Morgan Marmaduke, his attorney, and county officials, Huirt murdered at least two of his wives, two others met "accidental" deaths while with him, and he "might have murdered more."

Seven Wives Missing

Seven are listed as missing, including the two Canadian women, the other five being Nina Lee Deloney, killed with a hammer, at Long Beach, Calif.; Elizabeth Prior, whose head was crushed with a sledge hammer near Plum, Wash.; Bertha Goodnich, who was tipped out of a boat in lake Washington, near Seattle; Miss Alice Ludvighon, drowned in a river in Idaho, and Mrs. Gertrude Wilson, of Seattle.

Huirt said he could not remember what happened to some of the women becauuse of his still weakened condition resulting from two attempts to commit suicide, the reputed confession says. He lay on a cot at the county hospital as he talked. Huirt has been held here several days while officers investigated reports of numerous marriages.

He married "twelve or fifteen women, probably more," Huirt was quoted as saying. A desire to kill obsessed him four years ago, Huirt was alleged to have said, and women were his especial victims, there being no direct motive for their deaths, and no desire to kill men, children, or animals.

"A Wonderful Lover"

Vancouver, April 30—"He was a wonderful lover, but before I married him I placed an inheritance of $10,000 in trust for my children where neither of us could reach it for twenty years," said Mrs. H. L. Gordon, referring to J. R. Huirt, held on a murder charge in Los Angeles. As H. L. Gordon, Huirt is alleged to have married Mrs. Gordon in Winnipeg in April, 1919. She was living near Regina when she met him.

Mrs. Beatrice Andrawartha, of Vancouver, is said by local police to also have been one of Huirt's victims. She has not been seen since February 12, 1919.

WESTERNERS IN THE COMMONS HOLD CAUCUS

Members Supporting the Government Discuss Matters Coming Up in the Budget

Ottawa, April 30—(Canadian Press)—Western members of the commons supporting the present government, held their caucus today to decide on several lines of action in connection with matters which are expected to come up in the budget. There was a large attendance, despite the fact that since last year the newly formed National Progressive Party, a majority of the members of which comprises westerners, has reduced the membership.

By far the most important item discussed today was the budget as it affects the tariff. It is proposed to eliminate the duty on small threshers, binders and farm household commodities, such as washing machines, cook stoves, etc., and upon such things as leather for pegged boots, etc.

In lieu of this it is advocated that an excise tax shall be levied.

Many columns of figures have been examined by members to see the effect of this and after calculations galore, it is figured that through the proposal of an excise tax, the farmer would not pay any more for his goods than at present, while the manufacturer would pay more taxes and still enjoy the same amount of protection from similar industries across the line.

The feeling generally toward the tariff, it is understood, was that it should not be entirely eliminated but lowered to the extent named. The caucus also heard a lengthy report on the question of natural resources and another on the Hudson Bay question. In both these cases assurance has been given that the government will do something this session and members are apparently satisfied with this.

A more important item was the question of the method of handling this year's wheat crop. Plans for this are under discussion, but no inkling is given. Several farmer members, some of them belonging to the cross-benches have agreed that national marketing should be favored so long as control is also held by the European interests.

The committee on income tax reported and will sit again. It is intended to get R. W. Breadner, commissioner of taaxtion, to address a caucus some time next week on the working of the scheme as it affects farmers.

Transfer of natural resources caused some discussion. The special committee contended that while the government had agreed to transfer the resources to the three western provinces it was conditional on an agreement being reached between the provinces. This agreement, the special committee thought, was no nearer being reached than it was eight years ago. The committee pressed for immediate action.

EARLY CLOSING BYLAW OBJECTED TO BY DEALERS

Garages Take Ground That It May Make Hardships—May Delay Construction Work

SOME WENT TO WORK

Alsip Brick and Supply Company Employees Send in Petition to Council

Discrimination in dealing with the different ramifications of the automobile business led to the upsetting of the last early closing bylaw, and already, in connection with the proposed new bylaw, agitation is beginning to arise from similar sources.

The contention now is that purveyors of gasoline and those who carry out emergency repairs are being placed in an unfair position in regard to others in the trade.

The Freeman company points out to the city council that provision only is made in the list of proposed exemptions for livery and towing service for automobiles, and it prevents garages from selling gasoline or carrying out temporary emergency repairs.

It is asked that this should be remedied, as it would inflict hardship for such service not to be allowed. Many city firms use motor trucks and these are frequently required to be repaired on Saturdays, and if the work could not be done considerable loss would result. Also farmers come in to the city on Saturdays and want repairs carried out, and it is advisable that these should not be compelled to be held over the week-end.

There is another aspect of closing now coming to the front, and that is the necessity of working on Saturdays to make up for the late spring. Application is being made to council by the McDougall Construction company for permission to work on Saturdays in order to make up for time lost by delay of spring. The particular construction work involved is the new building for the Western Canada flour mills.

The Alsip Brick and Supply company has sent in a petition signed by 32 employees, asking to work on Saturdays. It is said that the petitioners represent 75 per cent. of the total number of employees.

WASHOUTS AND SLIDES DELAY TRAINS ON G.T.P.

Train From Prince Rupert, Due Friday Morning, Nearly Two Days Late

Land and rock slides as well as washouts are still causing a great deal of trouble to Grand Trunk Pacific trains operating between Edmonton and the coast. The train which should have reached Edmonton at 8 o'clock Friday morning was reported to be between thirty and forty hours behind its schedule due to a washout in the neighborhood off Prince George.

Local officials report everything possible is being done to improve conditions on the line but that on account of the large amount of snow in the mountain passes and the consequent large volumes of water, washouts and land slides are being experienced with such frequency that only with difficulty can trains be expected to run on time.

City Police Court

A fine of $200 was imposed upon William Novinka in the city police court Friday morning when he was found guilty on the charge of keeping liquor for sale contrary to law.

Novinka is the man who was arrested Thursday night while crossing Namayo avenue with a heavily laden suitcase containing twenty bottles of various grades of moonshine whiskey, bearing the deceptive labels, "turpentine," "perfume" and "hair oil." The grip also contained $785, alleged to have been the proceeds of a day's sales.

Robert Robertson charged with doing bodily harm to Charles Wass was found guilty at the morning session of the court and remanded for sentence at a later date.

Two other assault charges, one against Chris Bjaranson and the other against L. Matpacrck were dismissed.

HAY REFUSED AT PLACES WHERE IT IS DELIVERED

In Edmonton, No Surplus, But Different Conditions at Some Country Points

Regarding the feed situation at the present time, the officials of the department of agriculture state that in some places where they have taken hay in, it has been refused.

While they appreciate that the roads are bad, they state that as soon as they have delivered what is already on order, they will not remain in the hay business longer, and people should try to make some arrangements to provide for themselves over the spring seeding, when the supply is available.

In Edmonton there is no surplus at the present time, but at some of the country points this condition exists, and farmers needing hay to put them over the spring work should secure it while it is there.

JOHNSON DEMANDS RECOUNT INTO NEW JERSEY PRIMARIES

New York, April 30—Making a complicated situation resulting from this week's primaries to choose delegates to the national conventions for the nomination of presidential candidates still more confusing, a recount of republican ballots in New Jersey is now demanded by Senator Hiran Johnson, of California, who was beaten in that state by Major-General Leonard Wood. Johnson forces allege that their favorite was "counted out" in various precincts.

In Ohio a strange state of affairs prevails. Although Senator Warren G. Harding carried the state by 16,000 votes over General Wood, as republican favorite, Harry M. Daugherty, his campaign manager, was defeated as delegate at large by a Wood supporter. Senator Harding secured 29 of the 48 state delegates. Harding supporters declare that he will stay in the presidential race despite the results at the polls in his own state.

Increase In Rates On E.D. & B.C. Asked for By J. D. McArthur; Rate Experts Fixing Tariff

Application to Board of Railway Commissioners Will Be Made Shortly—President Declares That Maintenance, Fixed Charges and Operating Costs Only, to Be Covered by Advance.

Ottawa, April 30.—The Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia railway will shortly apply to the board of railway commissioners for an increase in rates. J. D. McArthur, president of the road, announced today that rate experts are now at work fixing a tariff which will yield sufficient income to take care of the fixed charges of the road, and he has engaged F. H. Phippen, K. C., to present his case to the railway commission.

Mr. McArthur points out that the cost of maintenance of the road has been kept below what it should be, but operation could not be maintained on the revenue derived from the present basis of rates. The increase will be aimed only to pay maintenance, fixed charges and reasonable operating expenses, and Mr. McArthur adds that he is content to await development of the territory to bring him a return for the money he has invested in the road. The increase will be asked for as a temporary measure, on the understanding that reduction will be made from time to time, as conditions warrant.

CANADIAN PHOTOPLAY COMING TO THE DREAMLAND MONDAY IS A TREMENDOUS PRODUCTION

"The Heart of Humanity," Which Opens a Three-Day Engagement Next Monday, Is No Ordinary War Play—Romance Predominating

A play destined to live forever in the hearts of those who see it is "The Heart of Humanity," coming to the Dreamland, Monday. No ordinary war play is this tremendous production conceived by the master mind of Allen Holubar. In fact, so skilfully is the war element handled that it is overshadowed completely by the charming romance which is the picture's main theme. Yet, scarcely secondary to this is the optimistic illumination it sheds on the great vital problem that touches on the duty owed by humanity to the children wrecked and orphaned by the war. The clarity of the titles is a delight, and this, coupled with the subtle handling of the plot, makes the production a masterpiece, for Allen Holubar, the director, knows the value of contrast and has used his knowledge with the highest degree of success. As Nanette, the character who depicts the glory accomplished by women in the war, Dorothy Phillips proves herself to be one of the screen's greatest players. Rarely have such superb heights been reached as she displays in her marvelous delineation of the role. The story moves from the pine forests of the Canadian northwest to the fields of Flanders. Nanette whose husband is fighting valiantly is unable to resist the tiny voices of the destitute children across the sea that call to her through her own baby. Nanette leaves her little one with her husband's mother to minister to the needs of the children of France. Many adventures await her, and through them all she serves her high purpose, risking her own life to save her little charges when the town they are in is taken by the Germans. A Hun officer tries to force himself upon her and Nanette, half crazed by her ordeal is saved from a gruesome fate by her husband. After being decorated for valor she returns to her little son and the mother of her husband, who has lost her four other sons. Christmas comes, bringing with it peace and the return of the soldier to his loved ones. Mother Patricia's fortitude in bearing up beneath her terrible grief will be a help to other mothers, who, like her, have lost their loved ones. William Stowell makes a convincing hero of John Patricia, and Margaret Mann is excellent, as the beloved "Mother Patricia." The supporting cast is excellent, including as it does, Erich Von Strohe'm, villian supreme of the screen; Robert Anderson, who won fame as "M'sieu Cuckoo" in "Hearts of the World." Pat O'Malley and Walt Whitman. The story has been produced by an artist who does not make the mistake of playing down to his audiences, but rather up to the people who think, who after all, are in the majority.

CURWOOD FILM "RIVER'S END," COMES TO ALLEN

Seven Celestials Had a Tough Time During the Filming of Great Drama

Four or five days after the completion of the photography of "The River's End," the masterpiece that is being shown at the Allen at an early date, seven Celestials gazed at each other across a hospital ward. Of course the conversation was carried on in Chinese, and as there was no interpreter present who could give the matter a verbatim report, only the intent can be reported. They were talking about the rough usage they had received at the hands of Lewis J. Stone during the photography of the scene in the burning opium den. Stone is a small man, but he carries the punch of a lightweight champion, and when one of the almond-eyed gangfighters started to gouge out Stone's eye the man in the red tunic uncorked one that landed John Chinaman on the other side of the room. Others came at Stone, who forgot that he was acting. Then the Chinks forgot they were playing a part and started in to "get" Stone. The harder they came at him the harder he hit out. The net result was that the greatest fight ever staged before the motion picture camera is seen in "The River's End." As the Chinese are not directly interested in the art of the silent drama they contended themselves with a chorus that ran something like

POWERFUL THEME IS DEPICTED IN SHOULD A WOMAN TELL. STARRING ALICE LAKE, AT ALLEN MONDAY

Dramatic Struggle Within Woman's Heart When She Wants to Confess Her Whole Past to the Man She Loves—Fears It May Turn Him Against Her

Alice Lake, Jack Mulinall and Frank Currier head the cast of the Screen Classics, Inc., all-star special photoplay, "Should a Women Tell?" from the story by Finis Fox, which will be shown at the Allen theatre three days starting Monday.

As the title implies, the picture is a dramatic depiction of the struggle within a woman's heart between her desire to confess her whole past to the man she loves and her fear that such confession may cost her his adoration. The heroine of the story is Meta Maxon, a fisher girl in a little village on the Massachusetts seacoast, transplanted by circumstances seemingly kindly enough at first. What occurs after her introduction to Boston society under the sponsorship of Miss Clarissa Sedgwick constitutes the item of Meta's past of which she dare not speak later to the man she is to marry, yet which she feels she must not conceal in fairness to him.

Direction of "Should a Woman Tell?" was done by John E. Ince, the excellent photography by Sol Polito, and unusual artistic effects have been achieved by his co-operation with the special art director, Amos Myers. The production was supervised in entirety and personally by Maxwell Karger, director general of Screen Classics Inc.

The setting of the piece for the most part is in the village where Meta was born and lived until the advent of the Bostonian society woman who takes an immediate fancy to the young girl and forthwith determines to do all within her power to improve her condition of life. This Miss Sedgwick accomplishes by sending Meta to a fashionable finishing school and later bringing her out as she would have her own daughter. This precedes the incident which later was to bring to the girl the necessity of deciding her terrific soul problem.

THE RIGHT OF WAY WITH BERT LYTELL AT THE MONARCH

"The Right of Way" in motion picture form, an adaptation of the famous novel by Sir Gilbert Parker, in which Screen Classics, Inc., presents the magnetic and versatile star, Bert Lytell, will be shown at the Monarch theatre, begining next Thursday.

As those who have read the book and it is estimated by Harper &Bros., the publishers, that they number well into six figures—will recall, this is a stirring, picturesque and unusual story of Canadian life in Montreal and again on the fringe of the north woods. The action revolves chiefly about the character of Charley Steele, called, for his dash and manner by his friends and enemies, both of which were numerous, "Beauty" Steele The famous courtroom scene in which, after clearing a man of the charge of murder, Steele snaps at him, "Out of my sight— you're as guilty as hell!" opens the drama; and this same striking unexpectedness, this suddenness and almost stunning surprise is repeated in the various incidents which go to make up the novel which won for Gilbert Parker the title Sir. Gilbert Parker.

"Marooned Hearts" has been selected as the next vehicle in which Zena Keefe, Selznick's 1920 star, will make her appearance. Tom Lytell will play opposite Miss Keefe.

Secrets of the Movies Revealed

Q.—How did Ben Turpin become cross-eyed?

A.—He was not born that way, he acquired it. To most anyone else it would have been a tragedy, to Ben it finally meant fame and riches. In his youthful days Ben was a juggler of heavy weights. One day during his act he tossed up an extremely heavy weight and forgot to catch it. It hit him on the forehead. When Ben came to, he was cross-eyed and his career as a juggler spoiled. Then he became a taffy puller in Cincinnati, until Mack Sennett finally saw him. Ben's chief fear these days is that something will fall on him and knock his eyes straight, and then he will have to start another career, all over again.

Monday in this column we will tell what kind of makeup the various complexions need in the movies.

"O, it was such a relief to play a good woman again," says Alice Hollister, leading woman in the new Goldwyn picture, "Milestones." Miss Hollister played vampire parts for a year. In fact she was the first screen vampire, Director Bob Vignola giving her the part. Miss Hollister returns to the screen after a two years' absence on account of illness. In "Milestones" she plays the part of Gertrude Rhead.

WILLIAM FARNUM FACED DEATH ON SEVERAL OCCASIONS WHEN TAKING SCENES FOR "LAST OF DUANES"

Is Hunted by Posses, Always Eluding Them, Until He Voluntarily Gives Himself Up—Will Be Shown at the Monarch Next Monday

The latest William Farnum production, a splendid picturization of the Zane Grey novel "The Last of the Duanes," contains some of the most magnificent locations ever "shot" by a camera. In the character of "Buck" Duane in this stirring story of Texas border life, which will be presented by William Fox at the Monarch theatre on Monday, Farnum is hunted by many posses, always eluding them until he voluntarily gives himself up.

Toward the last he is chased by a posse which drives him across desert and mountain till he gets into a canyon from which there is no escape. For this scene Director J. Gordon Edwards found Cathedral canyon, one of the most wonderful natural beauties in America aside from the Grand canyon of Arizona.

To get to this place the members of the Fox company had to go by machine toward Indio and then on horseback more than seven miles to the entrance of the canyon.

Once within the canyon, there comes to view a natural amphitheatre of granite, the smooth sides of which rise to a height of more than a thousand feet. This height Mr. Farnum and a band of cowboys had to scale, climbing on hands and knees A slip might mean instant death. The height was scaled, however, without accident.

CHARMING OLIVE THOMAS IN HER LATEST SELZNICK PICTURE AT THE REGENT NEXT WEEK

"The Spite Bride" Is a Drama of Youthful Impulse, Full of Thrills, Love and Adventure—Coming to Edmonton Next Monday

"The Spite Bride," a Selznick picare starring Olive Thomas, which omes to the Regent next Monday for hree days is a drama of youthful imulse, full of thrills, tears, smiles, ve and adventure.

Never was this charming star so lluring, vivacious and utterly captivating; never was she cast in a etter role than that of Tessa Doyle, he shy little dancing girl, who was nocent of the tricks th's sordid orld plays on the back-stage girl, specially if it knows that she is inocent. It was directed by Charles iblyn and the leading man is Robert llis who scored a hit in "Upstairs nd Down."

When Millicent Lee jilted Billy wayne, he thought that the world ad come to an end. He decided that fe was not worth living until he et his chum, Rodney Dobson who as an optimist of the first order ith a ready smile and willing hand or every friend. His advice to Billy as that he should immediately arry someone else and get his pubcity in first. It didn't make very uch difference who the girl was, ecause he could pay her a couple of housand and send her to Reno in a ew weeks.

When Billy, after several drinks, greed, the search for a bride began. hey went to a show, saw Dennis and oyle, and decided on the young lady hen and there. A note was sent to he girls and they met the young men a a neighboring restaurant. The roposition was made and Trixie Dennis accepted in the name of Tessa oyle, the shy litle thing who was her ancing partner. Tessa could not combat the strong wills which coerced her and so she was married to Billy Swayne a scion of one of New York's oldest families.

Later, when Trix sees the splendor of Billy's house, she tries to hold him up for $10 000. Billy refuses to be blackmailed and the youths abduct the girls and take them aboard Billy's seagoing yacht. The yacht catches fire and the entire party is forced to abandon it. After being in the life boat for many hours they are picked up by a tramp steamer going to Cuba. The captain of the steamer falls in love with Tessa and being sceptical of the story that she tells, gives her a card to his mother to use in case she should ever need a friend. This card more than a year later is found in Tessa's purse after she has been struck down by a truck. And at the hospital they call up Captain Peter's mother and bring her to Tessa's bedside.

Here she again meets Peter, who tries to make her love him. She tells him that this is impossible as she loves the man who married her, but whom she has not seen in more than a year. Tessa, during her convalescence, has learned typing, and now through the aid of a friend, she gets a position as secretary to Countess d' Raspoli, who has come to help with the war relief work. At a bazaar Tessa sees Billy and learns that the Countess is Billy's mother.

Much adventure and many tears which finally melt into smiles are Tessa's share from now on. The picture is delightfully human and is warranted to hold the interest of the most blase fan.

MARGUERITE CLARK ACTS AS LADY BOUNTIFUL TO DOUBLE IN NEW PICTURE

The impulsiveness which is Marerite Clark's chief characteristic in er new picture, "All-of-a-Sudden eggy," showing at the Empress theatre the first half of next week, isn't onfined to the screen. Only recently t took an active and specific form. n the studio Miss Clark stumbled pon a little girl who played her ouble in a scene and who was lunchng on a piece of bread and a purple Easter egg much the worse for wear. nvestigation developed that this diet asn't a fad with the child, but a ecessity, for there was nothing else o eat at home. Whereupon Miss lark sat down on the floor and cried, hen sent for a lawyer and had her ouble legally adopted. The little girl as lived with the screen star and her ister in their New York apartment ever since and recently made a small hit of her own as a dancer in the musical show, "Good Morning Judge."

The screen example of Miss Clark's impulsiveness "All-of-a-Sudden Peggy," is a thoroughly delightful romantic comedy, all about a little Irish girl whose efforts to wed her widow mother to an English baronet and scientist led to amusing complications and a husband. Jack Mulhall is the leading man, and the picture was directed by Walter Edwards. It is a Paramount Artcraft.

In addition to "All-of-a-Sudden Peggy," the Empress offers pictures of the British grand national steeplechase, probably the greatest sporting and social event in England. In the reel is seen the finest field of runn that any course has seen.

FILM STARS TO APPEAR IN PERSON AT THE REGENT

Mrs. De Wolf Hopper and Chas. Girard Will Appear as Entertainers Next Monday

Two very popular film stars, who have been seen in many big productions in this city, will appear personally at the Regent theatre next Monday, and Tuesday evenings only as entertainers. These two stars will be remembered by those who seen "The Isle Of Conquest" the first picture shown at the Regent under its new policy of big productions only.

Mrs. De Wolf Hopper, is an actress of considerable fame and has appeared in many large productions. During her career in motion pictures she has appeared in "The Isle of Conquest" with Norma Talmadge, in "Virtuous Wives" with Anita Stewart and in "The Man Who Lost Himself" with William Faversham.

Mr. Charles Girard is exceedingly well known, having appeared in support of such stars as Douglas Fairbanks, Norma Talmadge, Mary Pickford, Elaine Hammerstein and in D. W. Griffith's productions. He played the "Heavy" in the "Isle of Conquest" and will be remembered for his splendid characterization of that part. He also appeared in "The New Moon" starring Norma Talmadke, and supported Elaine Hammerstein in hir latest picture "Whispers."

Just as the soldiers in the trenches soothe their nerves before and after battles with cigarettes so does Lon Chaney, playing the part of "Blizzard," king of the underworld in the new Goldwyn picture, "The Penalty," find some ease from the terrific strain he is under. Chaney plays the part of a man whose legs have been cut off at the knees. To get the realistic effect Chaney has to walk on his knees with the aid of crutches and have his feet tightly bound up behind him. As soon as a scene is finished he lights a cigarette. "The Penalty" is by Gouverneur Morris, and is one of the Eminent Authors' series being produced by the Goldwyns.

WHIRLWIND MUSICAL COMEDY "MUTT AND JEFF'S DREAM," TO OPEN AT EMPIRE ON MONDAY

Gus Mill Offers a Play Bright With Fun and Frolics—Real Entertainment Provided in Many New Features—Here Three Days

A superabundance of wit, originality, features, taste, scenic investiture, and real entertainment is said to be the quota of this season's latest Mutt and Jeff show, entitled, "Mutt and Jeff's Dream" and which is to be the next attraction at the Empire Theatre for three days starting next Monday, with the customary Wednesday matinee From all accounts the production eclipses all previous achievements which is something to revel over when memory harks back to some eight vehicles in which this pair of rollicking and epoch-making comics have registered. Manager Gus Hill, who is responsible for bringing Mutt and Jeff into prominence as stage favorites has apparently done unusually well by his illustrious breadwinners this year. He has supplied them with a musical comedy in three acts in which they go through a series of adventures sure to even move the silent sphinx to hysterical laughter. Delightful melodies, a carload of picturesque scenery lighting effects, features, novelties, specialities and other essential ingredients to provoke mirth have been supplied. Above all it is a vehicle of moveable comedy, action, and entertainment—entertainment of the brand to suit both young and old alike. A good word should be said in advance regarding the chorus. A Mutt and Jeff production is synonymous with all that is good in the way of pretty girls, infectious music and resplendent costuming. There are sixteen of these pretty and lovely damsels who know how to sing and dance with rare and infinite charm and skill. As usual Mutt is in the limelight endeavoring to make a "goat" out of his faithful and susceptible pal, Jeff. And in the traditional order of things little Jeff manages to extricate himself with flying colors, but not without distributing an avalanche of fun, screams, hilarity and joy in behalf of his vast army of friends and well wishers. Their "Dream" carries Mutt and Jeff through three side-splitting acts without lull and rapid shifting of scenes and situations. If you are a Mutt and Jeff convert, or intend to be, we cheerfully recommend this latest gloom destroyer as a tonic with a real "kick" in it. The cast is said to be capable and of large proportions. The entire offering is under the personal direction of Mr. Hill.

PANTAGES ROAD SHOW, BOASTING FIVE ALL-STAR VAUDEVILLE ACTS WILL BE IN EDMONTON MONDAY

Mme. Diana Bonner, Related to Prominent Winnipeg Family, Comes Direct From Chicago Grand Opera Co.—"Heart of Annie Wood" Is Wonderful Combination of Song, Dance and Dialogue.

Alex. Pantages special road show is coming next week. A bill boasting five of the best available acts in the booking offices of the east and middle west is now on board the "rattler," Edmonton-bound, and will be the attraction at the local vaudville theatre all next week. In addition to this feast of the best in vaudville, the second episode of "The Black Secret," featuring Pearl White, will be screened, together with Topics of the Day and Fox Weekly. Sounds of melody have been coming from the orchestra pit during "off" hours this week, and it is suspected Albert Weaver-Winston and his concert orchestra are planning something extra special.

"The Heart of Annie Wood" depicts the emotions arising in the heart of a pretty country girl who is endeavoring to pick between two sweethearts, one from the city and the other an old neighbor of the farm. The piece itself is novel, the setting an immense heart with a farm inset. At the concluding picture the heart contracts, producing something new in effects. There are nine musical numbers in the piece which fit nicely into the story, the lyrics outlining the plot.

Mme. Diana comes to Edmonton from the Chicago Grand Opera company and possess a wonderful voice and a wardrobe seldom equalled on the stage. She sings a repertoire ranging from the old time melodies to grand opera and has a charming personality that quickly wins the sympathies of the audience. She is a relative of R. A. Bonnar, K.C., a well known Winnipeg solicitor, and of Bonar Law. The high cost of gowns has evidently not bothered Mme. Bonnar unduly as her stage dresses are valued at $2,000 and she wears diamonds valued at $6,000.

A "peppy" girl act is Jarvis Footlight Revue, a take off on a show in a small town "opery" house. The skit boasts good principals and a splendid supporting chorus, with tuneful music and tasty costumes.

There is no better acrobat act on the vaudville stage today than the offering of the three Melvin brothers. They perform hazardous handstand feats with apparent ease. They have a real thriller for a climax, a dive from a spring board to a handstand on the hands of one of the performers.

It is some time since a blackfaced comedian has worked singly at the Pan. and audiences will be pleased to welcome Harry Van Fossen. He has a new line of patter, touching on prohibition, skirts and other timely subjects in a witty manner.

Pauline Frederick, Goldwyn star, has been chosen Queen of the California Raisin Carnival, which will be held at Fresno, Cal., the centre of the great raisin industry. This carnival, an annual event that attracts thousands of visitors every year, goes under the poetic title of "The Carnival of the Sun Maid." April 30 is the date named for this year's festivities. According to the plans outlined by the committee, Miss Frederick will enter Fresno at the head of the colorful pageant procession, which promises to be the most spectacular ever held in the west.

Quite Satisfied.

"Were you carefully brought up, my lad?" asked the merchant of the applicant for a situation.

"Yes, sir, I came up in the lift, sir," said the respectful youth

NEW BILLIE BURKE FILM, "WANTED, A HUSBAND," WILL BE AT EMPRESS NEXT WEEK

Comes for Three Days, Starting Thursday—Is Latest Picture Pretty Star Made Before Going Back to the Legitimate Stage

Billie Burke has temporarily deserted the movies for her first love, the stage. The star's last picture was "Wanted—A Husband," a comedy drama which will be shown at the Empire theatre during the last half of next week. Miss Burke is now playing the leading role in W. Somerset Maugham's play, "Caesar's Wife." However screen lovers need have no fear that their favorite has been lost to the silent drama permanently, as she recently made it quite plain that she will never abandon pictures.

"I have enjoyed working before the camera much," said Miss Burke at that time. "And as long as the better producing companies continue their present standards I shall keep up my picture work. In fact, I am looking forward to my re-appearance on the stage with no great confidence. I have been away so long, you know, that I really expect a worse attack of stage fright than I experienced at my dramatic debut. And please tell my friends among movie goers that it's not 'good-bye,' just 'au revoir.'"

"Wanted—A Husband," adapted from a story by Samuel Hopkins Adams is said to be the type of light romantic comedy that fits Miss Burke ideally. The central figure is a lazy, slovenly girl, who through the gibes of her companions and their success with the men folks, is led to a successful attempt to beautify herself. James L. Crane is the leading man. It is a Paramount-Artcraft picture.

A Mack Sennett comedy is on the program in addition.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

Winnipeg, April 30—Extraordinary light offerings again featured the market today. Cash oats were in good demand with spreads unchanged. Barley spreads were reported ½c lower to 1c better, with a fair demand for the low grades. Cash flax spreads were lower.

Oats closed 1⅝c higher for May, 1½c up for July and ⅛c higher for October; barley ⅜c higher for May and 1½c higher for July; flax ⅛c higher for May and 1⅝c lower for July; rye, 1⅝c higher for May.

May oats opened ⅝c higher at 110¼ and July unchanged to ¼c higher at 101¾ to 102.

May flax opened 1c higher at 505, and July ½c higher at 502.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, April 30—Wet weather likely to delay farm work led to upturns today in the price of corn. Bullish estimates of the winter wheat crop together with talk of a possible return to war bread tended also to lift the corn market. Demand, however, was only of a scattered sort. Opening quotations which ranged from ⅛ to 2c higher with May 173¾ to 174½ and July 162¾ to 163½ were followed by something of a reaction, but then by a fresh advance.

Oats had an upward slant with corn. After opening unchanged to ⅜c higher, including July at 88¼ to 88½, the market sagged a little and then hardened again.

Provisions averaged lower. Support was lacking.

Subsequently, month-end covering on the part of unlicensed shorts proved more than an offset for the bearish influence of stock market weakness, and rushed the price of May delivery up, swiftly at the last. Closing quotations were unsettled, two to five and a-half cents, net, higher, with May 177 to 178, and July 165 to 165½.

New York Stocks

(By W. Ross Alger & Co.

New York, April 30—Tomorrow's recess and more stringent credit conditions effected further unsettlement in the stock market today, although dealings were much reduced. Sales approximated 950,000 shares.

New York, April 30—The trend of prices was downward again at the dull opening of today's stock market, tomorrow's recess, with its attendant labor uncertainties, impelling further selling. Crucible steel, minus its stock dividend, was the central feature, falling 9½ points to 140. Losses of one to 2½ points accompanied the early dealings in American tobacco, united fruit, hide and leather preferred, and Chandler motor. Reading, Souther Pacific, Baldwin locomotive and several of the oils showed moderate improvement but United States steel soon declined a substantial fraction on renewed pressure.

Pooled stocks continued to be offered during the morning but standard shares indicated moderate support. An early rally in oils, steels, equipments and motors extended from one to seven points. Rails also improved on a demand for Reading, Southern Pacific, Texas and Pacific and Chicago Northwestern. Much if not all of this gain was cancelled before noon when General motors, American woolen, corn products, industrial alcohol and oils were subjected to greater pressure. Call money opened at 8 per cent., but it was generally expected that the rate would advance later. Liberty 3½'s at 92.40 and first 4's at 84.40 were at new low records.

Money became the overshadowing issue later call loans rising to 12 per cent. There had been irregular recoveries in steel, equipments, motors and oils, but the market soon lapsed into its previous state of heaviness, shippings also reacting sharply.

Rallies extending to full recoveries were made by many leaders in the last hour despite the further rise of call money to 15 per cent. The closing was steady.

IMPROVEMENT IN TRADE.

WINNIPEG, April 30.—Reports from all parts of Canada received by the Canadian Creditmens' Trust association, indicate an improvement in trade following better weather conditions. This is particularly noticeable in the east reports from Toronto, Montreal and St John, showing increased activity in wholesale and manufacturing quarters.

Winnipeg reports indicate wholesale business up to the average of 1919, but with the handicap of difficulty in obtaining goods, especially in drygoods and hardware. Retail trade is normal and reports on collections conflicting, some reports stating very good and others to the contrary.

Montreal states that wholesale houses show continued increase in sales, only complaint being shortage in supplies. Manufacturing centers are very active with prices for fall orders in the neighborhood of 25 per cent higher than same lines for this spring. Retail trade is improving although the weather is still unsettled.

Toronto reports wholesale grocery trade very good with prices firm. Drygoods trade fairly active. Clothing good in fall orders with prices higher owing to revision of wage scale in this industry. Manufacturing plants are operating to capacity and scarcity of help reported. In the retail trade, grocery business in very good, particularly in drygoods, men's wear, etc. Spring trade is, however, somewhat affected by continued cool weather.

In the west, Calgary wholesale grocery trade is about the same as last year, with delayed shipments owing to many washouts on railroads. Retail business is also about the average for the time of year, with city business and the sale of spring goods somewhat delayed on account of backward spring. This also applies to the Regina area.

TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE.

TORONTO, April 30.—The irregularity in the Canadian exchanges was particularly noticeable here today when, in spite of the increasing stringency of the money market, there was an inclination to higher prices. The action of Spanish River issues, after the announcement of the arrangement to pay off arrears on preferred, was of much interest.

There was a drop of 4½ points on the preferred, probably from disappointment that no cash disbursement would be made, but Spanish common, though it was stated that the question of a dividend on the common was not even discussed, dropped to 82, sold up to 85, with a loss of only 1⅞ points. Atlantic Sugar, another of the more speculative issues, had a sharp gain of 6½ points, carrying it again to 69¼.

There was marked action in the case of the three joint companies mentioned in the steel, coal and ship merger. Dominion Steel and Steamships common making small advances, while Steamships preferred lost a fraction.

Bank stocks grow in favor day by day, Royal Bank leading today with a gain of 6½ points to 230, though it sold at high as 231 in the morning.

Merchants was wanted at 197, the last sale a week earlier being at 189. Both banks have anounced a new stock issue. Loan and trust stocks are also attracting attention.

LONDON QUOTATIONS.

London, April 30—Closing bar silver, 64½d per ounce; bar gold, 109s, 6d; money, 4½ per cent.; discount rates, short bills, 5⅝ to 6 per cent.; three months' bills, 6⅝ to 6¾ per cent. Gold premiums at Lisbon, 140.

MONTREAL STOCKS.

Montreal, April 30—Spanish River, both common and preferred, were the big features of the local market during the first hour this morning.

The common dipped three points from last night's close, opening at 83. Under heavy trading, however, it gained fractionally until it reached 85, but reached ¼ point to 83⅝. The preferred opened at 132 and under good demand rose gradually to 135, which figure was only ½ point below Thursday night's close.

One of the Best Plows Sold in the West

With Q.D. Shares, Rolling Colters, Pole and Yoke. —No Eveners.

This is a well-built and easily operated plow with one-piece frame, in which the plow is hung with single bail, which with the oscillating attachment on the rear of beam allows the plow to adjust itself to any condition of the soil, and greatly reduces draft, with less strain on the frame. The seat is attached on left side of frame within easy reach of both levers. The land-wheel axle and bail being one piece, the lifting action is such that when the plow is raised out of the ground it becomes level, which is not the case with the double-bail plow. This is a feature commented on by users of U.G.G. Gangs.

FRENCH MINERS TO CONTINUE ON GENERAL STRIKE

This Is Announcement Made in Paris by Secretary of Miners' Union

Paris, April 30—Miners throughout France will continue the May Day demonstration into a general strike, in accordance with the decision of the railroad workers and the resolution of the General Labor Federation, according to an announcement made today by the secretary of the Miners' union.

Other unions are still awaiting orders from the federation in line with its declaration of solidarity of all branches of labor with the railroadmen's general strike, which was called to force nationalization of public utilities and the acceptance of other demands.

The morning's newspapers variously interpret the federation's promised "effective support" until definite orders to strike are issued by different trades unions. It is held there remains a way out for the federation in case the railway strike is begun under conditions that do not promise success.

The executive committee of the federation has declared its "entire sympathy and effective support," of the movement, but has not as yet issued orders for a continuation of the May Day demonstration.

DECLARES THAT CONDEMNED MAN INNOCENT

Anglican Chaplain at Jail Asserts That Great Injustice Has Been Done

Toronto, April 29—That George James Coppen, condemned to die on May 5 for murdering his wife, is an innocent man, is the statement of Rev. R. L. Brydges, Anglican chaplain at the Toronto jail, where Coppen awaits his doom. Mr. Brydges in a long statement in the papers, declares in his opinion, a grave miscarriage of justice and a grave judicial blunder will have been committed if the sentence is carried out.

A final effort to save Coppen from the gallows will be made tomorrow at Ottawa by Thomas A. Gibson, the condemned man's counsel, and Capt. the Rev. R. L. Brydges, who will ask Hon. C. J. Doherty, minister of justice, for a new trial for Coppen or executive clemency.

GOT REPRIEVES, 4 HOURS BEFORE THEIR EXECUTION

Four Men Saved From Gallows For Time by Confession Of One

Ossining, N. Y., April 29—Four men convicted of the murder of a Bronx subway agent, who were sentenced to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison late tonight, were granted a reprieve by Governor Smith four hours before the execution was to have taken place.

Announcement of the reprieve was made by Governor Smith at Albany, over the telephone, to Warden Lewis E. Lawes, at the prison.

The four men are Joseph Miltana, James Cassidy, Joseph Uscof and Charles McLoughlin. They were convicted of the murder of Otto Fialo, who was shot to death while attempting to prevent his assailants from robbing a subway station.

Miltano is alleged to have made a confession to Warden Lawes in which he asserted that he was alone responsible for the death of Fialo.

ONTARIO WOMAN LIVED IN REIGNS FOUR SOVEREIGNS

Lives Were Saved From Wreck of the Asia by a Mysterious Premonition

Silverwater, Ont., April 30—Mrs. Barbara Grubb, one of Silverwater's oldest residents, will celebrate her eighty-eighth birthday here tomorrow. She was born at Wick, Caithnesshire, Scotland, May 1, 1832, in the reign of William IV, thus living in the reign of four British sovereigns. She has outlived her six brothers and two sisters. She Married William Grubb in 1863. He was born April 5, 1826, in the reign of George IV, and died a few years ago. They left Scotland in 1865, living in Belfast, Ireland, till the spring of 1870, when they emigrated to Canada. They spent twelve prosperous years in Dundas, Ontario.

In 1882 they decided to move to Manitoulin Island, disposed of their property in Dundas, and sent household goods and personal effects to Owen Sound, where they were placed on the ill-fated steamer "Asia." It was their intention to leave Dundas in their one-horse wagon on Friday, Sept. 8, and drive to Owen Sound, where they were to take passage on the "Asia" on Wednesday, the 13th. However, Mrs. Grubb was seized with a mysterious premonition of impending disaster and refused to start till Sunday. They arrived in Owen Sound Thursday evening. The first person they met was a little boy hwo was crying because his father had sailed on the "Asia" the evening before. Fears were entertained for the safety of the steamer on account of the violent storm which had arisen. Her arrival at French River, the first port of call, had not been reported.

Mr. and Mrs. Grubb took passage on the next steamer. When they reached Gore Bay, Manitoulin Island, after an anxious voyage, their fears were confirmed. The "Asia" had gone down. Of crew and passengers numbering two hundred, there were but two survivors, who had drifted in an open boat for three stormy days without food or shelter.

The foundering of the "Asia" left Mr. and Mrs. Grubb almost penniless. There remained only a little that they had carried with them and the horse that had been worth $100 at Dundas. They now refused an offer of $20 for it, and shortly after lost it by drowning, the fate they themselves had so narrowly escaped.

With well-preserved faculties, Mrs. Grubb is still strong and active, frequently during the past year taking walks of from one to three miles.

For the YOUNG PEOPLE

NIMBLEWIT

Everybody was stupid in Turalee—everybody. You don't believe it? Well sirs, just look on the upper left-hand corner of Page 3 in the "History of Turalee" and see for yourselves. Everybody was stupid and everybody was rich except Nimblewit and he was only Boy-in-Waiting to the Third Assistant Butler in the ducal pantry, and all he had to do was to stir the right amount of sugar into the Duchess' coffee o' morning, and shake the salt on her chops at lunch, and the pepper into her soup at dinner.

Oh, that was lots more exciting than you might think. I should say so! For if he got a grain too much the Duchess sent for him promptly to box his ears—and she was a splendid boxer. Wasn't that curious? Life was hard for Nimblewit. Everybody was so stupid there was no one to laugh at his jokes, and his wages for being Boy-in-Waiting wouldn't pay anything more than a blouse long enough to cover the patch in his breeches. And what sort of a figure could he cut in that among all the rich people? Poor dear!

Then came the great day. No, the ducal palace didn't catch on fire, and Nimblewit didn't save the Duchess' pet canary from the flames, and the Duke didn't die and leave all his great fortune to the clever little boy in the pantry. Not a bit of it. But the Duchess lost her very most favorite diamond ring, and Nimblewit found it.

Aha, you're thinking, so that's the end of the story—he took the ring to the Duchess and got a huge fat reward. He did not!

"Wait a minute, Little Brother, wait a minute and let me think," he whispered softly to the gorgeous, sparkling jewel. And he thought and thought and bless you—bang! A brilliant idea hit him just between the eyes on the spot. "Oh," cried Nimblewit, and "joy, Little Brother, joy!" and he seized the idea by the left hand leg and dashed with it to the palace kitchen just long enough to get some tarts and a flagon of wine and then off he sped to the wood beyond the garden.

The tarts were neatly wrapped in linen and Nimblewit dug a hole under a linden tree and buried them. On he ran to a tall pine tree and under that he buried the flagon of wine. Last of all he came to a monster oak and under that he buried the Duchess' very most favorite ring. Such a beauty it was! "Lie there Little Brother," whispered Nimblewit and make my fortune for me."

Not many hours later the Duchess and the Duke set out for a walk. The day was a tiny bit warm and so they sent for Nimblewit to walk before them as Chief-Waver-of-the-Family-Fan. Now of all the stupid people in Turalee the Duke and the Duchess were quite the stupidest. In fact they had set the fashion of being stupid in that country. Of course, they were much too stupid to decide where they would walk themselves, and so it was simple for Nimblewit to lead them straight to the wood where he had buried his treasures—simple, mind you but not easy. For Nimblewit was obliged to walk backward in order to fan Their Disgraces and what with trying to follow the path to the wood without seeing it and yet walking fast enough to escape ticking the ducal noses with his long feather fan, he toppled over several times and had to wait until his jaws were boxed for his clumsiness before proceeding.

But at last they came to the wood and passed by the linden tree. Then a bird began to sing. "Eh?" cried Nimblewit, stopping so suddenly that he almost upset Their Disgraces. "What are you saying Your Honor? I am a thousand times obliged to you for telling me! I thank you—in the name of the Duke and the Duchess."

"Villain," shrieked the Duchess "what are you jabbering to this bird about? How dare you thank anyone for me?"

"Six hundred pardons Your Disgrace," said Nimblewit, "but the little bird told me that there were tarts buried under the linden tree, and thinking that you might." Off he darted, down into the earth he dug, and up he came triumphantly, with the beautiful dish of tarts to set before them.

"Dearme howodd!" said the Duke, and he ate one.

"Myword howqueer!" said the Duchess, and ate another.

And on they strolled. Fancy—as soft earth! —6N6N' PCKP rs(lll ET if nothing unusual had happened at all.

But just when the tarts were beginning to make them thirsty, they passed beneath the pine tree and a second little bird began to carol.

"Were you speaking to me, sir?" inquired Nimblewit harking. "What are you telling me? Why how nice of you! I shall do so at once."

"Idiot!" shrilled the Duchess, "who are you talking to now. Answer this minute."

"To yonder bird, Your Disgrace," said Nimblewit humbly, "and seven hundred pardons, but he says there is a flogan of wine buried under this pine, and if you don't mind," away he sped; right and left he sent the soft earth flying and in a minute he was back with the flagon of wine.

"Dearme howodd," said the Duke and he took a long draught.

"Myword howqueer," sighed the Duchess, and took another long draught, and again they strolled on quite as if flagons of wine grew beneath every tree the whole world over. Such stupids!

And then they passed the oak tree and a third little bird burst into song.

"Oh, oh," shouted Nimblewit, "Oh joy, Your Grace. He says that your ring is beneath this oak tree." And without waiting for permission he bounded to the spot where he had buried the very most favorite ring and dug it up again.

When the Duke and Duchess saw the beautiful jewel, for once they were shaken out of their stupidity. "You darling thing," cried the Duchess, throwing her arms around the neck of the Boy-in-Waiting to the Third Assistant Butler, and she kissed him bang on both cheeks.

And as for the Duke—dukes don't do that sort of thing, you know—he made Nimblewit Manager-in-General of Everything-in-Particular in Turalee on the spot. From that minute Nimblewit was so rich and important that he dared to undertake curing Turalee of stupidity. And they say—in fact, I'm sure it's all down in history, that Nimblewit did it, too; so well, that today you would look the whole world over for a dukedom full of smarter folk than Turalee.

With the Beautiful Dish of Tarts to Set Before Them.

The depreciation of American currency today is nothing to be compared with the slump in confederate paper money after the Civil War. General Mulholland relates that shortly after Lee's surrender he heard two confederate soldiers bargaining over a very ordinary looking horse. "He'll do for my farm, Jim," said one. "I'll give you $20,000 for him." "No," said the other. "Give you $50,000." "No." "Give you $100,000." "Not much!" replied the owner. "I just paid $120,000 to have him shod."

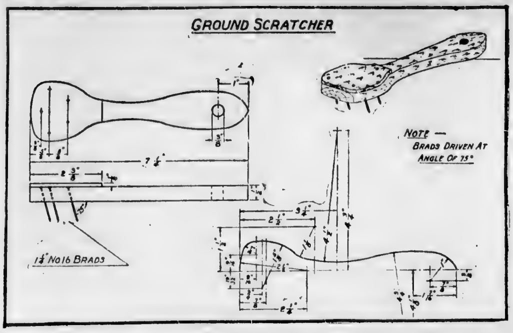
TOYS AND USEFUL ARTICLES THAT A BOY CAN MAKE.

BY FRANK I. SOLAR,

INSTRUCTOR, DEP'T OF MANUAL TRAINING, PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF DETROIT.



For those who have a small garden in which either vegetables or flowers are planted this ground scratcher will be found very useful. And you will, no doubt, want to make several after you have made and used the first one.

But this model is very good for another purpose and I would like to have every boy who is following these articles lay out the pattern even if he does not intend to make the model. If you have given the toys and other irregular shaped models special thought you have noticed that the forms were laid out in squares. This method is a good one for beginners and not the one used by mechanics in laying out their work. For this reason it will be good practice to try the mechanics way and lay out the work from center lines.

If you have a drawing board the pattern can be laid out on a piece of heavy paper using the tee square and triangles to make the center lines It is not necessary, however, to use the drawing board as any small board with one straight edge will do. Begin by drawing a center line parallel to the straight edge of the board and then use the common try square to erect the perpendiculars to the center line. If a piece of paper is fastened on the board on which to make the pattern it will only be necessary to make one half the pattern as it can be cut and a complete pattern traced from it.

No one drawing contains all the dimensions or information required to make the pattern so every drawing will have to be studied. After drawing the main center line locate the ends of the pattern on this line seven and one-quarter inches apart. Next from these points locate and draw the perpendiculars. Set the pencil compass at two and one-half inches and draw an arc, reset to seven-sixteenth inch and draw another connecting with the first then one and five-eighths inches, one and one-eighth inches, four and one-half inches, four and three-quarter inches, and one inch. Note that the center for the arc made by the four and three-quarters inches radius is located one and seven-sixteenth inches from the end and four and one-eighth inches below. Touch up the places where the different arcs join, free hand and cut the pattern.

Plane up a piece of wood to the required thickness and on it trace around the pattern. Use a coping saw to cut to form and finish with a file and sandpaper.

Bore a hole in the handle. Bore from both sides so the wood around the hole will not split out. Locate the points at which to drive the brads or scratchers and drive at about the angle indicated. If the angle at which the brad comes through does not look right it can be bent to suit with a pair of pliers.

Make the thin cap that covers the heads of the brads. This is necessary to keep the brade from working loose and pushing up through the handle. the cap may be braded in place but it is suggested that holes be bored and it be fastened to the handle with small round head screws. The cap can be traced from the first part made so it will be exactly the same shape.

With sandpaper round all edges nicely especially the handle so the sharp corners will not bother the user while working.

WEENTY'S MAY DAY

It was a nice warmish evening and a very particular one at that for the next day would be the first of May when all the little flowers should be out at last.

There was the little budded twig of the maple tree tapping and tapping at Weenty's nursery window as if it were impatient for tomorrow. It tapped so loudly, at last that Weenty, who was asleep in her little crib, sat up with surprise.

Tap, tap-" went the maple twig. Dear, dear, I do wish the sun would come out again! I haven't light enough to finish my leaves with and tomorrow is May Day;"

Be patient," said a voice that sounded to Weenty something like the rustle of the maple itself. Everything will come in time and your leaves will finish all the sooner for a little rest."

Weenty peeped over the back of her crib.

They're talking!" she said to herself and was just climbing out of bed when Mr. Rabbit's familiar hippityhop sounded on the roof. In another moment he was in the room.

They were talking!" Weenty whispered excitedly, putting her mouth close to Mr. Rabbit's long ear. "The tree talked to the twig. I heard them!"

"Um-m" said Mr. Rabbit, 'that's not astonishing a bit."

"And the twig's most afraid it won't have its leaves in time for May Day. They're only weeny little green nubbinses yet. Do you think they will be on time, Mr. Rabbit?"

'Of course they will," Mr. Rabbit assured Weenty. "That's the way with the Vegetable Kingdom, they go into all sorts of flusters over nothing at all. The wood fairies are always putting things off till the last moment—a dreadful habit—and then get into a great state trying to catch up with themselves."

"O, I wish I could see them!" Weenty cried.

"Do you indeed? Well, you shall, then. We can go down to the Dewy woods as the moon is nice and bright," Mr. Rabbit said.

"O Mr. Rabbit, what fun! And can I help them do you think?" Weenty asked, as she was a thoughtful little girl, and always looking for a good turn to do someone or other. That is one of the reasons, I believe, that makes the fairies like her so.

"You might be able to help," Mr. Rabbit answered. "Come, hop on my back and we will be off.

Weenty got on Mr. Rabbit's back and away they went to Dewy woods which lies there and back again from Fairyland, so I have been told.

What a busy scene it was, to be sure! Little elves dashing about blowing with all their might to get the flowers opened, little painter fairies busily putting finishing touches on petals, more fairies uncurling leaves and pulling the grasses up to the proper length!

Mr Rabbit introduced Weenty to their chief who was busily writing on a long leaf. She nodded to Weenty in a friendly way.

'I'm taking the census." she explained. 'We are all rather busy this evening. How would you like to sit up on the stone out of the way."

"She wants to help," Mr. Rabbit spoke up.

The head fairy smiled happily.

"That's nice of you, I'm sure. How would you like to count the minnows in that pond, there?"

"I'll try," Weenty said willingly and ran to the pond. There were the minnows, millions of them they looked. Poor Weenty started to count but it was hard work for they were not still a minute. How they flashed here and there!

'One!" Weenty counted, "Two—dear me! Which are they I wonder! I guess I shall have to catch each one and label them somehow!"

She was quite busy at the minnows when a little thump on her back almost sent her into the pond. She looked around quickly and there was a little elf no bigger than a minute puffing beside her.

"Excuse" — puff—"me—hoo-o. I've lost my"—puff—"breath," he said between panting.

"O, that's all right," Weenty answered. "You arn't hurt, are you?"

"No,O, no," the elf replied, "just breathed. This dandelion is the hardest thing in the world to open. I've blown and blown and blown!"

"Perhaps I can do it," Weenty said, "shall I try?"

"Thank you, yes, do," the little elf replied gratefully. "I declare it's a hard flower to open."

Well, Weenty thought she mustn't fail in blowing though she couldn't count minnows so she took the deepest breath she possibly could and blew.

"Whiff!" went Weenty, and open blew the flower shining and bright but, much to her dismay, away went the little elf, too, blown quite off his feet and Kersplash! into the pond head over heels.

"O!" cried Weenty in dismay as she helped the little elf out.

"I see the dandelion and all its family have come open, Miss Southern Gale—I must call you that you are such a good blower. I thank you. My name is Luck."

"My name's Weenty, but you can call me just what you wish," Weenty said, "I'm glad I did help, anyway, and that you aren't angry with me for getting you a ducking."

"Why should I be?" Luck asked. "You only meant to do me a good turn, and did, too. I would be a foolish person to pout about a mishap, and, mostly probably, I wouldn't be called Luck any more, because Luck always has a smiling face, that's what makes me lucky. But what can I do for you? Turn about's fair play, you know."

"I've rather a hard piece of work," Weenty replied a little thoughtfully, "I have to count the minnows, they're ever so many and I can only count to ten!"

Luck laughed. "Well, that is funny!" he observed. "It's really not as hard as you make it. The minnows can count themselves. I'll show you. He leaned over the edge of the pond.

"Minnows, form into hundreds," he directed and immediately the minnows divided themselves into groups. "There now, count," cried Luck.

"One, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine," counted Weenty.

"Thank you, Mr. Luck," Weenty said, "and can I go along with you and help blow the hard ones for you? I shall be more careful."

"Fine," cried Luck, "let's away! And I shall hold on to the grass when you blow."

It was great fun and Weenty took a hand at pulling the grasses, too, using a bit of twig to measure the right length.

"We'll make a wreath for her," the fairies said after they were through with their work. "She's such a helpful child!"

So they wove her a lovely crown of the choicest flowers and joining hands danced around her singing as they danced. And this was their song:

"The first of May!
The first of May!
When little children dance and play!
We love the children every one
And Weenty who so much has done
We'll crown our Queen today."

Mr. Rabbit came hopping up as they danced about.

"We'll have to be going home!" he cried over the fairies' voices.

Weenty stood up and bowed to the fairies.

"Thank you," she said. "for your nice song. I have enjoyed helping you ever so much. It is quite as much fun as play."

All the fairies helped her on Mr. Rabbit's back and Weenty kissed her hands to them as she rode of looking for all the world like a fairy Princess with her crown of flowers.

At the window she begger Mr. Rabbit to stop a moment.

"I must really help this twig to uncurl its leaves, now that I know how," she said. The maple tree seemed to rustle its approval and after Mr. Rabbit tucked her into her crib, the rustling sounded like a little lullaby.

And were the leaves uncurled next morning. And were the flowers all ready for the children on May Day? Yes, indeed they were, and Weenty is wondering yet if there ever was a Mister Luck and if grasses are pulled up by fairies.

ROBERT BROWNING

Born May 7, 1812.

You have all heard the story of the Pied Piper of Hamlin who charmed the rats with his funny tune, and perhaps many of you would like to read the tale for yourselves. It has been put into very charming verse by the poet, Robert Browning, whose one hundred and eighth birthday anniversary is celebrated on the seventh of next month. Browning was born in London on the seventh of May, 1812, and when he was still very young he began to compose verses. When he was quite little he enjoyed the advantage of much foreign travel and through his travels he imbibed much of the interesting bits of fact and fiction that most boys and girls get only by the dint of hard study. When Browning was nineteen years of age his verses were already being published. And considerable interest they drew towards the young man who had written them.

Browning was a deep thinker and often he tried to put more thought into his words than they could hold. For that reason some people find his poems hard to understand. Some of Browning's verses, however, are soul stirring poems which live forever in the literature of the English speaking world. When Browning was 34 years of age, he met and fell in love with a very charming lady, Elizabeth Barrett, whose verses had won for her much fame. She returned the poet's affection and these kindred souls were married. Their courtship and marriage are perhaps the basis of the most beautiful love story and romance ever enacted by real people. After the Brownings were married they went to Italy to live in an old palace, which stands on the Grand Canal in Venice and there Robert Browning spent the last days of his noteworthy life. On the day that his last book of verses was published the poet died. His body was taken back to England and placed with due ceremony in Westminster Abbey, on the last day of the year 1889.

A 300-pound mechanic employed in the car barns of the street railway in Los Angeles was drafted for a part in the New Rupert Hughes comedy, "Scratch My Back," an Eminent Authors' production now being filmed at the Goldwyn studios. Director Sidney Olcott wanted a big fellow to play the role of a street car passenger you often meet, the kind that is known and hated generally as "the street car hog," in other words the man who tries to occupy at least two seats at one time and insists on stretching his legs comfortably in the aisle so that everyone will fall over them.

The Junior Cook

CAULIFLOWER SERVED WHOLE.

Wash a head of cauliflower and let stand head down in a pan of salted water for about an hour. (This will clean the flowerlets and draw out any lurking insects.)

Put three cupfuls of water on in a saucepan and bring to a boil.

Put the cauliflower into the boiling water the flowerlet side up. This allows the tough stems to cook in the water so they will be tender and edible and at the same time cooks the flowerlets by steam only so the fine flavor is retained.

Cook for about 25 minutes. A very small head will cook in less time and a very large head will need about 7 minutes more.

When cooked, lift the head very carefully from the water into a serving bowl. Put the head right side up in the dish.

Shake a bit of salt, paprika on the head, dot with butter and serve at once.

Stuck to It.

While crossing the railway at a level crossing a horse and trap was run down by a train. In the ensuing action for damages one of the most important witnesses was the signal man in charge of the crossing. But he stuck tightly to his story, in spite of a severe cross-examination. He persisted that he had wived his lantern frantically, but in vain, to the driver of the trap. "You did excellently, Tom," the superintendent told him afterwards. "I was a bit afraid at first you might waver." 'No, sir, not me!' said the old man proudly. "But I felt a bit nervous that that lawyer bloke would ask me if the lantern was lighted."

The Junior U. F. A. gave their entertainment on Thursday, 15th April, to an appreciative audience. Miss Emila Hodgins, president, called the meeting to order and said a few words as to the aims of the association. She then resigned the chair to Mr. I. D. Sword, who fulfilled his duties in his usual genial and efficient manner. Mrs. Gillies kindly lent her piano for this occasion, so a number of youthful pianists were enabled to make their first public appearance. Misses E. Hodgins, Jessie and Eva Sword, Violet Latam, Christie Matheson, Flo and May Williams played solos and duets in a very creditable manner. Tom Williams and Joe Reynolds played lively tunes on third violins very well indeed; Albert Bready and Bobby Joy were fine on their mouth-organs. Mr. Lester Harrison kindly contributed two violin solos to help the younger ones along. Misses E. Hodgins, May and Flo Williams, May Wardrop, Christie LeClare sang. Rose and Mavis Sword, two very small girls in dainty costume, sang a duet which brought down the house, their looks and actions were so cute. Alan Hodgins was very funny with his telephone spiel and Albert Bready recited very well. Christie LeClare gave a sweet little piece in a very dainty way. Annie Scott was really dramatic in her long piece, and made a genuine hit with her funny little encore. Alan Hodgins, Walter Joy, Archie and Flo Williams, Arthur and Margaret Hansen took part in dialogues in first class style. A very pretty drill by Flo Williams, Margaret, Gladys and Elaine Hansen closed a program enjoyed by all those present.

On the evening of Friday, the 16th, Mr. and Mrs. Crummer entertained a large party of friends in honor of the marriage of their daughter, Mary, to Mr. Clark McMahon. The young couple motored from Edmonton, where the ceremony was performed by the Rev. D. J. Graham in the presence of a few intimate friends. A very pleasant time was spent and good wishes were showered on the happy pair ,many of the guests having known the bride from childhood. Many useful and handsome gifts were on view, including a silver tea service from the office staff of the H. B. C., and a complete china tea set from the Marshall Wells Co., by which firm the bridegroom has been employed since leaving school. About midnight Mr. and Mrs. McMahon left for Edmonton, where they will reside.

On the way home from the junior concert on the 15th, Mrs. Grayson's cutter unfortunately upset and threw her and her small son into a water hole. They were both thoroughly soaked with the icy water and have been confined to bed with severe colds, Mrs. Grayson narrowly escaping pneumonia. They are now on the mend.

Mrs. P. Hanlan has moved into Mrs. Lucy Hanlan's house on Copenhagen ave.

Alexander Bros. had two cattle killed on the track, and Mr. Haggart two killed within a week near the same spot.

Harry Tomlinson returned from the hospital last week. He had an abscess removed from his head, and for a time was in a critical state, but appears to have made a good recovery. His mother, Mrs. E. Tomlinson ,is improving after her serious operation, but is still very sick.

Miss Mabel Garbe is going to teach in the Glen Garden school for a time.

The U. F. W. A. dance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sword was a very jolly affair and well attended, parties from Brookville, Partridge Hill and other distant points braving the bad roads knowing the good time would make them forget the dangers they had passed. The U. F. W. A. dances resemble big family parties, as those attending are now old familiar friends. Thanks are due to Mrs. Sword for her kindness in turning her home upside down, but the enjoyment of all made her feel it was well worth the trouble.

That "winter lingering chills the lap of May" looks like being a solid fact this year, though spring must be coming for many of the birds are back. The cattle are picking over the bare patches of stubble, but quite a lot of snow still lies on the fields. However, the grass is showing signs of life and a few warm days would help things along. Some farmers hope to get on the land by the end of this week.

Mr. Pat Sharp intends to work with Mr. Geo. Ottewell on the farm just west of East Clover Bar school, using his own outfit, and will also put in the crop on his farm north of Ardrossan.

Polish and Ukrainian Troops Driving Towards Kiev Occupy Town of Mal.n 60 Miles Northwest

Bolsheviki Are Rushing New Divisions to Reinforce the Twelfth Soviet Army—Bolshevist Forces Are Making Stubborn Stand Along Right Bank of the Bug River.

Warsaw. April 30—(Associated Press)—Polish and Ukrainian troops driving toward Kiev, have occupied the town of Malin, onthe railroad about sixty miles northwest of Kiev. The advance is continuing toward the Dnieper river, except on the southern sector of the front, where the Russian Bolsheviki forces are making a stand along the right bank of the Bug river and are fighting stubbornly.

The Bolsheviki are rushing the fifth and eighth divisions from the Caucasus region to reinforce the twelfth soviet army, which has its headquarters at Kiev. In an action which resulted in the occupation of the village of Kozatin, southwest of Zhitomir, Polish cavalry captured 2,000 prisoners, 10 cannon, one tank and the colors of the 5t8h Bolsheviki division. Aeroplanes, armored trains and automobiles are being used by the Poles and crack cavalry divisions have been brought into action. Posen troops, which fought during the great war in the German army, are engaged in the advance.

A wireless communication regarding the Polish offensive has been sent to Polish newepapers by the press bureau of the soviet foreign office. It asserts the Bolsheviki are not yet defeated, and have not changed their peace intentions.

"In view of the fact that Poles and the Russian soviet government have been unable to agree regarding the proposed meeting of the peace conference at Borisov" the note says, "the soviet government is willing to meet Polish delegates at Grodno or Bialystok, near Warsaw, if the Poles will agree upon a date."

CINNA WINNER ONE THOUSAND GUINEAS STAKES

Big Event at Newmarket for Fillies That Were Foaled in 1917

Newmarket. Eng., April 30—The classic One Thousand Guineas stakes was won here today by Sir R. W. B. Jardine's Cinna. Lord Roseberry's Valescure was second, and Baron Rothschild's Cicerole third. Twenty-one horses ran.

The second of the five "classic" races, the One Thousand Guineas, is run over the same course at Newmarket as the Two Thousand of last Wednesday, the Rowley mile, but is confined to fillies foaled in 1917..

At this season of the year fillies often do not show their true form and this race, quite as often as not, is won by a moderate animal. One must go back to Pretty Polly's year, 1904, when St. Amant won both the 2,000 and the Derby, but Major Eustace Loder's great mare after winning the 1000 and Oaks, turned the tables in the St. Leger ,achieving a notable victory. The year before that, Sceptre, perhaps the finest mare ever bred for racing on the flat ,won the 2,000, the 1,000, the Oaks and St Leger, the Derby going to Ard Patrick. In 1892 Lafleche won the 1,000, the Oaks and the St. Leger. Of recent years Tagalie, in 1912, won the 1,000 and went on to Epsom to win the Derby, while in 1914 Princess Dorrie won both the 1,000 and the Oaks.

RLY. COMMITTEE REFUSES TO GRANT CHARTER TO COY.

Application of Pabos and Edmunston Railway Turned Down by 31 to 29

Ottawa, April 29—By a majority of only two votes, the railway committee of the house of commons today refused to grant a charter to the Pabos and Edmunton railway company to construct a 248-mile road through to interior of the Gaspe peninsula.

A number of members, led by Dr. J. D. Reid, minister of railways, took the stand that such a road could not be built and maintained as an independent line and the government would be almost inevitably compelled to take over the road later on to make it go or at least to subsidize it. "The day of subsidies is gone, I think," said Dr. Reid amidst great applause in the committee. He said that the provinces should make themselves responsible for such railway charters, as a factor in the development of natural resources.

The vote by which the application was rejected was 31 against 29 supporting.

SHOT MAN AT REQUEST OF HIS FATHER

Quebec, April 30—(Canadian Press) —"It was a lover of mother's, and I shot him. I am not afraid, I will not be hanged for this. Father told me to fire and I fired."

Such was the statement made by Romeo Remillard, aged 20 years, whose trial for the murder of Lieutenant Lucien Morisette, began at the criminal assizes here today.

The above statement was made to him after the shooting on the morning of January 28, Dr. Romeo Roy, of Levis, asserted on the witness stand.

Following the shooting both Romeo Remillard and his father, Joseph Remillard, were placed under arrest and were later held on the charge of murder. The father will stand trial immediately after the son

FAVORS TENTERS IN EFFORTS TO AVOID HIGH RENTS

Mayor Gray of Winnipeg Thinks That City Should Be Lenient Towards Them

Winnipeg, April 29—That he was in complete sympathy with persons desiring to establish themselves in tents and shacks during the summer months to get away from high rents and housing difficulties, was the statement of Mayor Gray today. "The city," he said, "should be very lenient with regard to the placing of tents and shacks, particularly on and along the river bank. Citizens should not be forced to comply with all the civic regulations at such a time as this when it is impossible to secure sufficient accommodation."

Halifax, N.S., April 29—(Canadian Press)—Last year the provincial revenue was $3 280,313.42, the first time since confederation that it has soared above the three million dollar mark, and this year it will move up to approximately $4,008,133.80.

SUB-COMMITTEE WILL MEET AT WASHINGTON.

New York, April 29—The subcommittee of miners and operators seeking to negotiate a working agreement for the Anthracite coal field, announced late today it had accepted an invitation from Secretary of Labor Wilson to hold its next meeting at his office in Washington Saturday. This invitation, it was reported, prevented breaking off negotiations.

CARMANGAY TOWN HAS $40,000 FIRE

Lethbridge, Alta., April 30—The town of Carmangay, Alta., was visited by a $40,000 fire, which started at 4.30 Friday morning in a poolroom. Eight business places were wiped out.

Mending is One of Mother's Multiplicity of Duties

Unfortunately, it is usually necessary for the busy mother to leave the mending until some quiet hour when the children have been got off to bed. This necessitates working by artificial light, with unusual straining of the eyes.

It is this straining of the eyes which makes one feel so tired after mending, sewing, shopping, or doing fancy work.

When you think of how constantly the eyes are employed, and of the continual changing of the focus to suit the distance of the object viewed, you may not be surprised to know that the optic nerve consumes an enormous amount of nervous energy.

For this reason straining of the eyes brings on fatigue, and often leads to nervous breakdown.

There is no magical way by which exhausted nerves can be restored

It takes time and patience in order that the depleted nerve cells may be nourished back to health and vigor, but you may be sure of satisfactory results if you use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food regularly.

We know that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is composed of the vital substances which go to the upbuilding of the nervous system. We have the utmost confidence in its curative properties, because we have seen it tested in so many thousands of cases. But how are we going to prove this to you unless you try it? You are the one to be benefited, so it remains for you to make the test.

Try it when you feel tired out and discouraged. Try it for sleeplessness and irritability. Try it for nervous headache and indigestion. It is not a mere relief, for this reason you must persevere in its use until the lost vigor is restored to the nerves. The fact that the results are both thorough and lasting will encourage you to continue the use of this food cure until you feel strong and well.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto. The portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., are on every box of the genuine.

MINSTREL MEN SPREAD SMILES WITH HARMONY

Plenty of Pep in Gus Hill Production on Its Way Here

A treat is in store for patrons of the Empire theatre shortly when an aggregation of burnt-cork artists will be on the boards. These Gus Hill minstrel men spread smiles and harmony and are winning new successes all along the line. Here is what the Akron Press had to say about them

Mirth and harmony as dispersed by the Gus Hill minstrels, delighted a Grand Opera House audience. There is plenty of pep to the bill, the company is large and capable and the attraction wholly satisfactory. The engagement concludes at the night performance today.

The first part is an elaborately staked performance of old time minstrelsy. There are novelties for the second part and the production concluded with a satirical scream, "The Blackville Hyfliers."

The principal comedian is the old favorite, George Wilson, who is there with a new line of smile provokers that are irresistible. Wilson kept the audience clinging to their seats, and alone was a show. There were in addition a host of other entertainers including dancers like Jack Kennedy Jimmy Brady, Jack Hayes, Joe Riley, Jigger Marr, and Joe Clooney.

DOUBLE BEAUTY OF YOUR HAIR

"Danderine" creates mass of thick, gleamy waves

In a few moments you can transform your plain, dull, flat hair. You can have it abundant, soft, glossy and full of life. Just get at any drug or toilet counter a small bottle of "Danderine" for a few cents. Then moisten a soft cloth with the "Danderine" and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Instantly, yes, immediately, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will be a mass, so soft, lustrous and so easy to do up. All dust, dirt and excessive oil is removed.

Let Danderine put more life, color, vigor, and brightness in your hair. This stimulating tonic wil freshen your scalp, check dandruff and falling hair and help your hair to grow long, thick, strong and beautiful.

DEAN OF MOODY BIBLE INSTITUTE WILL VISIT CITY

Dr. James M. Gray Will Be in Edmonton on May 12-16—An Eminent Teacher

Dr. James M. Gray, Dean of the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, will pay a first visit to Edmonton May 12-16. The city does not often welcome such an eminent and well-known teacher, author, and preacher. His position as Dean of the notable Institute, which serves many denominations, as it equips and sends forth ministers, evangelists, missionaries, to fields at home and abroad, alone, is one of marked influence. Dr. Gray is an outstanding and fearless exponent of the full message of God's Word. His articles on prophecy in the widely read Christian Herald have brought enlightenment to many questioning hearts during these recent stressful years.

The last week of March, Dr. Gray was a leading speaker at a Toronto Bible Conference. Many a return visit follows his ministry to the largest centres. In the First Presbyterian Church in Seattle, last year, an immense audience, in the words of a hearer, gave unequalled attention, leaning forward to catch every word of the wonderful message then delivered. The greatest Book, with its marvellous truths as the theme, no hearer will be disappointed, who uses the golden opportunity now offered them in this city.

The Sunday meetings, May 16th, will be held (D.V.) in Allen theatre. The week day addresses will be given in some of the city churches, places announced later. Sankey's hymns will be used at the Sunday meetings.

Stuffy Head Cleared of Catarrh Germs by "Catarrhozone"

To catarrh victims we have just one word of advice—cure it now. The remedy is "Catarrhozone." That it will cure permanently you cannot doubt. Catarrhozone has cured thousands; it will cure you, too.

It acts in two ways: First, it destroys the germ—that checks the progress of the disease. Its second action is to heal the sore places the germs caused. Nice to think of breathing little drops of healing to every part of the lungs, bronchial tubes and nasal passages. It is such absolute thoroughness that makes Catarrhozone so effective in grippe, catarrh and colds. Then by its sedative influence upon the mucous surface it clears away the cough and throat tenderness very quickly. We owe something to a science that has given us Catarrhozone—that wonderful remedy which so surely enables us to permanenty cure disease of the breathing apparatus. We all know that stomach dosing is useless, and this departure in the mode of treatment is an advance in medical science that everybody can appreciate any case of catarrh, asthma, bronchial or throat troubles, lasts three months, price $1.00; smaller size, 50c; trial size, 25c; sold everywhere.

NEW MINISTER WILL CARRY OUT MACKAY POLICIES

Hon. Mr. Mitchell Outlines His Plans in Connection With Portfolio

DELAYS TRIP EAST

The department of municipal affairs and of health will be administered along much the same lines as under the late minister, Hon. A. G. MacKay, according to a statement of Hon. C. R. Mitchell, the newly appointed minister.

Mr. Mitchell has gone pretty well around among the cabinet positions. In 1910 he left the bench, being district court judge at Calgary to enter the government as attorney-general and minister of education; two years later he was made minister of public works and the following year was made provincial treasurer which position he has held ever since.

Mr. Mitchell states that he will as far as practicable carry out the policies in the departments of municipal affairs and of health, particularly along the lines of the legislation of the past two years, and as put into operation by the late minister. It was yet too early, said Mr. Mitchell to give any detailed expression of opinion regarding the future of the work, as necessarily he would need to familiarize himself with the details of the organization and work before taking any definite steps..

But generally speaking both departments would be conducted with as little change as possible. Owing to the close connection of the treasury with the other departments of the government service, the new minister has a general knowledge of the new departments, especially so far as the financial provision for carrying out their policies is concerned.

Will Delay Trip East.

Mr. Mitchell expects to delay his contemplated trip to Eastern Canada for a week or ten days, in order to get in working touch with the new departments.

The board for the equalization of taxation is being called together immediately by the chairman, J. H. Lamb, states the minister ,and that work will be under way almost at once.

Mr. Mitchell says that the routine work of the treasury department has always been comparatively light, and this will give him freedom to devote a fair measure of his time to the other departments.

Arranging Loan Issue.

The provincial treasurer is now busy making arrangements for the impending loan issue for approximately $3,000,000. The government is still undecided as to whether the bonds will provide for payment in the States as well as Canada, or in Canada alone. If the latter provision is adopted it will mean that the province will be unable to take advantage of the present high premium on American funds coming into Canada, but this would be offset by the necessity of paying a premium on the semi-annual interest payments and if the exchange had not righted itself by the time the bonds matured, the discount on the repayment of the principal sum would form a very material item of expense, and to that extent would offset the advantages obtained by selling in the United States.

On the other hand, if the bonds were floated in Canada, with Canadian payment only, the rate of interest would be higher ,but would be fixed throughout the term of the bonds and not subject to the fluctuation of exchange.

POLISH THREAT AGAINST KIEV SOVIET ADMITS

Bolsheviki Forces Driven Back Toward Dniper River Along Wide Front

London, April 30—The loss of Zhitom'r, 80 miles south west of Kiev, to the Poles is admitted in an official statement sent out today by the soviet government at Moscow. The message also refers to a Polish threat against Kiev.

Warsaw, April 30—General Pilsudsky, as commander-in-chief, is leading the Polish army in its drive toward the Dnieper river, which begun last Monday. By the capture of Owrucz, Zhitomir and other railroad centres, the Poles now control the two main lines leading to Kiev. Shitmor was taken after a brief but fierce fight. The Poles announce that the Bolsheviki 58th infantry and 17th cavalry d'visions were destroyed in the combats in this region. The Bolsheviki then began a general retreat, offering resistance only at a few scattered points. Many prisoners and much mater'al were taken, the material including sixteen locomotives and two thousand railway cars. Along the three hundred kilometre front the advance is continuing.

VERDICT CHEERED BY SINN FEINERS

Duncalk, Ireland, April 30—The coroner's jury conducting an inquest into the death of Thomas Mulholland who was shot on a street here on April 16 and died an hour after the shooting, returned a verdict Thursday that "death was due to a bullet fired without justification and with intent to kill by Sergeant Bustard." The verdict was wildly cheered by the Sinn Feiners present.

A police witness testified that, while a patrol was passing along the street, its members were attacked by a body of men three times their number. Sergeant Bustard readily admitted that he had fired to hit.

London, April 29—A gallery mob broke up the first production of J. Hartley Manners' play "A Night in Rome," at the Garrick theatre tonight. The curtain was lowered soon after the start of the second act. BUENOS AYRES WORK TO STRIKE MAY 1.

Buenos Ayres, April 30—All grades affiliated with the regional workers' federation will take part in a 24-hour strike which will be one of the features of the May 1 labor demonstration here. Other labor organizations plan to cease work for half a day, while the railway federation has ordered its members to stop all trains for five minutes at noon Saturday as evidence of solidarity with the labor movement.

Atlantic City, N.J., April 29—The chamber of commerce of the United States, at the closing session of its eighth annual convention here tonight urged that a treaty of peace "should be placed in effect without further delay," and adopted a resolution opposing a cash bonus for soldiers but favoring immediate provision for disabled or sick soldiers or their dependents.

To Keep the Face Fresh, Clear, Youthful

More important than the cosmetic care of the complexion is its physical care. To keep the face clean, fresh, youthful, there's nothing better than common mercolized wax. It absorbs the soiled or faded wornout skin particles. Cosmetics simply add unwholesomeness to the complexion. That's the difference. By all means, acquire the mercolized wax habit. It's so easy to get an ounce of the wax at the druggist's, apply at night like cold cream and wash it off next morning. There's no detention indoors, the old skin coming off so gradually no one suspects you are using anything. When in a week or two the alluringly youthful, rose-like underskin is fully in view—well, you won't want, or need, a make-up complexion after that. It must be apparent that this process means complete riddance of all cutaneous blemishes, like freckles, pimples, blotches and blackheads.

RED RIVER CARTS TO BE DRIVEN BY CITY RESIDENTS

These Form One of Features of Hudson's Bay Pageant, Saturday, May 8th

TABLEAU AT EMPIRE

Stirring Scenes in History of the Company Are to Be Displayed

Announcement is made by the personnel committee in connection with the Hudson's Bay pageant that the three Red River carts which are being included in the portion of the parade arranged by the company and which are historic relics of pioneer days, will be driven by three Edmonton citizens, viz.: A. White, H. Spelman and Mr. Maddison. This is only one of numerous features of the parade which will recall in a vivid manner to the present generation the difference between present day methods and those prevailing in the days when the "Gentlemen Adventurers of England" were engaged in pioneering this great western country.

With a street pageant embracing over fifty historic floats, tableaux and living pictures illustrating pioneer times presented at one theatre and moving pictures that epitomize the fur trade at the Allen, Edmonton will commemorate the 250th anniversary of the Hudson's Bay Company, May 6, 7, and 8.

The tableaux which will be staged at the Empire theatre every night will be one of the most interesting features of the celebration. They will include ten scenes, the costumes and stage setting of which have been carried out with historic exactness. These scenes will be:

1. King Charles II signs the charter, May 2, 1670.

2. Prince Rupert, first of Hudson's Bay Company governors, and the directors take the oath of office.

3. Following the signing of the charter, King Charles and the lords and ladies of this court, appear at a ball at Whitehall palace. They dance the stately dances of that period and sing the original songs that inspired the cavaliers in the Cromwellian wars.

4. The Nonsuch ketch, first of the company's vessels to reach American shores, sails into James Bay.

5. Fort Charles, first of the company's fur posts. It was founded in 1674 and stood near the site now occupied by Rupert House on James Bay. Pompous old governor in red coat and ruffles holds his mock court in the wilderness stronghold. Indians bring in their peltries for barter.

6. Fort Edmonton founded in 1796.

7. Fort Edmonton, 1850. Battle between Blackfeet and Crees when the latter were driven in flight into the protecting walls of the fort.

8. Fort Edmonton, 1855. The garrison celebrating a Hudson's Bay Company anniversary with voyageur chansons and Red River reels and jigs.

Fort Edmonton, 1860. Big powwow of Crees at the fort. Indians from the Hobbema reserve will re-enact this scene.

10. Pageant of fashions illustrating the changes in clothes from 1670, King Charles II, to 1920 under George V. All the costumes have been made by the Mallabars of Winnipeg from original and authentic designs.

CHICAGO HAS "SPRING CLEAN-UP" CRIMINALS.

Chicago, April 30—More than 350 persons were in city jails here today as a result of what John J. Garrity, chief of police, termed a "spring clean-up of criminals.' Included in the number were alleged burglars, highwaymen, minor criminals and radical suspects. Chief Garrity was warned by States Attorney Hoyne and the army intelligence bureau here that "reds" intended to stage a "carnival of assassinations" tomorrow, said he did not look for extensive May-day depredations, but had taken advisable precautions.

LARGE STEAMER TO BE BUILT FOR NORTH TRADERS

Party of Thirty-One Experienced Shipbuilders Go North to Fort Smith

To construct another large steamer for the Lamson-Hubbard Company, traders of the north, thirty-one experienced shipbuilders reached Edmonton over the Canadian National railway from Vancouver, Thursday, and on Friday morning proceeded to Fort Smith, at which point the boat is to be built.

The new steamer, of stern wheel pattern, 36 feet by 165 feet will be one of the latest and most up-to-date of those plying northern rivers and will assist in the passenger business of the north. Present intentions are to have the vessel completed by the middle of July at the latest.

INCREASED RATE ON MAGAZINES IS OBJECTED TO

Board of Trade Fears Canadian Publications Will Be Discriminated Against

Strong objection to the proposed increased postal rates especially as they affect magazines, is to be made by the Edmonton Board of Trade whose secretary, A. M. Frith, is now in communication with Ottawa members and the Postmaster-General in order to correctly ascertain to what extent these proposed increases are going to affect the magazine trade.

According to unofficial information received by the Board, it is said the increase will approximate about 400 per cent. on magazines being carried a distance of 300 miles and 800 per cent for transporting them any distance beyond that mileage.

Increased rates, it is understood, would only affect Canadian publications and in the case of McLean's would mean an exceptionally heavy additional outlay to them. On the other hand, American magazines would continue to be carried according to the existing rates with the consequence it is feared that the home market would be flooded to the exclusion of Canadian publications which could not possibly compete with those from across the border.

Secretary Frith has already received wires on the subject from the Postmaster-General and from H. A. Mackie, the former stating the new regulations of proposed increased rates were being forwarded. The wire from H. A. Mackie states: "Re proposed increased postal rates. The best advice I can get is that the matter will be considered shortly. The department is forwarding you material under consideration and I am also forwarding you a copy of the same."

If the understanding proves correct as to the great discrimination in the advanced postal rates between American and Canadian publications, to the detriment of the latter, the Edmonton Board of Trade makes the announcement that it will use every power to voice the strongest possible objection, as well as to seek the co-operative work of all other Canadian Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce.

LABOR SHORTAGE ONLY REASON FOR DELAY, SAYS WIRE

Work on St. Paul Line Will Go on If Men Secured, Says Hanna

According to a wire received by the Edmonton Board of Trade from H. A. Mackie, member of the federal government for East Edmonton, a shortage of labor provides the only impediment to an immediate continuation of the construction of the Canadian National Oliver-St. Paul branch.

The telegram, addressed from Ottawa, and dated April 29th, states the railway program calls for the completion of the road this year and that the only obstacle presented at this time was occasioned through labor conditions. Mr. Mackie expressed the belief that if the board of trade could secure sufficient labor D. B. Hanna, of the Canadian National would be quite willing to take all available men into employment.

A wire will be sent immediately by the Edmonton board of trade to the railway head informing him that sufficient men can be found here to warrant an immediate recommencement of operations on the branch.

Action was taken by the Edmonton board of trade as a result of a communication received from residents of St. Paul, who outlined the many difficulties being experienced by them on account of the non-operation of the branch to St. Paul.

TERMS OF TREATY BETWEEN ALLIES IN 1915 PRINTED

London, April 30—The text of the Declaration of London, signed by France, Russia, Great Britain, and Italy in London, April 26,6 1915, was published textually in parliamentary papers today. The treaty was made known to the world when the Russian Bolsheviki government published it in 1917. The agreement provided among other things that Italy, at the conclusion of the war was to receive Trentino, part of southern Tyrol, Trieste, Istria and Dalmatia. The four powers signatory to the document agreed not to conclude a separate peace. The declaration bears the signatures of Sir Edward Grey, then British foreign secretary; the Marquis Imperial, the Italian ambassador; Paul Cambon, the rFench ambassador; and Count Benckendorff, the Russian ambassador.

ICE CLEARED AT LAST FROM SASKATCHEWAN

A heavy run of ice passed down the river on Thursday afternoon, April 29. This was, no doubt, the final clearance The river cleared in front of the city on Wednesday the 28th, but evidently there was still a body of ice upstream at that time. At any rate the final clearance occurred before the last day of April. The complete clearance of the ice is the assurance that spring is here. But the almost continuous easterly breezes that still prevail do not warm the air very rapidly or promote growth.

All reports agree that cattle are now able to pick a living, and that plowing and seeding will be general at all points east and south of the city next week.

Contrary to the usual, the early cold of last fall came from the northwest, and the warmth of this spring is coming from the southwest. Usually the fall is later and the spring earlier in the Chinook belt than elsewhere. This year is a radical exception to that rule.
